THE ICI CHRISTIAN SERVICE PROGRAM

This is one of 18 courses (subjects) that make up the ICI Christian Service Program. The symbol at the left is a guide for order of study in the series, which is divided into three units of six courses each. The Kingdom, the Power, and the Glory: A Survey of the New Testament is Course 2 in Unit I. You will benefit by studying the courses in the proper order.

Study materials in the Christian Service Program have been prepared in a self-teaching format especially for Christian workers. These courses provide a student with Bible knowledge and skills needed for practical Christian service. You may study this course in order to receive credit toward a certificate, or for personal enrichment.

ATTENTION

Please read the course introduction very carefully. It is important that you follow these instructions so you can achieve the goals of the course, and be prepared for the student reports.

Address all correspondence concerning the course to your ICI instructor at the address stamped on the copyright page near the front of the study guide.
Course Introduction

Learn About God’s New Covenant With Man

In this course you will study the New Testament, the new agreement God made with man through Jesus Christ. The New Testament tells how God saved us from eternal destruction. It tells how we can be brought into His kingdom through Christ and experience His power in our daily lives. And it describes the glorious return of our Savior and the wonderful destiny that is ours in Him.

The first unit gives an overview of all the books of the New Testament and the time during which they were written. It then presents the books which tell about the earthly life and ministry of Jesus. You will study each of the four Gospel accounts of His unique message and His mighty miracles. You will learn, too, about the land where He lived and the men who wrote about Him.

The second unit examines the books which describe the beginning of the church and its expansion throughout the Roman Empire. In this unit you will follow the apostles and the believers as they proclaimed the good news of salvation to Jews and Greeks, slaves and masters, honest seekers and skeptics. You will study the letters which were written to the various congregations which sprang up and learn about their joys and problems. You will see how the church was formed and sustained by the power of God.

The third unit presents the books which were written as the church continued to expand. In this unit you will learn how it faced persecution by those who hated it and false teaching by those who denied its Lord. You will consider the guidelines that were set down for its leaders. You will study the glorious vision it has of the future. In this unit you will also discover how the New Testament has been passed on to us. You will learn the reasons why we can rely on it completely as we seek to know God and serve Him today.

As you study all these things you will realize that the New Testament is God’s message to you. The facts you learn will help you understand its truths and teach them to others. God bless you as you study!

The Time Between the Testaments

Perhaps you have already studied the Old Testament. If so, you will remember that its historical account closes with the Jews rebuilding the temple in Jerusalem. But when the New Testament opens, we find that Jerusalem is under the control of the Romans. What had happened in the land of Palestine during the time between the Old and the New Testaments, the “intertestamental” period?

In 586 B.C. the last group of Jews was taken away from Jerusalem into captivity under the Babylonians. While these Jews were in captivity, the Persians conquered the Babylonians. The Persians allowed the Jews to go back to Jerusalem, and a small number of them returned. This ended their seventy-year period of exile. The Jews who returned to Jerusalem rebuilt the temple and settled in the land. However, many Jews did not return to Palestine. Some remained in Babylon. The rest were eventually scattered among the nations. In history, this has been called the diaspora, a term related to the word dispersion which means “a spreading or scattering.”

Next, the Persians were defeated by young Alexander the Great, whose armies conquered vast territories including Syria, Palestine, and Egypt. Alexander’s political empire did not long survive his early death at the age of 33. The Greek culture he introduced, though, had a lasting influence on Palestine and the entire ancient world.

After Alexander died in 323 B.C., Palestine was controlled by a series of other foreign powers. Antiochus IV (175–164 B.C.), a ruler of the Seleucid Empire, tried to force the Jews to accept the Greek culture. He forbade their traditional worship and desecrated their temple. In 167 B.C. the Jews revolted against his evil decrees. A few years later they regained control of Jerusalem and cleansed the temple. Their war for independence continued until 142 B.C. This time is known as the Maccabean period, named after Judas Maccabeas (the “hammerer”), the hard-hitting military leader of the Jewish forces.

The period of Jewish independence lasted from 142 B.C. until 63 B.C., when Jerusalem was taken over by the Roman general Pompey. During this time, the Hasmonean rulers continued to struggle against foreign domination. They also fought among themselves. The Hasmonean rulers were descendants of Simon Maccabeas, one of the brothers of Judas (Judas was killed in 161 B.C.). In the meantime, the power of Rome, which was a major force in the area from about 200 B.C. onwards, continued to grow stronger. The last Hasmonean ruler was killed in 37 B.C. by Herod the Great, who was appointed by Rome as the ruler of the Jews. Herod was in power at the time Christ was born.

As you begin your study of the New Testament, it will be helpful for you to keep these facts about the intertestamental period in mind. The events that happened during this period influenced the Jewish religion and shaped the world into which Jesus was born.

Course Description

The Kingdom, the Power, and the Glory: A Survey of the New Testament is a course of study that will help the Christian worker gain an overall knowledge of the content of the New Testament. It emphasizes the historical setting, characteristics, and teachings of the books of the New Testament. It will help the Christian worker understand the New Testament, gain confidence in its reliability, and become better equipped to share its truths with others.

Course Objectives

When you finish this course you should be able to:

2. Identify important places associated with the background of the New Testament, the life of Jesus, and the expansion of the early church.
3. Explain why we can rely on the New Testament as the trustworthy and accurate record of the life of Jesus and the teachings of the apostles.

4. Accept the New Testament as God’s message to you and share its truths more fully with others.

Textbooks
You will use The Kingdom, the Power, and the Glory: A Survey of the New Testament as both the textbook and study guide for the course. Most of the Scriptures quoted in this course are from the New International Version, 1978 edition. In a few instances we have quoted from the New American Standard Version where indicated.

Study Time
How much time you actually need to study each lesson depends in part on your knowledge of the subject and the strength of your study skills before you begin the course. The time you spend also depends on the extent to which you follow directions and develop skills necessary for independent study. Plan your study schedule so that you spend enough time to reach the objectives stated by the author of the course and your personal objectives as well.

Lesson Organization and Study Pattern
Each lesson includes: 1) lesson title, 2) opening statement, 3) lesson outline, 4) lesson objectives, 5) learning activities, 6) key words, 7) lesson development including study questions, 8) self-test (at the end of the lesson development), 9) answers to the study questions. Answers to each self-test are at the back of your textbook before the unit student reports.

The lesson outline and objectives will give you an overview of the subject, help you to focus your attention on the most important points as you study, and tell you what you should learn.

Most of the study questions in the lesson development can be answered in spaces provided in this study guide. Longer answers should be written in a notebook. As you write the answers in your notebook, be sure to record the number and title of the lesson. This will help you in your review for the unit student report.

Do not look ahead at the answers until you have given your answer. If you give your own answers, you will remember what you study much better. After you have answered the study questions, check your answers with those given at the end of the lesson. Then correct those you did not answer correctly. The answers are not given in the usual numerical order so that you will not accidentally see the answer to the next question.

These study questions are very important. They will help you to remember the main ideas presented in the lesson and to apply the principles you have learned.

How to Answer Questions

There are different kinds of study questions and self-test questions in this study guide. Below are samples of several types and how to answer them. Specific instructions will be given for other types of questions that may occur.

A MULTIPLE-CHOICE question or item asks you to choose an answer from the ones that are given.

1. The Bible has a total of
   a) 100 books.
   b) 66 books.
   c) 27 books.

   The correct answer is b) 66 books. In your study guide, make a circle around b) as shown here:

1. The Bible has a total of a
   a) 100 books.
   b) 66 books.
   c) 27 books.

   (For some multiple-choice items, more than one answer will be correct. In that case, you would circle the letter in front of each correct answer.)
A TRUE-FALSE question or item asks you to choose which of several statements are TRUE.

Example

Which statements below are TRUE?

a. The Bible has a total of 120 books.

b. The Bible is a message for believers today.

c. All of the Bible authors wrote in the Hebrew language.

d. The Holy Spirit inspired the writers of the Bible.

Statements b and d are true. You would make a circle around these two letters to show your choices, as you see above.

A MATCHING question or item asks you to match things that go together, such as names with descriptions, or Bible books with their authors.

Example

Write the number for the leader’s name in front of each phrase that describes something he did.

a. Received the Law at Mt. Sinai

b. Led the Israelites across Jordan

c. Marched around Jericho

d. Lived in Pharaoh’s court

Phrases a and d refer to Moses, and phrases b and c refer to Joshua. You would write 1 beside a and d, and 2 beside b and c, as you see above.

Ways to Study This Course

If you study this ICI course by yourself, all of your work can be completed by mail. Although ICI has designed this course for you to study on your own, you may also study it in a group or class. If you do this, the instructor may give you added instructions besides those in the course. If so, be sure to follow his instructions.

Possibly you are interested in using the course in a home Bible study group, in a class at church, or in a Bible school. You will find both the subject content and study methods excellent for these purposes.
Unit Student Reports

In the back of your study guide are located the unit student reports and answer sheets. These are to be completed according to the instructions included in the course and in the unit student reports. You should complete and send each unit answer sheet to your instructor for his grading and suggestions regarding your work. Send one when you complete each unit.

Certificate

Upon the successful completion of the course and the final grading of the unit answer sheets by your ICI instructor, you will receive your Certificate of Award.

About the Authors

This course was written by Jean-Baptiste Sawadogo and Marcia A. Munger. Jean-Baptiste Sawadogo was a graduate of the College Protestant of the Assemblies of God in Burkina Faso. He studied at the International Bible Training Institute in England and pursued graduate work at the University of Ougadougou. He was an instructor at the Assembly of God Bible School in Nagabagré, Burkina Faso. Marcia A. Munger served for fourteen years as a missionary on the development faculty of ICI University in Brussels, Belgium, and Irving, Texas. She earned her bachelor of arts degree from Biola College in La Mirada, California, and her master of Christian Studies degree from Regent College in Vancouver, Canada.

Your ICI Instructor

Your ICI instructor will be happy to help you in any way possible. If you have any questions about the course or the unit student reports, please feel free to ask him. If several people want to study this course together, ask about special arrangements for group study.

God bless you as you begin to study The Kingdom, the Power, and the Glory: A Survey of the New Testament. May it enrich your life and Christian service and help you fulfill more effectively your part in the body of Christ.

Lessons
1 The New Testament and Its World
2 Jesus and The Gospels
3 Matthew and Mark
4 Luke and John

Jesus—His Life and Ministry
The world into which Jesus Christ came had been shaped by three important influences: the power of the Romans, the culture of the Greeks, and the religion of the Jews. In this lesson you will see how God used each of these to do the groundbreaking work for the time when His Son would begin His earthly ministry. As Galatians 4: 4 says, God sent His Son to us “when the time had fully come.”

This lesson will also give you an overview of the New Testament. Through human writers God formed it and made it into one harmonious unity. Its twenty-seven books include several different kinds of writings. They were written at various times and under varying circumstances. Some were written to deal with certain problems; others were written to tell about specific events. But in all of them there is one important message: God has made a new agreement or testament with man through Jesus Christ.

The facts you learn in this lesson will help you see how God’s hand was behind the events of history. They will also help you as you seek to gain a more complete and deeper understanding of the wonderful New Testament God has given us.

lesson objectives

When you finish this lesson you should be able to:

- Name ways in which Roman power made possible the rapid spread of the gospel.
- Identify the most important way in which Greek culture prepared the world to hear the message of Christ.
- Name developments in intertestamental Judaism which prepared the world to hear the message of Christ.
- Identify descriptions of the major features of Judaism in New Testament times.
- Select a description of the general religious condition that existed at the time Christ came.
- Identify examples of the four kinds of content found in the books of the New Testament.
- Recognize facts about the authors of the New Testament books.
- Arrange the New Testament books by their type and historical period.
learning activities

1. Read the introduction to this course and study the lesson outline and objectives. These will help you identify things you should try to learn as you study the lesson.

2. Work through the lesson and do all of the exercises. Check your answers with those given at the end of the lesson. Learn the meanings of any key words you do not know. Their definitions are given in the glossary at the end of this study guide.

3. Take the self-test at the end of the lesson and check your answers carefully. Review any items you did not answer correctly.

key words

Understanding the key words we have listed at the beginning of each lesson will help you as you study. You will find key words listed in alphabetical order and defined in the glossary at the back of this independent-study textbook. If you are in doubt about the meaning of any of the words on the list, you may look them up now or when you come across them in your reading.

Please take time to learn the definitions of any new words, since they are important to a complete understanding of this course.

The Kingdom, The Power, and The Glory
Several different forces had a part in shaping the world of the New Testament. For instance, consider these facts. Though the Romans ruled Palestine when the New Testament was written, the language of the New Testament itself was Greek. Jesus, whose story is told in the New Testament, was a Jew, the Messiah whose coming the Old Testament Scriptures foretold. Furthermore, in the pages of the New Testament we read of people who followed many kinds of pagan religions and mystery cults. What were the forces that shaped the New Testament world?

Roman Power

Objective 1. Name ways in which Roman power made possible the rapid spread of the gospel.

In Luke 2:1 we read that “Caesar Augustus issued a decree that a census should be taken of the entire Roman world.” Caesar was the title given to the Roman emperors. In some places in the New Testament, the Roman emperor is also referred to as “king” (1 Peter 2:17 for example). At the time the New Testament was written, the Roman Empire extended from the western end of the Mediterranean Sea to the Euphrates River in the near East. All of this great territory was under the rule of the emperor. The Romans divided their empire into provinces—areas with military bases. Several of these provinces are mentioned by name in the New Testament, such as Macedonia, Achaia, Syria, Asia, Galatia, and Pamphylia.

Roman power and political strength brought about political unity, militarily controlled peace, and freedom of trade and travel. The various nations that Rome conquered were brought under one rule. The Roman peace was enforced, and wars between these nations ceased. Roman citizens were given special protection. They could go anywhere in the empire without fear of being wrongly arrested or harmed. The apostle Paul, for example, who was greatly used by God in spreading the message of Christ to new areas, depended at times on the special protection he enjoyed as a Roman citizen (see Acts 16:38, 22:29).

The Romans excelled in building good roads and strong bridges. These roads were kept free of robbers. They connected the capital city of Rome to every part of the empire; it was said that “all roads lead to Rome.” The seas were cleared of pirates. As never before, there was safety, freedom, and ease of travel and communication.

Note: Before you answer the following question, review the instructions for answering study questions given in the course introduction. Refer back to those directions if you need to when answering other questions.

Application

1 Complete this sentence. After Christ finished His ministry on earth, the gospel spread throughout the world in a very short time. One reason why this happened is that the Romans built good roads which connected Rome to

........................................................................................................
Greek Culture

Objective 2. Identify the most important way in which Greek culture prepared the world to hear the message of Christ.

Though the Romans were the political rulers of the world, it was the Greek language and thought which dominated its culture. One language and one world! Such was the motto and ambition of Alexander the Great. When he made his conquests, he took steps to unify all the nations under his control. The Greek language was taught everywhere in his empire. Greek culture was introduced as the pattern for thought and life. It made a deep impact upon the people of the New Testament world. (Greek culture is also called Hellenistic culture. This term comes from the word Hellas, the original name for the land of Greece. A person who was Greek in culture was called a Hellenist though he may not have been Greek by birth.)

While Alexander’s political empire was short-lived, its cultural impact was great and long-lasting. For many centuries the whole Mediterranean world had the marks of Hellenistic influence. Greek customs and manners were widespread. Many cities copied the Greek style of architecture. The Greek spirit of inquiry into the questions about the origin and meaning of the universe, God and man, and right and wrong was also adopted by the nations which were influenced by Greek culture. Greek became the language of the rulers and the common tongue of the slaves. Letters, poetry, and business communications were all written in Greek. In the New Testament, the term Greek was used to refer not only to the people of Greece but also to people who spoke Greek and were of other non-Jewish nations. Greek was used everywhere.

When the Romans came to power, they found in the Greek language an ideal way to communicate with their captured territories. Young Romans were sent to be educated in Greek universities such as those in Athens, Rhodes, and Tarsus. Eventually in Rome itself Greek was widely spoken.
Application

2 Circle the letter in front of each TRUE statement.

a A person had to be born in Greece to be called a Hellenist.
b When the Greek Empire fell apart it lost all its influence.
c The Romans used the Greek language in dealing with their territories.
d People of non-Jewish nations are sometimes referred to as Greeks in the New Testament even if they were not Greek in origin.

The Greek language was indeed a matchless vehicle for expressing the Christian message. Because the language was so widely used, the apostles could preach in Greek without needing to use interpreters. The widespread use of the language also explains why all of the New Testament books, written mostly by Jews, were first written in Greek. When Christ came with God’s message for the whole world, there was a world-wide language in which it could be communicated.

Application

3 The most important way in which Greek culture helped prepare the world to hear the message of Christ was through the Greek

a) customs, manners, and styles of architecture which were adopted in many places.
b) language which was used throughout all the Roman Empire.
c) spirit of inquiry which sought to understand the meaning of the universe.

Jewish Religion

We have learned how God used Roman power and Greek culture to prepare the world to hear the message of Christ. God also used the Jewish people and religion for this same purpose. He revealed Himself to the Jews and gave them prophecies about the Messiah who would come. These revelations and prophecies were written down and gathered together in the Old Testament.
The teachings of the Old Testament spread into many parts of the world as a result of the developments in Jewish life and religion that occurred during the exile and the intertestamental period. In the next section you will study these developments. Before continuing, however, complete the next exercise. It will help you review the major events of the intertestamental period.

Intertestamental Judaism

Objective 3. Name developments in intertestamental Judaism which prepared the world to hear the message of Christ.

Three main developments took place in Judaism during the exile and the intertestamental years. These were the rise of the synagogue form of worship, the conversion of many non-Jews to Judaism, and the translation of the Old Testament Scriptures into Greek.

1. The Synagogue. When the Jews went into exile, they took with them the Old Testament Scriptures. These writings formed the basis for their religious practice. During captivity they could not worship in the temple or offer animal sacrifices. However, their worship of the one true God continued.

They gathered together in groups called synagogues to discuss and be instructed in the Scriptures. Ten or more male members could form a synagogue, and there could be more than one synagogue in a city. Synagogue worship included readings from the Law and the Prophets. The prophets had written about the coming of a Messiah who could deliver God’s people. As the Jews studied these writings, they began to look for this one who would rescue them from captivity.

2. The conversion of non-Jews to Judaism. During their years of exile in Babylon the Jews were used by God to make Him known to the Babylonians. The book of Daniel in the Old Testament, for example, records how king Nebuchadnezzar witnessed the power of God in the lives of Daniel and his three friends, Jewish youths whom he had captured and brought to Babylon. He was forced to admit that the God of Daniel was “the God of gods and the Lord of kings” (Daniel 2:47). The Jews were given freedom to worship and teach about their God. Though a group of them did return to Jerusalem when they were allowed to, many remained in Babylon and later settled in other places throughout the empire. With them they carried their beliefs about God and the promise of a coming deliverer. No wonder we read in Matthew 2:1-2 that the Wise Men, led by the star, came from the east to Jerusalem seeking to worship the newborn king of the Jews!

Application

5 Circle the letter in front of each TRUE statement.

a Synagogue worship began during the time the Jews were in Babylon.

b After the exile, the Jews no longer taught the Law.

c Synagogue worship included the study of the Law and the Prophets.
The Jews who did not remain in Babylon or return to Palestine found their way to places such as Egypt, Greece, Macedonia, Rome, and the major cities of Asia Minor. (This scattering of the Jews is referred to as the diaspora or dispersion, as you have learned in the course introduction.) Eventually there were settlements of Jews in every nation in the entire area. In fact there were more Jews living outside Palestine than in it.

As a result of the dispersion, the teachings about the one true God and the coming Messiah became widely known. A considerable number of non-Jews in Palestine and elsewhere joined themselves to the Jewish religion, recognizing its superiority to pagan beliefs. These people were called proselytes and God-fearers. Proselytes were those who submitted to all the requirements of the Law including circumcision. They were treated as full members of the Jewish community. God-fearers, in contrast, were those who accepted the Jewish teachings but did not take on themselves an obligation to fulfill the Law. They did not have full membership.

3. The Septuagint. Wherever the Jews went they took their Scriptures and taught them in the synagogues they formed. During this intertestamental time the Old Testament Scriptures were translated into Greek. This translation was produced in the city of Alexandria in Egypt. It was called the Septuagint, a word meaning “seventy,” because according to tradition the work of translation was done by seventy-two scholars. This translation helped to spread the teachings of the Old Testament throughout the Greek-speaking world before the birth of Christ. It was used by the Jews, their converts, the writers of the New Testament, and the first preachers of the gospel.

Application

6. In your notebook, write a short definition for each of the following.
   a. Diaspora
   b. Proselyte
   c. God-fearer
   d. Septuagint
   e. Synagogue
During the intertestamental period, many non-Jews heard about the Messiah who was to come because of the translation of the Jews into many nations and the translation of the Old Testament into the language.

New Testament Judaism

Objective 4. Identify descriptions of the major features of Judaism in New Testament times.

We have learned how the intertestamental developments in Judaism prepared the world for the preaching of the gospel. Now let us consider some specific aspects of the Jewish religion itself as it existed in New Testament times. These are referred to often in the New Testament.

The groups. There were two main parties or factions within Judaism: the Pharisees and the Sadducees. The Pharisees considered themselves to be the true Israel of God. The name Pharisee means “separated.” They followed strictly the written Law and the traditions of the elders, and they accepted the prophetic writings. In following the Law they were assisted by the scribes who interpreted it and helped them apply it to the changing conditions of everyday life. They believed in the existence of angels and spirits and in the resurrection of the dead. They practiced ritual prayer and fasting and gave tithes of their possessions. They would not work nor allow anyone else to work on the Sabbath. The people, over whom they had considerable influence, respected them as holy men. Zealous for Judaism, they won many non-Jews to their beliefs. Before his conversion to Christ, Paul the apostle was a Pharisee. Both the scribes and the Pharisees were active in the synagogues.

The Sadducees, by contrast, accepted only the Law as authoritative. They rejected the traditions of the elders and did not believe in angels, spirits, or the resurrection of the dead. They were more open to Hellenistic influences and were interested in the priesthood, the temple, and political power. Almost all of them were priests.

Though the Romans were able administrators, many Jews in Palestine greatly resented their rule. They hated paying taxes to the Roman government. Yet Roman rule was a fact of life. As a result, there was a constant undercurrent of Jewish rebellion and unrest. As these political tensions increased, many Jewish leaders gave more and more of their attention to dealing with them.

The ruling council. Under overall Roman rule, however, the Jews were given a degree of authority to govern themselves in political and religious matters. This authority rested in a council of seventy members called the Sanhedrin. The high priest was the head of this council, and the members were drawn mostly from the priesthood and the wealthy families. The Sanhedrin included a few Pharisees, who were popular with the people, but the Sadducees were the dominant group.

Application

Match each sentence (left) to the group it describes (right).

......a Accepted only the Law as authoritative 1) Pharisees
......b Were the dominant group in the Sanhedrin 2) Sadducees
......c Believed in the resurrection of the dead
......d Their name means “separated”
......e Did not believe in angels or spirits

The temple. There was a magnificent temple in Jerusalem during the time of Jesus’ ministry. It was called “Herod’s temple” after Herod the Great, the ruler who built it. Both Solomon’s temple and the “second temple” had once stood on the place where it was erected. Solomon’s temple, though, had been destroyed by the Babylonians in 586 B.C. The “second temple” was the one rebuilt by the exiles who returned to Jerusalem before the time of Ezra and Nehemiah. This was the temple which was desecrated by Antiochus IV and then cleansed by Judas Maccabeas, as you will remember from the course introduction. Later on it apparently suffered some destruction and was rebuilt by Herod around 20 B.C.

Herod’s temple was similar to the previous ones. It had several gates, an inner wall beyond which non-Jews could not go, and a heavy veil separating the Holy Place from the Holy of Holies. The ceremonies of the temple were carried out by a company of priests headed by a high priest. Each year every male Israelite had to pay a temple tax (an amount equal to two days’ wages) for the upkeep of the building and the salaries of the priests.

Application

Circle the letter in front of each TRUE statement.

a Solomon’s temple and Herod’s temple were similar.
b The priests and the high priests who served in the temple were paid from money collected through a temple tax.
c Most members of the Sanhedrin were drawn from the common people.
d The temple in Jerusalem during Jesus’ ministry was the one rebuilt by the exiles who returned there from Babylon.

The feasts. Though the Jews of the diaspora were widely scattered, they still considered Jerusalem to be their capital. Each year thousands of them, including many proselytes and God-fearers, went there as pilgrims to attend the great religious festivals. There they joined the Jews who lived in Palestine in celebrating the feasts that marked important events in their history. Two of the seven feasts held each year were particularly important in New Testament times. These were the Passover and Pentecost.

The Passover was the most important feast. It marked the anniversary of the deliverance of the Jews from the Egyptians and their beginnings as an independent nation. Exodus 11–12 tells how God brought about a final plague (punishment) upon the Egyptians so they would allow the Israelites to leave Egypt and go to the land God had promised to them. By following the instructions God gave them, the Israelites were spared from the plague in which all the firstborn sons and animals of the Egyptians were killed in one night.
Application

10 Read Exodus 12. Then answer the following questions in your notebook.

a What were the Israelites to do (v. 7)?

b What did God say He would do (v. 13)?

c What was the result (vv. 29, 31)?

The Israelites were commanded to observe the Passover Feast each year “as a lasting ordinance” for them and their descendants (Exodus 12:24). All Jewish males living in or near Jerusalem were required to attend the Passover Feast unless they were physically unable to do so. Many Jews of the diaspora, as well as proselytes and God-fearers, also came to Jerusalem for the event. The women also participated. Jerusalem teemed with the huge crowd that gathered for the celebration.

Pentecost was also an important festival in New Testament times. During the intertestamental period, this feast came to be celebrated as the anniversary of the giving of the Law to Moses (Exodus 19). In the Jewish community the Law and its observance was a powerful, unifying force. The Jews considered the Law to be God’s greatest gift to them (see Psalms 1, 19, and 119). The festival was named Pentecost, a word meaning “50 days,” because it was held 50 days after the Passover.

Application

11 Match each phrase (left) to the feast or feasts it describes (right).

...... a Feast commanded in Exodus 12:24 1) Passover

...... b Attended by Jews, proselytes, and God-fearers 2) Pentecost

...... c Name means “50 days” 3) Both Passover and Pentecost

...... d Held to commemorate the giving of the Law

...... e Reminder of Israel’s deliverance from Egypt
Other Religions

Objective 5. Select a description of the general religious condition that existed at the time Christ came.

God had revealed Himself to the Jewish people. As a result of the diaspora, many non-Jews had been converted to Judaism and Judaism was widespread. However, it appears that by New Testament times, Judaism was becoming dominated by an increasingly narrow, racial spirit. For evidence of this one has only to search the New Testament and observe the attitudes shown by the Jewish leaders described there. It seems that their own politics and affairs had begun to absorb most of their attention.

While the Jews were occupied with their concerns, other religions also claimed the allegiance of men and women. Many people followed religions from the east, Egypt, and Asia Minor. Others became involved in the Greek mystery religions, which emphasized the ideas of resurrection and purification. Still others followed cults dedicated to deities and spirits associated with certain places and occupations. There was the Roman state religion also, in which statues of Roman emperors were worshipped as symbols of Roman power.

These factors show that there was a general interest in religion and a search for meaningful answers. People began to wonder if perhaps there was only one universal god. Many wanted to find cleansing from guilt, and there was a great desire to know what happened to man after death. The philosophies of the time had not provided acceptable answers, and people were unsatisfied with the conclusions reached by reason. Many lived lives of hopelessness, spiritual emptiness, corruption, and immorality. What a time it was for Jesus Christ to come, who would illuminate the darkened hearts and minds of men with the full radiance of God’s glory!

Application

12 Circle the letter in front of the sentence which describes the general religious condition at the time Christ came.

a) The great majority of people gave allegiance to the Roman state religion because Rome was the dominating political force.
b) Most people followed Judaism, which was well on its way to becoming a worldwide religion.
c) There was a great variety of religions, and people were seeking in different ways to find satisfying answers.
d) The philosophies of the day provided almost everyone with acceptable conclusions regarding God and the meaning of life.

THE BOOKS OF THE NEW TESTAMENT

We have become acquainted with the world of the New Testament—its religions, culture, and politics. But now let us turn our attention to the New Testament itself, the account of the great miracle of God becoming man in order to bring man back to God. It is the New Testament, for it announces the new agreement God made with man through Christ. While the Old Testament revealed God’s righteousness through the Law, the New revealed it through the grace and truth of Jesus Christ. We will examine the kinds of content, the authors, and the chronology of the 27 books that make up the New Testament.

The Content of the Books

Objective 6. Identify examples of the four kinds of content found in the books of the New Testament.

There are four basic kinds of content in the New Testament: historical, doctrinal, personal, and prophetic. Each of these has certain features. In regards to content, the New Testament books are classified according to the main kind each contains. The Gospel of Matthew, for example, has some prophetic sections. However, most of its content is historical. So it is included among the historical writings.

The Historical Books

The historical books include the four accounts of the life of Christ (Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John) and the account of the beginning of the church (Acts). They are called historical books because their primary purpose is to record events and give facts. They include the names of many people and places. Often they report the words that were said on certain occasions. Many times they give detailed descriptions of the circumstances and the results of specific actions.

In general, historical writings give information which has answers to questions such as these: What happened? Where did it happen? When did it happen? Who did it? What was said? What was the result? But the New Testament historical books give us much more than the answers to these kinds of questions. The Son of God Himself is revealed to us through the record they give of the things He said and did.

Application

13 Read in your Bible Luke 4:31-37. Then in your notebook, write an answer to each of the following questions. Beside each answer write the number of the verse where the information is given.

- a. What did Jesus do?
- b. Where and when did He do it?
- c. What did the people say about Jesus as a result?
- d. Who else heard about the thing that happened?

The Doctrinal Books

Most of the doctrinal books were letters written to certain groups of believers. They often dealt with specific problems that some of these groups were having as they tried to follow the Christian way of life. In writing to these believers, the authors of these books explained the great truths about Jesus Christ and His work for them which they needed to understand. The authors also described the relationship believers have with Christ and how they should live as a result of it. The powerful messages God inspired them to write were not only for those first believers, but for “all those everywhere who call on the name of our Lord Jesus Christ” (1 Corinthians 1:2).

The doctrinal books include the following: Romans, 1 and 2 Corinthians, Galatians, Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians, 1 and 2 Thessalonians, Hebrews, James, 1 and 2 Peter, Jude, and 1 John.
Application

14 Read each Scripture referred to from one of the doctrinal books (left). Match each one to the phrase which describes the kind of information or message it gives (right).

| a | Galatians 1:1-2 | 1) A reference to a problem the believers had |
| b | Galatians 1:6 | 2) The name of the writer or receiver of the letter |
| c | Ephesians 1:11 | 3) Some instructions on Christian living |
| d | Colossians 3:13 | 4) A statement of a truth about Christ |
| e | Hebrews 1:3 |

The Personal Books

In addition to the doctrinal and historical books, there are others which could be described as personal. These books were letters written to individual believers rather than groups. They are the six Epistles of 1 and 2 Timothy, Titus, Philemon, and 2 and 3 John. Since they were written to people who were leaders in the church, however, they became important to the whole Christian community. They contain guidelines for choosing church leaders, instructions for the management of church matters, personal advice for the one to whom the letter was written, and other requests and comments.

Application

15 Read the following sections of 1 Timothy. Which one contains guidelines for choosing church leaders?

- a) 2:1-7
- b) 3:8-10
- c) 4:11-16

The Prophetic Book

In general, the prophetic books of the Bible are those in which God has spoken concerning both present and future events. Thus prophetic writings have two main purposes: 1) to give people a message about their present situation and how they should respond to it, and 2) to reveal future events and God’s plan for the world. Though almost all the books of the New Testament contain some prophecy, the book of Revelation is given completely to it.

Revelation had a message for the seven churches of Asia to whom it was written. It also describes the final destiny of the people of God, Satan and his followers, and the heavens and the earth. It shows us that Christ, the Lamb who was slain, is completely victorious. It is an example of a special kind of prophetic writing which is called apocalyptic. This means that its message reveals truth by using symbols and vivid word pictures. For example, the seven churches of Asia are pictured as lampstands (1:12, 20), and Satan is pictured as a dragon (12:7-9).

Application

16 Read Revelation 6:12-14. This passage can best be described as one which has a message concerning a) events that will occur in the future. b) the response the church should make to present circumstances.

17 Review this section on the content of the New Testament books. Then match each verse (left) to the word which describes the kind of writing of which it is an example (right).

...... a I saw the Holy City, the new Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God. 1) Historical
...... b Now you are the body of Christ, and each one of you is a part of it. 2) Doctrinal
...... c From Troas we put out to sea and sailed straight for Samothrace. 3) Personal
...... d Get Mark and bring him with you, for he is helpful to me in my ministry. 4) Prophetic
...... e Now if we died with Christ we believe that we will also live with Him.
Authors of the Books

Objective 7. Recognize facts about the authors of the New Testament books.

The New Testament books were written by eight (or possibly nine) men: Matthew, Peter, John, Mark, Jude, James, Luke, Paul, and the writer to the Hebrews (some Bible students believe that Paul wrote the letter to the Hebrews). Of these men, all were Jews except Luke. Matthew, Peter, and John were members of Jesus’ original group of twelve disciples. Mark, Jude, and James had associated with the disciples and were part of the first church. Luke and Paul knew those who had witnessed the earthly life and ministry of Jesus. The following chart lists each book of the New Testament beside the name of the person who wrote it.

Application

18 Circle the letter in front of each TRUE statement.

a Each New Testament book was written by a different person.

b The author of 1 John was one of Jesus’ 12 disciples.

c The apostle Paul wrote the book of Acts.

d Of the known New Testament authors, only Luke was not a Jew.
Chronology of the Books

Objective 8. Arrange the New Testament books by their type and historical period.

In the New Testament, the books are grouped according to their content. That is, the historical books are first, the doctrinal and personal books next, and the prophetic book last. However, we will not study the books in this order but in their chronological sequence. This means that we will study them according to the specific years of history with which they deal. This procedure will help us gain a knowledge of the events that happened in their historical setting.

THE NEW TESTAMENT AND ITS WORLD

The historical events mentioned in the writings of the New Testament took place within a span of approximately 100 years, from 6 B.C. to A.D. 95. This span of time can be divided into three periods: 1) the life and ministry of Jesus, 2) the beginning and growth of the church, and 3) the continued growth and persecution of the church. The following chart shows these three periods and lists in order the books which are associated with the events of each one.

Congratulations! You have now come to the end of the first lesson of this course. You have learned many facts about the forces which shaped the world into which Jesus Christ was born and in which He carried out His ministry. You have also studied some of the general features of the books of the New Testament. The understanding you have gained is important; the following lessons will build upon the truths you have learned. Before you take the self-test, review the lesson and be sure you can fulfill each objective.
self-test

1 Galatians 4:4 says that Christ came into the world “when the time had fully come.” In your notebook, list four important facts about the New Testament world which give evidence for this truth and show that Christ came at a time when His message could be rapidly communicated. Name the one main fact which is associated with each of the following: a) Roman power, b) Greek culture, c) Jewish religion, and d) other religions.

2 Match the name or term (right) to each sentence which describes or defines it (left).

...... a A group of ten or more Jewish men who met to discuss the Scriptures 1) Caesar Augustus
...... b The Greek translation of the Old Testament 2) Alexander the Great
...... c A non-Jew who submitted to all the requirements of the Law and became a member of the Jewish community 3) Hellenist
...... d Roman emperor at the time of Christ 4) Synagogue
...... e The Jews who were scattered among the nations 5) Diaspora
...... f A Jewish group who did not believe in the resurrection of the dead 6) Proselyte
...... g Conqueror who had the Greek language taught everywhere 7) Septuagint
...... h Festival celebrating Israel’s deliverance from Egypt 8) Sanhedrin

...... l Festival celebrating the giving of the Law to Moses 12) Passover
...... m Jewish group who accepted the writings of the prophets 13) Herod the Great
...... n Council which ruled Jewish politics and religion
3 Complete each of the following sentences which refer to the books of the New Testament. Use your notebook for your answers.

a The content of an historical book deals mainly with . . .
b The content of a doctrinal book deals mainly with . . .
c The content of a personal book deals mainly with . . .
d The content of a prophetic book deals mainly with . . .

4 Match each book (left) to the name of the person who wrote it (right).

For Your Notes
Among all the countless books written about the lives of men there are none like the four Gospels, for there is no man like Jesus whose story they tell. The Gospels are fascinating records of His life, filled with the names of people and places and crowded with descriptions of dramatic and significant events. They command the attention of all who read them.

This lesson will help you understand the gospels better. In Lesson 1 you learned many facts about the background and overall content of the New Testament. In this lesson you will take a closer look at the first four books of the New Testament. You will learn how these four accounts are alike in the way they tell the story of Jesus and how they are different. You will also learn about the land where Jesus lived and the places where He ministered. You will become acquainted, too, with some of His teachings and the way in which He taught.

Your study of this lesson will give you a greater appreciation for the special features of the Gospel accounts. In addition, it will prepare you to study each one of them individually.
lesson outline

The Four Gospel Accounts
The Places Where Jesus Lived and Ministered
The Events in the Life of Jesus
The Teachings of Jesus

lesson objectives

When you finish this lesson you should be able to:

- Describe the value and the characteristics of the four Gospel accounts.
- Identify locations of the four major geographical areas of Palestine.
- Match descriptions of the districts in Palestine to their names.
- Identify events and Scriptures associated with the four major periods in the life of Jesus.
- Describe the basis, purpose, method, content, and effect of the teaching of Jesus.
learning activities

1. Read the lesson development and complete each exercise before you check your answer. In this way you will see if you have really understood the content. Correct any wrong answers.

2. Study the map of Palestine which is given. Be sure you can find on it each district and city named in the lesson. This will help you visualize the geographical setting of the important events in the life of Jesus.

3. Review the lesson and complete the self-test. Be sure to check your answers and correct any that are wrong.

THE FOUR GOSPEL ACCOUNTS

Objective 1. Describe the value and the characteristics of the four Gospel accounts.

In God’s wisdom, He gave us not just one account of the life of Jesus but four. We may ask this question: What is the value of having more than one record of the life of Christ?

The Value of Having Four Accounts

There are two benefits that arise. First, the variety of accounts serves to draw the attention of many different kinds of people. When the Gospels were first written, each had some special features that appealed to certain groups. Matthew, for example, emphasized the fulfillment of Old Testament prophecy in the life of Christ. This emphasis gave his account increased meaning for the Jews. Mark focused on the dynamic, active ministry of Jesus. He added details to his record that were of interest to Roman readers. Luke wrote his account from the point of view of a Gentile who had a deep understanding of Christ’s mission of salvation. Gentile readers could identify with his perspective as he told the story of the onward progress of that mission. John, with his presentation of Christ as the eternal Word, gained a hearing among thoughtful people who were looking for answers to the great questions about the meaning of life, history, and eternity. Ever since they were written the Gospels have appealed to men and women of every circumstance, station in life, and national origin. They do so today.

Second, the variety of accounts serves to emphasize even more the main events of Jesus’ life. Each Gospel writer includes some details and information not found in the others. All of the accounts, however, show the overall character of Jesus’ life of ministry, His death for sinners, and His resurrection from the grave. In this way the central message of Christ is made unmistakably plain. Like four master painters, the Gospel writers have each given us a portrait of the Son of God. Though each masterpiece presents its great Subject in a different way, in all of them we recognize the same compelling, matchless face.

Application

1. In your notebook, state two benefits that come from having four different Gospel accounts. Use one sentence to state each benefit.

The Main Characteristics of the Four Accounts

The Gospel accounts are selective. They are not exhaustive lists of everything Jesus said and did. As John remarked, “Jesus did many others things as well. If every one of them were written down, I suppose that even the whole world would not have room for the books that would be written” (John 21:25). From the multitude of events that occurred during the earthly life of Christ, each author, guided by the Holy Spirit, chose only certain ones to include in his account. The childhood and youth of Jesus, for example, are passed over in silence except for thirteen verses which Luke devotes to them (Luke 2:40-52). The Passion Week, on the other hand, is described in great detail by all four writers. Matthew, Mark, and Luke have much material in common; John, however, includes many things that none of the others do. All these facts demonstrate the selectivity of the Gospel accounts.

The Gospel accounts are also harmonious. Though each writer was selective in his choice of material, all of them followed the same basic pattern in unfolding the main events of the story. There is the introduction of Jesus to His public ministry by John the Baptist. Next, there are the miracles, teachings, and encounters of Jesus with His disciples, the people, and the Jewish leaders. Most of the events described occur in Galilee or Jerusalem. The division between those who accepted Jesus and those who rejected Him is portrayed. Finally, there is the triumphal entry of Jesus into Jerusalem, His arrest, trial, crucifixion, and resurrection. And in all the accounts there are references to various Old Testament prophecies which were fulfilled in the life of Jesus. In a very real sense there are not four “Gospels” but one Gospel—one story of good news about the Son of God who came to save sinners.

Application

2 The Gospel accounts are selective because they
   a) say nothing about the childhood of Jesus.
   b) have very little in common.
   c) do not include everything Jesus did and said.

3 The Gospel accounts are harmonious because they all
   a) follow the same basic pattern in developing the story.
   b) describe all of Jesus’ life in great detail.
   c) deal mainly with Jesus’ ministry in Galilee.
   d) include reports of the same main events in Jesus’ life.

THE PLACES WHERE JESUS LIVED AND MINISTERED

We have studied some of the main features of the Gospel accounts. In reading them we find that they give the names of many places which are associated with the life of Jesus such as Judea, Galilee, Nazareth, Capernaum, and Jerusalem. In this section we will study the districts of Palestine in which these places are located. We will also study the overall geography of the land of Palestine.

The Land of Palestine

Objective 2. Identify locations of the four major geographical areas of Palestine.

Palestine is the name given to the whole area shown on the following map. It was in this land that Jesus lived most of His earthly life. Look at the map and notice the main kinds of land that are indicated; these form four parallel strips from north to south: 1) the coastal plain which extends from the north at Sidon down to Gaza in the south, 2) the central mountains which extend from Dan and Kadesh in the north to Beersheba in the south, 3) the valley of the Jordan which begins north of the sea... of Galilee and extends south to the Dead Sea, and 4) the eastern table land or plateau on the east side of the Jordan.

Jesus lived and ministered in the districts of Galilee, Samaria, and Judea on the west side of the Jordan and in the districts of Decapolis and Perea on the east side of the Jordan. He also went to the cities of Tyre and Sidon in Phoenicia. As you read the descriptions of these areas, find on the map each city or district which is named.

Application

4 On the west side of the coastal plain of Palestine is the
   a) central mountain range.
   b) valley of the Jordan.
   c) Mediterranean Sea.

5 The central range is located
   a) on the east side of the valley of the Jordan.
   b) on the east side of the coastal plain.
   c) between the valley of the Jordan and the eastern plateau.

The Districts of Palestine

Objective 3. Match descriptions of the districts in Palestine to their names.

During New Testament times there were several districts in the land of Palestine. These districts were under the overall authority of the Roman government.
Galilee

Jesus grew to manhood in the town of Nazareth in the district of Galilee (Matthew 2:23; Luke 2:51). He performed His first miracle at Cana (John 2:11). Later He went to the town of Capernaum and stayed there (Matthew 4:13). The more strict Jews of the other districts of Palestine looked down on the Galileans because Galilee was located close to the Gentile areas of Phoenicia and Decapolis. The Galileans, however, were deeply committed to their faith and loyal to the Jewish nation.
Eleven of the twelve disciples of Jesus were from Galilee. He spent a good part of His ministry in the towns, villages, and hillsides of this district.

Phoenicia

The cities of Tyre and Sidon were located in Phoenicia, a coastal area northwest of Galilee. After He was rejected at Nazareth, Jesus went to this district. It was there that He met the woman of Syrian Phoenicia whose great faith He praised and whose daughter He healed (Mark 7:24-30).

Decapolis

East of Galilee were the districts of Decapolis and Bashan. Decapolis was an association of Greek cities (Decapolis means “ten cities”) founded by followers of Alexander the Great. Jesus visited this area (Mark 7:31-35). He ministered in Gadara (also called Gergesa or Gerasa) where He healed a demon-possessed man (Mark 5:1-20; Luke 8:26-39). He also went to the cities of Caesarea Philippi (Matthew 16:13-20).

Samaria

The people of the coastal part of Samaria were Gentiles. Those in the mountainous regions, however, were a mixed race. They were descendants of the ten tribes of the northern kingdom of Israel who had intermarried with Gentiles. They had built their own temple on Mt. Gerizim. Though it was no longer standing in Jesus’ day, its site was considered sacred. The Samaritans, as people of this mixed race were called, were greatly despised by the Jews of Palestine. Many Jews would not even travel through Samaria. Jesus, however, ministered many times to the people in this district. In His notable conversation with the Samaritan woman at the well in Sychar He did not allow the controversy between the Jews and the Samaritans to become the main topic of discussion. Instead, He drew attention to Himself as the Messiah (John 4:1-42).

Perea

Most of the inhabitants of Perea were Jews, though Gentiles lived there also. Perea is often referred to in the New Testament as the land “across the Jordan.” On His way to Jerusalem for the last time, Jesus traveled through this area teaching in its villages and towns (Mark 10:1-45; Matthew 19:1–20:28).

Judea

In the district of Judea were located the cities of Bethlehem, the birthplace of Jesus, and Jerusalem, the scene of many of the crucial events of His life. Near Jerusalem was the town of Bethany, the home of Mary, Martha, and Lazarus, whom Jesus raised from the dead (John 11:1, 32-44). A few miles away was Jericho, where Jesus healed a blind man (Mark 10:46-52). During His ministry Jesus made several trips to Jerusalem and the towns near it. A number of times He attended the great annual Jewish feasts which were celebrated in Jerusalem. It was there He was tried, crucified, and buried (Luke 22, 23). After His resurrection He appeared to two of His followers on the road to Emmaus, about seven miles from Jerusalem (Luke 24:13-27). Later on He gave His disciples instructions about their future ministry and led them out toward Bethany. At that time He was taken up into heaven out of their sight and the disciples returned to Jerusalem to wait for the promised Holy Spirit (Luke 24:36-53).

THE EVENTS IN THE LIFE OF JESUS

Objective 4. Identify events and Scriptures associated with the four major periods in the life of Jesus.

You have studied the geography of the land of Palestine and learned some facts about the places where Jesus lived and ministered. In this section you will examine the events in the life of Jesus. As you learned in the first part of this lesson, the Gospel writers all followed the same basic pattern in describing His life.

The events in Jesus’ life can be divided into four major periods: 1) His birth and preparation for ministry, 2) His early ministry and popularity, 3) His later ministry and controversy, and 4) His death, resurrection, and ascension. These major periods are given in the same order in each Gospel account. However, the writers arranged the particular incidents within each period according to their own purposes. It must be remembered that their aim was not primarily to give a strict chronological account but to portray accurately the person of Jesus. The following outline gives the overall progress of events and the chapters in each Gospel record that are associated with each major period.

THE TEACHING OF JESUS

Objective 5. Describe the basis, purpose, method, content, and effect of the teaching of Jesus.

We have examined the characteristics of the Gospels, the land where Jesus lived and ministered, and the major events in the life of Jesus. Now let us look more closely at His teaching activity as it is shown to us in the Gospels. Teaching was one of the vital aspects of His work, for He came with a mission to announce the good news to the poor and reveal the truth about God to all mankind. Almost every page of the Gospels is marked by the presence of His warnings, proclamations, exhortations, and explanations. We will consider five important features of His teaching.
Basis

The teaching of Jesus was based upon the Old Testament as God’s Word and upon Himself as the only begotten Son of God. He drew from the resources of the Old Testament. He also placed Himself in relation to the Old Testament writings as the one who had complete authority to explain their true meaning.

Jesus applied the prophecies and events of the Old Testament to Himself. According to Luke 4:18 He read the description of His mission from the book of the prophet Isaiah. He made it clear that He had come to fulfill the Law (Matthew 5:17-20). When He talked to Nicodemus He spoke of His death on the cross by referring to an experience the Israelites had in the wilderness (John 3:14; Numbers 21:8, 9). When the Pharisees asked Him for a sign He told them they would be given “the sign of Jonah”—meaning that He would rise from the grave three days after His death (Matthew 12:39, 40). After His resurrection Jesus met two disciples on the road to Emmaus. As they walked along, He explained to them “what was said in all the Scriptures concerning himself” (Luke 24:27).

Jesus also demonstrated that He had a unique position of authority in relation to the Old Testament Scriptures. For example, He said that He was “Lord even of the Sabbath” (Mark 2:28). According to Exodus 31:15, no work was to be done on the Sabbath. Yet Jesus said that both He and the Father continually worked, even on the Sabbath (John 5:16, 17). He healed on the Sabbath and taught that it was lawful for Him to do so (Luke 13:10-17). Jesus also introduced a standard of behavior that was superior to what was revealed in the Old Testament (Matthew 5). These examples show that Jesus placed not only the prophecies of the Old Testament but also its Law in relation to Himself as God’s Son.

Application

Circle the letter in front of the statement that most correctly describes the basis of Jesus’ teaching.

a) Jesus based His teaching on the ideas, thoughts, and traditions held by the religious leaders of His day.

b) The teachings of Jesus were based on the Old Testament Scriptures and His authority to interpret them as God’s Son.

c) The rules and laws about the Sabbath formed the basis for the teachings of Jesus.

Purpose

The purpose of Jesus was to reveal God and to teach men truths upon which they could build their lives. He said His teachings came from the Father (John 14:10). They were not simply interesting ideas, hopeful thoughts, or entertaining stories. They were the very words of eternal life (John 6:68), words that would last forever (Mark 13:31). A person who put the teachings of Jesus into practice would find that his life had a secure foundation (Matthew 7:24).

Method

Jesus taught everywhere as the need arose. He taught in the synagogues (Luke 4:16) and in the temple (John 8:2). He taught on the street (Mark 10:17) and in private homes (Luke 14:1). The number of listeners did not matter to Him. Though He spoke to big crowds He also took time to talk to single, lonely men and women. Many of His most important teachings were addressed to individuals, such as the one to Nicodemus (John 3). He taught in a variety of places and to a variety of people. He also used a variety of methods. We will examine four of these methods.

Parables

Jesus taught many truths by means of parables. A parable is an illustration or story usually drawn from the happenings of everyday life. As a method of teaching, parables had three advantages: 1) they were easily remembered, because the hearers could imagine the events of the story even as it was being told; 2) their spiritual messages were clear both to the educated and the ignorant; and 3) they showed the concern Jesus had for the needs of His listeners.

Most parables teach one important truth. The parable of the woman and the coin, for example, illustrates God’s persistence in searching for one lost soul (Luke 15:8-10). Some teach more than one lesson. The parable of the lost son illustrates not only God’s father-love but also the meaning of repentance and the sin of self-righteousness and unforgiveness (Luke 15:11-32). On some occasions those who heard the parable were left to draw their own conclusions (Mark 12:1-12). Other times Jesus stated the truth He was illustrating at the end of the parable (Matthew 25:1-13).

But the parables of Jesus were unlike those told by anyone else, for they could not be separated from His person. Those who did not understand Him did not understand His parables either. This was a truth Jesus pointed out (Mark 4:11; Matthew 13:13).

Short Sayings

Jesus used short sayings to fix certain truths in the minds of His hearers. Often these sayings put two opposite ideas together: “Be as shrewd as snakes and as innocent as doves” (Matthew 10:16). “Whoever finds his life will lose it, and whoever loses his life for my sake will find it” (Matthew 10:39). “He who believes in me will live, even though he dies” (John 11:25). These sayings were thought-provoking and unforgettable.

Object Lessons

Jesus also used familiar objects to teach spiritual truths. On one occasion He had a small child stand in the middle of His disciples and pointed to him as an example of humility (Matthew 18:1-6). On another He drew attention to some rich people and a poor widow who were putting their offerings in the temple treasury. He used the incident to teach a lesson on the meaning of true giving (Luke 21:1-4). To the fishermen He said “Come, follow me . . . and I will make you fishers of men” (Matthew 4:19). He said the birds of the air and the lilies of the field were illustrations of God’s care for His creation (Matthew 6:26, 28).

Questions

Jesus often used questions in His teaching. The questions He asked made men think. They went to the heart of the deep concerns and needs of man: “What can a man give in exchange for his soul?” He asked His disciples (Matthew 16:26). “Which is easier: to say ‘Your sins are forgiven,’ or to say ‘Get up and walk’?” He challenged the teachers of the Law (Matthew 9:5). Perhaps the most important question of all those He asked His disciples was this one: “Who do you say I am?” (Mark 8:29).

Not only did Jesus ask questions, but He also answered those put to Him by others. When Thomas asked, “How can we know the way?” Jesus gladly replied, “I am the way and the truth and the life” (John 14:5-6).

Application

Read each passage of Scripture listed (left). Then match the method of teaching (right) to each reference to a Scripture which contains an example of it (left).

Content

The teaching of Jesus included a wide variety of subjects. Yet among these can be found some major themes. He taught about the kingdom of God—its true nature and its demands. He taught about man—his responsibility towards God and the way he should treat others. He taught about Himself—His mission, His unique relationship with God, His death and resurrection, and His second coming.

In some of the Gospel accounts the teachings on a similar subject are found grouped together in one place. For example, a large share of Jesus’ teaching about the kingdom of God is found in Matthew 13. His teaching concerning future events and the end time is found mostly in Matthew 24–25; Mark 13; and Luke 21:5–38. He may have spoken some of His teachings only once. He may have repeated others several times for the benefit of the different people who came to hear Him. His teachings were not set out in a formal, systematic way, but were organized around His person. Those who would understand His teachings must understand Him.

Effect

The teaching of Jesus had a great impact on His hearers. When the chief priests and Pharisees sent some guards to arrest Him, the guards came back empty-handed. “Why didn’t you bring him in?” the religious leaders asked. “No one ever spoke the way this man does” was their reply (John 7:45-46). When He ended the “Sermon on the Mount” (Matthew 5–7) His audience was amazed because “He taught as one who had authority, and not as their teachers of the law” (Matthew 7:29). His teachings silenced His enemies (Matthew 22:46) and caused sinners to change their ways (Luke 19:8).

As in the days when He lived on earth, His teachings reach the hearts of people today. When I consider what has happened in my country I see the positive effects the teachings of Christ are making. I see people like myself molded and transformed by them. I cannot help but identify myself with the writer of Hebrews and say “The word of God is living and active. Sharper than any double-edged sword, it penetrates even to dividing soul and spirit” (Hebrews 4:12).

Truly Jesus is revealed in the Gospel accounts as the greatest teacher of all. As we teach His Word we need to follow His example. We must learn to relate it to the needs and concerns of people. We must learn to convey it so that all around us may hear and understand. We need to respond: Lord, teach us to serve You better. Help us to sit at Your feet and learn of You, so that in our turn we may truly become what you want us to be: the salt and light of the world.

TRUE-FALSE. Circle the number in front of each TRUE statement.

1 Because of its emphasis on fulfilled prophecy, the Gospel of Matthew appealed more to Gentile readers than to Jewish readers.

2 One benefit that comes from having four Gospel accounts is that the most important facts about Jesus are emphasized because they appear in all the accounts.

3 Of the four Gospel writers, only Luke gives a detailed account of the week in Jesus’ life which ended with His death.

4 Most of the events described in the Gospel accounts took place in the district of Samaria.

5 The land of Palestine has four main geographical regions or areas.

6 Because they lived close to the Gentile areas of Decapolis and Phoenicia, the Jews of Galilee were not very loyal to the Jewish religion.

7 Because the Samaritans were despised by the Jews, Jesus avoided ministering to them in order not to offend His disciples.

8 The eastern boundary of the district of Judea was the Jordan river and the Dead Sea.

9 In the Gospel records, the specific incidents of Christ’s life are not necessarily arranged in chronological order.

10 In His teaching, Jesus concentrated on speaking to large crowds rather than to individuals or small groups.

For Your Notes
You have already learned many facts about the Gospels—their general characteristics, their geographical setting and historical background, and their wonderful theme, Jesus Christ. You have discovered that the four accounts are harmonious. But you have also found that each one is unique, for you have seen that each writer recorded the story of Jesus in his own particular way.

Now we will turn our attention to the Gospel accounts themselves. First we will examine the special relationship which exists among Matthew, Mark, and Luke. Then we will consider the Gospels of Matthew and Mark individually. We will notice the distinctive way each one presents the person and ministry of Christ.

For example, Matthew referred to Jesus by the title, “Son of David” eight times. Mark used this title only twice. Matthew gave more emphasis to Jesus’ fulfillment of prophecy; Mark concentrated on His deeds. You will notice other differences also. As you study, may the Lord help you to see Jesus in a new way as your Messiah and help you follow His beautiful example as the willing, obedient servant of God.

lesson objectives

When you finish this lesson you should be able to:

• Identify the best explanation for the kind of relationship found among the Gospels of Matthew, Mark, and Luke.

• Compose statements describing the author, emphasis, outline, and special features of the Gospel of Matthew.

• Describe the author, emphasis, outline, and special features of the Gospel of Mark.

learning activities

1. Study the lesson development and answer each exercise. Compare your answers with the ones given and correct any that are wrong.

2. Read the Gospels of Matthew and Mark as directed. This is a very important part of your study.
3. Find each key word in the glossary and learn its meaning. This will help you understand it each time it is used.

4. Review each part of the lesson, take the self-test, and check your answers.

Lesson Development

Relationship of Matthew, Mark, and Luke

Objective 1. Identify the best explanation for the kind of relationship found among the Gospels of Matthew, Mark, and Luke.

As you learned in Lesson 2, all of the Gospel accounts follow the same basic pattern in developing the story of Christ. However, Matthew, Mark, and Luke are much more like each other in the way they do this than any one of them is like John. They tell the story of the life of Christ in almost the same way, sometimes even using the same words. For this reason they have been called the Synoptic (a Greek word meaning “see together”) Gospels.

Application

1. Read in your Bible Matthew 8:1-4; Mark 1:40-45; and Luke 5:12-16. In your notebook, write an answer to the following questions:

   a. In each account, what did the leper say to Jesus?
   b. In each account, what did Jesus reply?
   c. In each account, what did Jesus tell the leper to do?

There are many other passages which show a similar degree of likeness. Yet the Gospels are not simply copies of each other, for the following facts appear when their contents are carefully compared:

1. Matthew and Luke include almost all of the material found in Mark.
3. One-third of Matthew is unique to itself.
4. One-half of Luke is unique to itself.

Many explanations have been proposed to account for these facts. However, the following conclusions seem to be the most acceptable.
1. From the very beginning, there was a body of factual material (called the kerygma) about the life of Christ. This material was the central message which was proclaimed by the apostles (see Acts 2:22-24; and 1 Corinthians 15:1-11).

2. The Gospel of Mark is the record of this basic material. It was written by a person who knew the apostles and was closely associated with the church from the beginning.

3. The Gospel of Matthew includes this basic material. To it Matthew added the notes he took on the teachings of Jesus, which he arranged to suit his purpose, and other content.

4. The Gospel of Luke also includes the basic material. Luke added a considerable amount of other content which was the result of his own research. Some of this content consists of parables and miracles not recorded by either Matthew or Mark. It is possible that Luke got his information directly from people who had heard Jesus teach and had experienced His miracles.

It must also be remembered that the authors of the Gospel accounts were inspired by the Spirit of God. Their decisions regarding what to include and how to arrange it were made with His guidance. We can have confidence that the records we have are the ones God intended us to have.

Application

Circle the letter in front of each statement which correctly describes or explains the relationship among the Synoptic Gospels.

- a) Each writer dealt with the basic facts according to his perspective.
- b) The writers of the Gospel accounts made no conscious attempt to follow a certain pattern in telling the story of Christ. The similarities that exist among their accounts are accidental.
- c) There are similarities among the Synoptics because the writers imitated each other. It was not possible for them to find out more information on their own.
- d) Matthew and Luke both include the basic material about Christ which was recorded by Mark. They each added content which was the result of their own research.
MATTHEW: GOSPEL OF THE MESSIAH-KING

Objective 2. Compose statements describing the author, emphasis, outline, and special features of the Gospel of Matthew.

The Gospel of Matthew is appropriately placed as the first book of the New Testament, for its content provides a fitting link between the Old Testament and the New. We will study its author, emphasis, outline, and special features.

Author

According to tradition, the Gospel of Matthew was written by Matthew the tax-collector, one of the twelve disciples of Jesus (Matthew 9:9-13; 10:3). Matthew probably wrote his Gospel sometime between A.D. 50 and A.D. 70.

Emphasis

Matthew emphasized both the identity and teaching of Jesus. He referred to the Old Testament more than 60 times, pointing to Jesus as the royal son of David, the king of the Jews whose life fulfilled the messianic prophecies of the Old Testament. In this way his Gospel forms the bridge needed between the content of the Old and New Testaments. In Matthew’s writings Jesus is revealed not as just another prophet or teacher but as the very Son of God who will one day sit on His throne in heavenly glory and judge all nations (16:13-20; 25:31-32). This emphasis made the Gospel of Matthew useful for demonstrating to Jews that Jesus was their long-awaited Messiah, the one whose coming their own prophets had foretold. It also served to help Gentile converts understand the full meaning of the ministry of Jesus.
Application

3 In the Scripture portions whose references are listed below Matthew showed that a certain aspect of the life of Jesus was a fulfillment of Old Testament prophecy. Find and read the portions of Scripture. In your notebook, describe the aspect mentioned in each one.

In addition to emphasizing the identity of Jesus as the Messiah, Matthew also drew attention to the teachings of Jesus. In fact, more than one-half the content of his Gospel is devoted to them. He included several long passages in which are recorded the words of Jesus on a number of important subjects. The Gospel concludes with the commission of Jesus to His followers, a charge in which Jesus Himself stressed the importance of His teachings: “Go and make disciples of all nations . . . teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you” [Our italics] (28:19-20).

Application

4 State a fact about the Gospel of Matthew that shows its emphasis on the teachings of Jesus. Use your notebook.

Special Features

Besides the emphasis Matthew placed on the fulfillment of Old Testament prophecy in the life of Jesus and the teachings of Jesus, there are some other special features found in his Gospel.

Emphasis on Kingship and Kingdom

Matthew is the Gospel of the kingship and kingdom of Jesus. At its very beginning Jesus is identified as the royal son of David of the household of Judah (1:1, 3). The Wise Men who came seeking for Jesus at His birth asked where the “king of the Jews” had been born (2:1-2). During His ministry Jesus spoke many times about His kingdom (see 16:28, for example). Throughout the Gospel there are 38 references to either the “kingdom of heaven” or the “kingdom of God.” A week before His crucifixion Jesus entered Jerusalem as its king, fulfilling the prophecy given in Zechariah 9:9 (Matthew 21:1-11).

Though the Jews refused to acknowledge the kingship of Jesus, others recognized it. The Canaanite woman who came to Christ on behalf of her suffering daughter called Him by His royal title, “son of David” (15:22). Pilate had these words written and placed on the cross where Jesus died: “This is Jesus, the king of the Jews” (27:37).

Attention Given to Gentiles

Matthew included content and facts which demonstrated his interest in the Gentiles. For example, he gave the names of two Gentile women in his record of Jesus’ ancestry (1:5—Rahab and Ruth). He told of the Wise Men who came from the east to worship Jesus (2:1-2). He reported the words of Jesus concerning the fact that the kingdom would be taken away from the Jews and given to a people who would produce its fruits (21:43). He closed his Gospel with the Great Commission in which Jesus told His followers to “make disciples of all nations” [italics ours] (28:19).

Mention of the Church

Among the four Gospels Matthew is the only one in which the word church appears. It is found there three times (once in 16:18 and twice in 18:17).

Other Unique Aspects

Matthew contains nine incidents, ten parables, and three miracles not found in the other Gospels. These include, for example, the vision of Joseph (1:20-24), the healing of the dumb demoniac (9:32-33), and the parables of the weeds (13:24-30, 36-43) and the talents (25:14-30).
Application

5 In your notebook describe three of the special features found in the Gospel of Matthew. Give an example or a Scripture reference for each one.

Content

The content of Matthew is built around a double outline. One of these has to do with the events in the life of Jesus, the other with His teachings. In both cases Matthew has repeated certain phrases in order to mark the divisions.

Events and Teachings

As you discovered in Lesson 2, the events in the life of Jesus can be divided into four basic periods. In Matthew’s Gospel, however, the more fundamental two-fold division is marked: 1) the period of the public acceptance and popularity of Jesus (4:17–16:20); 2) the period of His decline in favor and public rejection (16:21–27:66). Each of these divisions is introduced by the words “From that time on Jesus began to . . .” This division reveals the fact that after a certain time in His ministry Jesus began to give more attention and training to His disciples.

Application

6 Read Matthew 4:17 and 16:21. In your notebook write what Jesus “began to do” in each case and the incident which immediately followed.

The teachings included in the Gospel of Matthew are grouped by topics into five main sections. Each of these is concluded by a phrase such as “When Jesus had finished these sayings . . .”

Application

7 Following are listed the references of the verses which conclude each of the five main sections of teaching. Find the verse and write in your notebook what Jesus “finished” doing in each case. Also write a short description of the subject He had just finished teaching about.

b 11:1
c 13:53
d 19:1
e 26:1

In addition to these five sections of teaching there are two others: the preaching of John (3:1-12) and the Great Commission (28:18-20).

Outline

In this section you will read the Gospel of Matthew. Use the following outline to help you. Memorize the title of the outline. In your notebook, answer the question on each section as you do your reading. (Note: This outline has the same basic divisions as the one given in Lesson 2.) The references for each of the five main sections of teaching and the two other sections are given under the appropriate division.

MATTHEW: GOSPEL OF THE MESSIAH-KING

I. The King Is Introduced. Read 1:1–4:11
   The Preaching of John; 3:1-12

Application

8 What question did the Wise Men ask King Herod?

II. The King Announces the Kingdom. Read 4:12–16:20
   The Sermon on the Mount; 5:1–7:29
   The Charge to the Disciples; 10:1-42
   The Parables; 13:1-52

Application

9 In Matthew 13, which of the parables did Jesus explain?

III. The King Is Rejected. Read 16:21–20:34
   The Meaning of Forgiveness; 18:1-35
Application

10 List the references for each time Jesus had a discussion with the Pharisees and Sadducees.

IV. The King Triumphs. Read 21:1–28:20
Rebuke and Prophecy; 23:1–25:46
The Great Commission; 28:18-20

Application

11 After Jesus asked one of His questions, the Scripture says that no one asked Him any more questions from that day on. State the question and give the reference where it is found.

12 Complete or respond to each of the following by writing the appropriate word or phrase in your notebook.
   a Matthew’s Gospel is an eyewitness account of the life of Christ because Matthew was . . .
   b The content of Matthew is built around a double outline. The divisions Matthew made relate to these two aspects: . . .
   c Five things which are emphasized in or are special features of the Gospel of Matthew are the following: . . .
   d You read Matthew following an outline which had four divisions. List the titles of these four divisions and the chapters and verses each division covers.

As we read the Gospel of Matthew we see what a glorious, victorious king Christ really is! Satan could not overcome Him. His enemies could not hinder Him. Death could not hold Him. Let us not doubt His kingship any longer. Let us invite Him to reign in our hearts. Let us seek His kingdom above everything else.

MARK: GOSPEL OF THE SERVANT OF GOD

Objective 3. Describe the author, emphasis, outline, and special features of the Gospel of Mark.

As you learned in Lesson 2, the Gospel of Mark emphasizes the dynamic, active ministry of Jesus. Guided by the Holy Spirit, Mark showed how Christ fulfilled His mission as the obedient, diligent servant of God. In considering the Gospel account he wrote, we will examine his identity as the author of it. We will also study its content, emphasis, and special features.

Author

There is general agreement among students of the New Testament that the author of the Gospel of Mark was John Mark, the young man who went with Paul and Barnabas on their first missionary journey (Acts 13:13). Mark was a cousin of Barnabas (Colossians 4:10) and a close associate of the apostle Peter (see 1 Peter 5:13, in which Peter referred to Mark as his “son”—a term of affection). In fact, it is quite likely that Mark’s Gospel represents the eyewitness report of Peter, with whose preaching and life Mark was well acquainted. Mark himself may also have been present at some of the occasions he described.

Emphasis

Mark’s account of Jesus Christ emphasized His life of active service as the Son of God (1:1). As such it would have great appeal to the Roman mind with its interest in the practical side of life. In contrast to Matthew and Luke, for example, Mark gave no record of the genealogy of Christ. This is in keeping with Mark’s focus of Jesus’ life of service, for the family history of a servant is not important. Mark’s emphasis is indicated in other ways as well. The Gospel of Luke is almost twice as long as the Gospel of Mark. Yet Luke told 20 miracles while Mark included 18 in little over half the space. Though Mark recounted many of the teachings of Jesus, he often simply referred to the fact that Jesus taught (see 2:13; 6:2, 6, 34; and 12:35 for example).

Mark also emphasized the fact that Christ carried out His mission with zeal and purpose. Time after time He was surrounded by big crowds, to whose needs He ministered (3:7-12, 20-21; 4:1-2; 5:21-34; 6:30-44, 53-56; 8:1-13). The Greek word euthus, translated by expressions such as “immediately,” “straightway,” “at once,” appears 42 times in the pages of Mark (this word appears only 7 times in Matthew and 1 in Luke). This expression is used 14 times of Jesus’ own actions and is an indication of the promptness and willingness with which He served. Mark’s use of it several places in his account also demonstrated the fact that Christ was hastening towards the goal of His life of service. He told His disciples that “the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give His life as a ransom for many” (10:45).

Application

13 Several facts about the Gospel of Mark are given in the sentences which follow. Circle the letter in front of each one that has been presented as an indication of its emphasis on Jesus’ life of active service.

a) It is shorter in length than the accounts of Matthew and Luke.
b) It does not include a detailed record of Jesus’ family history.
c) A greater proportion of space is given to telling about the miracles of Christ than in the Gospel of Luke.
d) It represents the historical facts about the life and teachings of Christ which were preached by the apostles.

Special Features

Though the Gospel of Mark is the shortest of the four Gospels, it contains several features which give it a distinctive character.

Fresh, Lively Style

Mark often described past events as if they were actually happening at the time he was writing about them. To do this, he used a verb form in Greek called the “historic present.” This form could be represented in English by a present form such as I see, you walk, he speaks. However, to most English readers, this would sound unusual and awkward. For this reason the Greek historic present is usually represented in most English translations by the simple past (I saw, you walked, he spoke).

Notice the two verbs we have italicized which appear in Mark 4:38 as it is translated in the New American Standard Version: “And He Himself was in the stern, asleep on the cushion; and they awoke Him and said to Him, “Teacher, do You not care that we are perishing?”” If we were to use a form closer to the one Mark actually used, the verse would read like this: “And He Himself was in the stern, asleep on the cushion; and they awake Him and say to Him, ‘Teacher, do you not care that we are perishing?’” You can see how the verse which has the present form makes the story more vivid. This verb form is like the Greek historic present, which Mark used more than 150 times.

Other features of Mark’s style also add to the realism and drama of his account. He used many phrases which give descriptive, vivid details.

Application

14 Find the verses whose references are listed below. For each person or object named, write in your notebook the information Mark gave as to the details of color, number, age, gesture or action, and so forth.

- a 5:39-43; the girl
- b 6:39; the grass
- c 8:12; Jesus
- d 10:49-50; the blind man
- e 16:4-5; the young man

Details of Interest to Romans

Certain special features about the Gospel of Mark indicate that it was probably circulated first in Rome. According to Mark 15:21, for example, the man who carried the cross of Jesus was Simon of Cyrene, the father of Alexander and Rufus (none of the other Gospel accounts give the names of Simon’s sons). Rufus was mentioned by the apostle Paul in his letter to the members of the church in Rome (Romans 16:13). In addition to this reference, there are other places where Mark used a Latin term (the language spoken by many Romans) to explain a Greek word (see 15:16, for example, where “Praetorium” is used to explain “palace”). These details show that Mark was especially suited to Roman audiences.

Importance of “the Gospel”

Mark began his account by calling it the “beginning of the Gospel about Jesus Christ, the Son of God” (Mark 1:1). According to Mark, the message Christ preached was the Gospel (1:14-15). It is so important and valuable a message that it is worthy of a person’s giving his very life for it (8:35; 10:29). It is a message which must be proclaimed to the whole world (13:10; 14:9).

Content

In writing his account of the life of Christ, Mark chose to let the facts and the record of events speak for themselves. He described a series of episodes, giving a vivid picture of Jesus and of the progress of His ministry. Though his account is brief, it has all the important elements. As we have already pointed out, it includes many details which show that it is the testimony of an eyewitness.

Read the Gospel of Mark using the following outline to guide you. Memorize the title of the outline. In your notebook, write a reply to the study exercises for each part.

MARK: GOSPEL OF THE SERVANT OF GOD

Application

15 What did John the Baptist say Jesus would do?

II. The Servant Works. Read 1:14–7:23

Application

16 Read each of the following portions of Mark. In your notebook, write how the people or the disciples reacted to what Jesus did or said.

- 1:21-27
- 2:1-12
- 4:35-41
- 6:1-3

III. The Servant Is Refused. Read 7:24–10:52
Application

17 List the references in these chapters of each time Jesus told His disciples about His death and briefly describe their response to His announcement.

Application

18 State the question Jesus was asked about Himself and who He was by a) the high priest and b) Pilate during His trials. Also tell how Jesus answered each question.

The Gospel of Mark shows us how Jesus was the obedient, faithful, and willing servant of God. Because of this, God also honored Him with unspeakable glory (Philippians 2:9-11). If you and I remain faithful and obedient in our service for God, we will also receive honor (John 12:26).

Application

19 Reply to the following exercises regarding the Gospel of Mark. Write your responses in your notebook.

a Explain the relationship John Mark had with Peter, Paul, and Barnabas.

b Name two facts about the Gospel of Mark which show its emphasis in the active ministry of Jesus.

c Give the main headings and the chapter and verse references for each of the four main sections of Mark.

d Name two special features of the Gospel of Mark and give an example or reference for each.
self-test

TRUE-FALSE. Circle the number in front of each TRUE statement.

1. The similarities among the Synoptic Gospels indicate that from the earliest time there was a well established body of factual material about the life and teachings of Jesus.
2. Matthew and Luke do not include the basic kerygma about Christ which is given in Mark.
4. More than half of Matthew is devoted to giving the teachings of Jesus.
5. Matthew’s Gospel indicates that most of the Jews recognized the kingship of Jesus.
6. In Matthew’s Gospel, the teachings of Jesus are arranged in five major sections.
7. It is likely that the Gospel of Mark represents the eyewitness testimony of the apostle Peter, with whom Mark was well acquainted.
8. Because Mark emphasized the active ministry of Jesus he did not include any of the teachings of Jesus in his Gospel record.
9. One of the special features of Mark’s Gospel is that it includes the descriptions of more than 25 miracles.
10. Mark gives many details which show that it represents the testimony of an eyewitness.

MULTIPLE-CHOICE. Circle the letter in front of the one best answer to each question.

11. Matthew, Mark, and Luke are called the Synoptic Gospels because all of them
   a) devote most of their space to giving the teachings of Jesus.
   b) appeal to several different kinds of audiences.
   c) follow the same basic pattern in telling about the life of Christ.
   d) were written by disciples of Jesus.

12. The most important reason why the Gospel of Matthew forms a good bridge between the Old Testament and the New is because it
   a) tells how the Old Testament prophecies were fulfilled in Jesus.
   b) contains the preaching of John the Baptist.
   c) includes several of the parables and miracles of Jesus.
   d) describes how Jesus ministered to many people with compassion.
MATCHING. Match the Gospel named (right) to each phrase which describes it (left).

...... a  Was written by a man who went with Paul and Barnabas on their first missionary journey  1) Matthew  2) Mark

...... b  Includes the names of two Gentile women in its genealogy of Christ

...... c  Emphasizes the kingship and kingdom of Jesus

...... d  Uses the Greek word euthus (“at once”) much more than the other gospels

...... e  Mentions the name of Rufus, a member of the church in Rome

SHORT-ANSWER. Answer these questions as briefly as possible.

13 b It does not include . . . family history.
   c A greater proportion of space is given . . . Gospel of Luke.

4 More than one-half of its content is devoted to giving the teachings of Jesus. (You could have said also that it gives the Great Commission in which Jesus stressed the importance of His teachings.)

   a Her age—twelve years old.
   b Its color—green.
   c His response—He sighed.
   d His action—he threw his cloak aside.
   e His dress and posture—he was dressed in white and was sitting on the right side.
Three of the special features of the Gospel of Matthew are these: a) its emphasis on the kingdom and kingship of Jesus, b) the attention it gives to the Gentiles, and c) its mention of the church. Refer to the lesson to check the examples and references you have given for each of these. (For part of your answer you could have said also that Matthew includes several parables, incidents, and miracles not found in the other Gospels.)

He said that Jesus would baptize with the Holy Spirit.

(Your answer should be similar.) Matthew 4:17 says that Jesus began to preach that the kingdom of heaven was near. After this He called His first disciples. Matthew 16:21 says that Jesus began to explain that He would die in Jerusalem and be resurrected on the third day. After this Peter rebuked Him and Jesus told Peter he did not have the things of God in mind.

They were amazed.

They were amazed and gave praise to God.

They were terrified.

They were amazed and offended.

He finished “saying these things.” He had just taught about the wise and foolish builders.

He finished “instructing His twelve disciples.” He had just taught about rewards.

He finished “these parables.” He had just given the parable of the net with the good and bad fish.

He finished “saying these things.” He had just taught about what would happen to the unforgiving servant.

He finished “saying all these things.” He had just taught about how the wicked and the righteous would be judged.

(Your answers should be similar.)

8:31-32; Peter rebuked Him.

9:30-32; His disciples didn’t understand Him and were afraid to ask Him about what He had said.

10:32-34; no reaction mentioned.

They asked him where was the one who was born king of the Jews (2:2).

The high priest asked Him if He were the Christ, the Son of the Blessed One. Jesus replied that He was (14:61-62).

Pilate asked Him if He were the king of the Jews. Jesus told him it was as he said (15:2).

Jesus explained the parables of the sower (vv. 18-23) and the weeds (vv. 36-43).
19 (Your answer to a should be similar. For b you may have chosen any feature of Mark’s Gospel which is mentioned in the section titled Emphasis.)
a  John Mark was a close associate of Peter and a cousin of Barnabas. He went with Paul and Barnabas on their first missionary journey.
b  Mark emphasized the active ministry of Jesus by omitting details about His family history and giving more attention to His miracles.
c  I. The Servant Is Presented.  1:1-13
   II. The Servant Works.  1:14–7:23
   III. The Servant Is Refused.  7:24–10:52
   IV. The Servant Completes His Work.  11:1–16:20
d  Three of the special features of the Gospel of Mark are these:
   1) its fresh, lively style of writing by using the Greek historic present, and using phrases which give vivid details.
   2) its details of interest to Romans.
   3) Mark’s emphasis on the importance of “the Gospel.”

Refer to the lesson to check the examples and references you have given for each of these.
As you have discovered, it is impossible to read any of the Gospels without being deeply impressed by the man Jesus—His words, His miracles, His unselfish love. You have seen how Matthew traced His ancestry and proved His right to claim the throne of David. You have seen how Mark showed His life of active, dedicated service. You have also considered aspects of the special relationship that exists among the Synoptic Gospels, of which Matthew and Mark are two.

In this lesson we will take a closer look at Luke, the third Synoptic Gospel, and John, the Gospel written by the disciple whom Jesus loved. These two Gospels are also distinctive. Luke appealed to the Gentile mind, John to the philosophical. Luke told about the earthly circumstances of the birth of Jesus; John portrayed Him as the eternal Word, the One who existed from the beginning.

Yet both Luke and John showed Jesus to be the Son of God and the Savior of men. They leave no doubt that His main purpose was to provide salvation for everyone in the world. As you study the special insights they had into the person and ministry of Jesus, you will be inspired to worship and love Him more.

Luke: Gospel of the Savior
John: Gospel of the Son of God

lesson objectives

When you finish this lesson you should be able to:

- State or identify important facts about the author, emphasis, special features, and content of the Gospel of Luke.
- Identify or compose statements describing the author, emphasis, special features, and content of the Gospel of John.

learning activities

1. Study the lesson development in the usual manner, answering the study exercises and checking your answers.
2. Read the Gospels of Luke and John as directed.
3. Be sure to find in your Bible and read each Scripture whose reference is given. These verses help illustrate the ideas which are presented.
4. After you have taken the self-test, review Lessons 1-4 (Unit 1). Then complete your Unit Student Report 1 and return it to your national ICI office or local learning center.

LUKE: GOSPEL OF THE SAVIOR

Objective 1. State or identify important facts about the author, emphasis, special features, and content of the Gospel of Luke.

The Gospel of Luke was written by the man whom the apostle Paul called “our dear friend Luke, the doctor” (Colossians 4:14). Luke himself described his Gospel account. He said that it was a book about “all the things that Jesus began to do and to teach until the day he was taken up into heaven” (Acts 1:1-2). As we examine the Gospel which bears Luke’s name, we will become better acquainted with the Savior whom he loved and served and about whom he so eloquently wrote.

Author

From the evidence given in the New Testament we can conclude that Luke was a highly-educated Gentile. He was a man well-versed in the medical knowledge of his day. It is probable that he was a native of Antioch. He also wrote the book of Acts in which he recorded the events surrounding the formation and expansion of the church. For this reason the Gospel he wrote can be described more accurately as the first part of a two-volume history of the beginnings of Christianity (the second part being the book of Acts). He was a close friend of the apostle Paul and went with him on several of his missionary journeys, including the last one which took Paul to Rome.

Application

1 Find each of the Scripture passages whose reference is listed below. In your notebook, write a short sentence telling what it says about Luke and his relationship to Paul and the other Christians.
   a 2 Timothy 4:11
   b Philemon 24
   c Colossians 4:14
Emphasis

In writing his account of the life of Jesus, Luke emphasized its human, historical, and theological aspects.

The humanity of Jesus is an important fact which Luke presented. Many Bible students have described the gospel of Luke as the Gospel of the manhood of Jesus. Luke showed that Jesus was one of us and that He shared completely in the common experiences of human life.

Application

2 Read each of the Scripture passages whose reference is given. In your notebook, write a phrase telling what aspect of human life each one shows that Jesus experienced.

a 2:6-7
b 2:40-52
c 7:36; 24:42-43
d 19:41

Luke stressed, too, the historical nature of the life of Christ. He made a careful study of all the important facts so that he could write an accurate account (1:3). He referred to specific events that happened in Palestine at the same time that Jesus was born (2:1, 3). He also named the rulers and the high priests who were in power when John the Baptist began his ministry (3:1-3). These details make it possible to relate the life of Jesus to a certain time in the political history of the region. They establish the fact that Jesus was an historical person, a man who carried out His mission amid the very real circumstances and turmoil of first century Palestine.

Application

3 Following are given some facts Luke includes in his Gospel. Circle the letter before each fact which shows his emphasis on the actual historical nature of the life of Christ.

a) The angel Gabriel told Zechariah to name his son John (1:13).
b) The first census taken when Quirinius was governor of Syria was the one decreed by Caesar Augustus (2:1-2).
c) Jesus experienced the normal process of childhood and growth (2:40, 52).
Pontius Pilate was governor of Judea when John the Baptist preached (3:1-2).

Luke highlighted, also, certain theological aspects of the ministry of Jesus. These had to do with the identity of Jesus and the meaning of His work of salvation. For example, Luke recorded that Jesus often referred to Himself as the “Son of Man.” This term was the name the prophet Daniel gave to the person he saw in a vision as described in Daniel 7:13-14. For Daniel, it meant that the one he saw looked like a man, a member of the human race.

Application

4 Read Daniel 7:13-14. In your notebook, write a short answer to each of the following questions.

a) In what manner did the “Son of Man” come?

b) What was the “Son of Man” given?

c) Who would worship him?

d) What kind of dominion or kingdom would he have?

By using the name “Son of Man” Jesus identified Himself with the person whom Daniel saw in his prophetic vision. But He did more than that. He said that as the Son of Man He would suffer, die, and be resurrected (Luke 9:22). This was a statement which the disciples could not understand (9:44-45). It showed that the Son of Man who would come in great power and glory would first be rejected.

Besides emphasizing the identity of Jesus as the Son of Man, Luke also stressed His work of salvation and His role as Redeemer. He recorded the fact that Anna, the prophetess, spoke about the child Jesus to all who were looking for the redemption of Jerusalem (2:38). He told how the disciples on the road to Emmaus said that they had expected Jesus to be the one who would redeem Israel (24:21).

The process of redemption was established by God and well-known among the Jews. It meant that something (or someone) which was sold could be bought back by a close relative or kinsman of the one who sold it. In this way it could be restored to its original owner. (The book of Ruth in the Old Testament is a beautiful illustration of this process.) A “redeemer” had to be a relative or kinsman of the one needing help.

Application

5 We have seen that a “redeemer” had to be a close relative of the person needing help. What fact about Jesus did Luke emphasize which shows that He was in a position to be our redeemer? Write your answer in your notebook.

Special Features

In addition to the aspects of Jesus’ life which Luke emphasized, there are many special features in his Gospel account. For example, it gives attention to the part played by certain groups of people such as women, children, and the poor. In addition, the words used and the details included show that the author was acquainted with the medical profession. Luke is the most literary of the Gospels; it contains several beautiful songs and poems and has a rich vocabulary. Its pages also reveal an interest in the worldwide importance of the message of Christ and in the work of the Holy Spirit. All of these features give the Gospel of Luke a special character. Let us look at some examples of each one.

The Role of Women, Children, and the Poor

Luke often gave a fuller description than Mark or Matthew of the women and children who were involved in the life and ministry of Jesus. In his account Luke also recorded several stories and parables which deal specifically with poverty and wealth; most of these do not appear in any of the other Gospels.

Application

a) At first, Mary was troubled when the angel spoke to her.

b) Jesus was conceived by the Holy Spirit.

c) Mary was pledged in marriage to Joseph.
d) While visiting Elizabeth, Mary praised and glorified the Lord.
e) In her heart, Mary thought over the things that had happened.
7 Read the accounts of the healing of Jairus’ daughter (Matthew 9:18-26; Mark 5:23, 35-43; and Luke 8:41, 42, 49-56). Which of the following facts about Jairus’ daughter is mentioned only by Luke?
   a) She was about twelve years old.
   b) She was the only daughter of Jairus.

The parables about poverty and wealth that are unique to Luke include the striking one about the rich fool (12:13-34). How vividly this story teaches the importance of understanding what true riches are!

A Physician’s Perspective

Many Bible scholars have felt that Luke’s Gospel shows evidence of having been written by a person who was a physician. Luke’s account often shows more interest in the sick person than is shown in the accounts of Mark and Matthew. Note, for example, the fuller description Luke gave as compared to Mark of the malady or disease which Jesus healed in the following instances:

World-Wide Focus

Luke’s Gospel shows that he wanted to make plain the world-wide importance of the life and work of Jesus. In his writings Jesus is revealed not only as a living figure of Jewish history, but also as the Savior of all men. Many times His miracles and teachings were directed toward people from Gentile nations. In the following exercise you will read some of the passages which illustrate this truth. Several of them appear only in Luke’s Gospel account.
Application

Read each portion of Scripture listed and fill in the missing word or words in the sentence to which it refers.

The Work of the Holy Spirit

Among the three Synoptics, Luke has the most references to the work of the Holy Spirit. He showed how the Holy Spirit was involved in every aspect of the life of Christ. He also noted features of His ministry in the lives of other significant people. The following exercise will help you discover some of the specific ways in which the Holy Spirit ministered as recorded by Luke.
Application

9 Copy the chart and headings given in your notebook. Read the verses referred to and write in the information requested. The first one is completed to give you an example (1:35 has two answers).

Literary Beauty

Luke has included four magnificent songs or poems in his Gospel account. These are the songs of Mary (1:46-55), Zechariah (1:67-79), the angels (2:13-14), and the prayer of Simeon (2:28-32). Each one is a masterpiece of expression and praise. They give Luke’s book a special beauty. In addition, Luke’s literary ability is also seen in the way he wrote about the events of Jesus’ life and expressed the parables and teachings the Master gave. Notice, for example, the vivid descriptions of the lost son and his jealous brother (15:11-32) and of the pompous Pharisee and the sorrowful publican (18:9-14). Luke’s skillful recording of these teachings of Jesus makes the characters come alive for us.

Luke’s aptitude for narrating events is no less impressive. How profoundly moved and cheered we feel when we read his simple description of Jesus’ appearance to the downcast disciples.
on the road to Emmaus (24:13-32)! Truly Luke was an artist in words, and we are the ones who benefit from his talent.

Application

10 Review this section on the special features of the Gospel of Luke. Then, in your notebook, write a sentence which states an example of each feature listed and give the reference in Luke where the example can be found. A sample is given for the first one.

a The role of women, children, and the poor. Luke described Mary’s feelings when the angel spoke to her (1:26-38). (Do not use this example for your answer, but follow it as a model for stating your own.)

b A physician’s perspective

c World-wide focus

d The work of the Holy Spirit

e Literary beauty

Content

The sequence of events in Luke follows the general pattern of that in Matthew and Mark. There is also a considerable amount of material which only Luke includes. Luke’s main goal was to present Jesus as the perfect man empowered by the Spirit and the Savior of all people; his Gospel is the only one among the Synoptics in which the specific title “Savior” is used for Jesus (2:11).

Use the following outline to guide you as you read through the Gospel of Luke. In your notebook, write answers to the questions for each section. Memorize the heading and the chapter and verse references.

LUKE: GOSPEL OF THE SAVIOR

Application

11 Briefly describe the reactions of Mary and Joseph to a) the prayer of Simeon when Jesus was presented in the temple, and b) the response Jesus made about needing to be in His Father’s house.

Application

12 There are accounts in these chapters of ten specific people whom Jesus healed, delivered from evil spirits, or raised from the dead. Name each person and give the references where the event is described.

Almost all of the content of this section belongs exclusively to Luke. Specifically, most of the material which is contained in 9:51–18:14 and 19:1-28 is found only in his Gospel account.

Application

13 Following are listed descriptions of some of the parables, teachings, and events which appear in this section. Opposite each description, write the reference where the material it describes appears. The first is done to give you an example.

- a Jesus described the fall of Satan. .............................................. 10.18
- b Jesus said the “sign of Jonah” would be given. ........................
- c The Pharisees told Jesus that Herod wanted to kill Him.       ...........................................................
- d Jesus told about the rich man and Lazarus.  .........................
- e Zacchaeus met Jesus and said he would change his ways.

Application

14 Circle the letter in front of each TRUE statement. The information you need to select the true statements is found in this section of Luke.

a Jesus said the city of Jerusalem would be destroyed because its people did not realize the time when God came to them.

b The chief priests and teachers of the Law did not realize that Jesus had spoken the parable of the tenants against them.

c Jesus said that signs would appear in the sun, moon, and stars at the time of the coming of the Son of Man.

d After He was arrested, Jesus was taken to the house of the high priest and brought before the council of elders at daybreak.

e Pilate sent Jesus to Herod because Jesus said He was the King of the Jews.

f Jesus appeared to the disciples on the road to Emmaus before He appeared to the Eleven in Jerusalem.

In reading Luke’s beautifully written record of the life of Jesus we see how He fulfilled the mission which He Himself announced (4:18-19). We see how the Spirit of the Lord came upon Him. We see how He preached the good news to the poor, proclaimed freedom for the prisoners, gave recovery of sight to the blind, released the oppressed, and announced the year of the Lord’s favor. What a Savior!

Objective 2. Identify or compose statements describing the author, emphasis, special features, and content of the Gospel of John.

For many, the Gospel of John is the most beloved book of the Bible. It has a unique kind of spiritual depth and beauty; its message arrests the mind and challenges the heart in a powerful, compelling way. Written by the apostle John, “the disciple whom Jesus loved,” it draws the reader into that intimate fellowship with the Master which was experienced by those who were nearest to Him. As we study the truths it presents, may our fellowship with Jesus become closer and richer as a result.
Author

Most Bible scholars agree that the apostle John was the author of the fourth Gospel. He was one of the 12 disciples of Jesus. Along with Peter and James, he was in the “inner circle” of the Lord’s closest associates (Mark 5:37; 9:2; 14:33). He was “the disciple whom Jesus loved” (John 13:23; 19:26; 20:2; 21:7, 20). James was his brother, and they both were the sons of Zebedee (Matthew 4:21). He was an eyewitness of the events which he recorded (John 1:14; 19:35; 21:24).

Application

15 Describe the writer of the Gospel of John by answering the following questions in your notebook. Use the information given in the preceding paragraph and the Scriptures referred to in writing your answer.

a  What was his relationship to Jesus?
b  What was his relationship to the other disciples?
c  What kind of knowledge did he have of the events of Jesus’ life?

Emphasis

John himself clearly stated the purpose he had for writing his account of the life of Christ.

Jesus did many other miraculous signs in the presence of his disciples, which are not recorded in this book. But these are written that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that by believing you may have life in his name.

Thus we see that John carefully selected his material with one specific goal in mind: to lead people to believe that Jesus is the Son of God. The material John chose emphasized the works and the words of Jesus. Together these form convincing evidence that Jesus was who He claimed to be. John also showed how people reacted to Christ; their responses illustrated his main theme of belief.

John gave attention to the works which Jesus did. The accounts of seven miracles are included in his Gospel. He called them signs, for together they demonstrated the complete authority of Jesus as the Son of God and pointed unmistakably to His deity.

Application

The seven signs John included are described in the Scripture passages listed on the left. Read each passage, then match it to the phrase which best describes the area of Jesus’ authority which it revealed.

| ...... | a | 2:1-11 |
| ...... | b | 4:46-54 |
| ...... | c | 5:1-9 |
| ...... | d | 6:1-14 |
| ...... | e | 6:16-21 |
| ...... | f | 9:1-12 |
| ...... | g | 11:1-46 |

1. 1) Power to heal across barriers of space and time
2. 2) Power to raise the dead
3. 3) Power over natural law
4. 4) Power to meet human physical need regardless of material limitations

In addition to these seven signs, there is one more, the greatest sign of them all: the resurrection of Jesus from the dead (chapters 20 and 21). In the words of Paul the apostle, Jesus was “declared with power to be the Son of God by his resurrection from the dead” (Romans 1:4). This event was the crowning proof of His divine Sonship.

John also stressed the words of Jesus. Most of the discourses he recorded are those in which Jesus discussed aspects of His own person. Among these are the seven major “I am” passages, which are as follows:

1. “I am the bread of life.” ............................................. 6:35
2. “I am the light of the world.” .............................. 8:12; 9:5
3. “Before Abraham was born, I am!”  ......................... 8:58
4. “I am the good shepherd.” ........................................ 10:11
5. “I am the resurrection and the life.” ...................... 11:25
6. “I am the way and the truth and the life.” .............. 14:6
7. “I am the true vine” .................................................. 15:1
Many Bible scholars have seen these sayings as an expansion of Exodus 3:14 in which God told Moses that His name was “I am.” They not only assert the deity of Christ (see 8:58) but also show how He revealed the Father.

Application

17 Following are listed three of the “I am” sayings. Each one is specifically connected with one of the seven signs which John recorded (refer to study question 16). In your notebook, write each saying. Next to it state the miracle which was connected with it and give the reference where it is found.

a. “I am the bread of life.”
b. “I am the light of the world.”
c. “I am the resurrection and the life.”

Besides these passages, John included many other important teachings such as those about the new birth (ch. 3), the living water (ch. 4), the authority of the Son (ch. 5), and the work of the Holy Spirit (chs. 7, 14-16). He also recorded the prayer of Jesus regarding Himself and His disciples (ch. 17). This prayer illuminated even more of His nature, His oneness with the Father, and His ultimate plan for all those who would believe in Him.

Along with his emphasis on the words and works of Jesus, John highlighted the personal interviews Jesus had with certain men and women. He showed how Jesus challenged them to believe in Him. The encounters John described are vivid illustrations of the main theme of John’s Gospel—belief in Jesus Christ.

Application

18 Read each personal interview referred to. In your notebook, write the reference. Beside it put the name of the individual and briefly state how he or she responded to the challenge of Jesus.

a. 4:43-54
b. 9:1-7, 35-38
c. 11:17-27
d. 18:28–19:16
e. 20:24-28
As you have studied, John emphasized the purpose of his Gospel account by including descriptions of Jesus’ teachings, miracles, and personal interviews. Complete each of the following sentences by explaining how John used each of these kinds of content to illustrate his main theme of belief in Jesus Christ as the Son of God.

a. Of all the miracles Christ did John selected seven of them to demonstrate ..........................................................

b. Many of the discourses John recorded were those in which Jesus taught truths about .............................................

c. John described several of the personal interviews Jesus had in order to give examples of ..........................................

As one examines John’s record of the words, works, and personal encounters of Jesus, there can be no doubt as to the reason why he has written his testimony: to present the truth that belief in Jesus, the Son of God, is the only and essential key to life itself (John 3:36).

Special Features

The Gospel of John has many special features. Of these we will examine three of the most notable: its relationship to the Synoptics, its vocabulary, and its distinctive view of Christ.

Relationship to the Synoptics

In comparing the Gospel of John to the three Synoptics, one is struck by the contrast which exists. With all the distinctions they have among themselves, the Synoptics are still much more like each other than any one of them is like John. For example, the ministry of Jesus in Galilee generally occupies the Synoptics, while the Lord’s ministry in Judea receives most of John’s attention. With the exception of the two miracles recorded in John 6:1-24 and the account of the trial, death, and resurrection of Jesus, none of John’s content appears elsewhere.

But though these contrasts exist, there are some important links between John and the Synoptics. While most of John’s material is different from theirs, none of it contradicts what they give. Instead it often supplements and provides the background for the events they describe. For example, from a study of Matthew, Mark, and Luke one might conclude that the ministry of Jesus lasted somewhat over a year. But John mentioned three Passovers (and possibly four), feasts which occurred once a year.
Thus we know that the ministry of Jesus occupied at least three years. John’s information illuminates the synoptic view of the life of Jesus in other ways as well.

We have seen that John had a certain goal in mind when he wrote his account. It is possible that the three Synoptics were already in circulation among the Christians at the time. Whether they were or not, however, he did not duplicate them. As the Holy Spirit directed him, he drew upon his extensive and rich experience as the disciple whom Jesus loved and presented his own unique perception of Him and His mission. Today we benefit from the deep insights and truths which God gave him to share with us.

Application

20 The Gospel of John is related to the Synoptics in that its content
a) corrects the information they give.
b) supplements the information they give.
c) is completely unrelated to the information they give.

Vocabulary

Certain terms are used much more frequently in the Gospel of John than in the Synoptics. Among these are the following:
Abide and remain, believe, feast, Jew, light, live and life, love (both the noun and verb), truth and true, witness, and world.
These terms have special significance and meaning. They need to be carefully studied, for they often provide the key to the thoughts which John expressed.
Distinctive View of Christ

All of the Gospels presented Christ as the Son of God. But it was John, perhaps, who declared in the most plain language of all that Jesus was God and had always existed (John 1:1, 14; 8:58; 17:5). John started the gospel story not from the beginning but in the beginning. For John, Bethlehem and the manger did not mark the origin of Christ’s existence, but the time when He became “flesh.”

The Gospel of John also revealed another truth about the person of Christ. John saw that He was the Word. Among the Gospel writers, John was the only one who used this term to refer to Jesus. As his readers understood it, the term “word” had several associations. In its ordinary use, it pointed to the means by which men communicate with each other. To the Jews “the Word of God” was a familiar expression, found often in the Old Testament (see Psalm 33:6 for example). Some of them applied it to the Messiah who was to come. To the Greeks it signified the manifestation of divine reason. John spoke to all these meanings when he boldly asserted that Jesus was the Word. In this way he showed the Greeks as well as the Jews that Jesus was God communicating with man, the full expression of His reason, will, and purpose given in a way that man could understand.

Application

21 Following are several references to verses in the Gospel of John. Read the verses. Circle the letter in front of each reference to a verse which is a good example of John’s special vocabulary.

- a) 1:4
- b) 2:19
- c) 11:57
- d) 15:9
- e) 18:37

22 The distinctive view of Christ which John presented had to do with His

a) fulfillment of the Messianic prophecies.

b) ability to work miracles.

c) identity as the Word.
Content

As you read the Gospel of John notice how the main theme of belief is followed throughout. Notice also how it describes the kind of relationship which Jesus had with His Father. As you have already discovered, this Gospel is unique in many different ways. In it Jesus stands forth in His glory as the one and only Son of God (1:14), the one who offers eternal life to all who will believe in Him (3:16).

JOHN: GOSPEL OF THE SON OF GOD

Application

23 This chapter records that two people called Jesus the “Son of God.” These two people were
a) John the Baptist.
b) Andrew.
c) Philip.
d) Nathaniel.

Application

24 Jesus made several important statements in these chapters. Match each statement (left) to the name of the person or persons to whom He said it (right). The chapters are given to help you.

...... a  “Destroy this temple, and I will raise it again in three days.” (2)  1) The disciples
...... b  “You must be born again.” (3)  2) Nicodemus
...... c  “Whoever drinks the water I give him will never thirst.” (4)  3) The Jews
...... d  “Whatever the Father does the Son also does.” (5)  4) The Samaritan woman
...... e  “The words I have spoken to you are spirit and they are life.” (6)

Application

25 Read the following statements and descriptions of events. In your notebook, describe how the Jews reacted to each incident. The chapters are given to help you.

a) Jesus said, “before Abraham was born, I am!” (8)

b) The blind man Jesus healed told the Jews that if Jesus were not from God He could do nothing. (9)

c) Jesus raised Lazarus from the dead. (11)

Application

26 Circle the letter in front of each TRUE statement. In your notebook, rewrite each false statement so that it is true.

a) Jesus illustrated the importance of serving by washing the feet of the disciples.

b) Jesus gave the teaching of the vine and the branches in order to explain the work of the Holy Spirit.

c) The two men who prepared the body of Jesus for burial were Philip and John.

d) The third time Jesus appeared to His disciples after His resurrection was when they were out fishing one morning.

The Gospel of John shows us the beautiful and unique relationship Jesus had with the Father throughout His life on earth. When He was praying before the tomb of Lazarus, He looked up and said “Father, I thank you that you have heard me. I knew that you always hear me.” What great confidence He had in His Father! And through Him we can have a relationship with the Father too. John tells us that all those who receive Jesus and believe in His name have been given “the right to become children of God” (1:12). What a glorious privilege!

TRUE-FALSE. Circle the number in front of each TRUE statement.

2 Luke is the only one of the Synoptics in which the title of Savior is applied to Christ.
3 Both the Gospels of Luke and John describe the childhood of Jesus.
4 The historical nature of the life of Jesus is emphasized more by Luke than by John.
5 The terms truth, believe, and love appear more frequently in John than in the Synoptics.
6 The Gospel of John reveals the fact that all who met Jesus declared their belief in Him.
7 Almost all of the teachings recorded by John also appear in the Synoptics.

MULTIPLE-CHOICE. Circle the letter in front of the one best answer to each question

8 Luke emphasized the theological aspect of the ministry of Jesus by including
   a) certain specific details about the people Jesus healed.
   b) the teachings Jesus gave regarding the “son of man.”
   c) several parables on the subject of poverty and riches.
John said that he selected his material carefully in order to:

a) show that Jesus was the Son of God and lead people to believe in Him.

b) present a full and complete description of all the miracles Jesus performed.

c) give a background for the events described in the Synoptics.

For Your Notes
The Church—Its Growth and Development

Lessons
5  The Church Is Established
6  The Church Reaches Out
7  The Church Continues To Grow
In Unit 1 you learned facts about the world into which Jesus came and the land in which He lived. Through the eyes of the four evangelists you saw how He carried out His mission on the hillsides and cities of Palestine. You discovered how He proclaimed the kingdom of God, a kingdom which was made up of all who would put aside their rebellion, accept His salvation, and acknowledge Him as their Lord. You followed Him through the momentous events of the Passion Week—His betrayal, arrest, trial, and crucifixion. And you read the eyewitness accounts of His glorious resurrection. You also learned that He did not remain with His disciples very long after He rose from the dead, but told them before He left to wait in Jerusalem until they were “clothed with power from on high” (Luke 24:49).

As you study the books of Acts, James, and Galatians in this lesson, you will discover just what happened when the disciples gathered in Jerusalem in obedience to the instructions of Jesus. You will find out about the power they received and what happened as a result. You will see how God poured out His Spirit upon Jews and Gentiles alike and how the message of salvation spread throughout the Roman Empire. As you study, may you gain a deeper understanding of the church and the power that is available to you as you serve your risen Lord.

Lesson Outline

Acts: Record of the Church in Action
James and Galatians: Letters to the Young Church

Lesson Objectives

When you finish this lesson you should be able to:

- Give examples of four main features of the book of Acts.
- Read the book of Acts and answer questions regarding its content.
- Identify statements describing the content and historical setting of the Epistles of James and Galatians.

Learning Activities

1. Study the lesson development according to the regular procedure. Remember to read in your Bible each Scripture portion whose reference is given and find each key word in the glossary.

2. On the maps which are given, find each place mentioned in the lesson and in the book of Acts. This will help you understand how the gospel message spread.

3. After you have finished the lesson, review it. Then complete the self-test and check your answers.

The book of Acts tells how the gospel triumphed and spread from Jerusalem, the religious capital of the Jewish world, to Rome, the political capital of the Roman world. As we study we will discover that the resurrected Christ is its central figure, for it shows how He worked mightily through His apostles and church by the power of the Spirit.

Author, Purpose, and Importance

Objective 1. Identify descriptions of the author, purpose, and importance of the book of Acts.

As you have already learned, Acts was designed as a sequel to the Gospel of Luke. It is the second part of the history of the beginnings of Christianity which was written by Luke, the close associate and travel companion of Paul the apostle. Luke was an eyewitness of many of the events he described in the book of Acts. His presence during these events is indicated by his use of the pronoun “we” (see 16:10; 20:6; and 27:3; for example). Guided and inspired by the Spirit, he used his literary skills and understanding of history to give us a vivid and accurate picture of the first years of the church.

Acts is important because it provides us with the authoritative record of the formation of the church and the activities of its main leaders. It is the link between the Gospels and the Epistles, for the Gospels look forward to the establishment of the church while the Epistles assume that it already exists. Without Acts we would not know how the church began.

Application

1. Circle the letter in front of each TRUE statement.

a. Luke stated that his purpose in writing Acts was to give Theophilus a complete description of the lives of all the apostles.

c. The book of Acts is important because it is the link between the Old Testament and the four Gospels.

Main Features

Objective 2. Give examples of four main features of the book of Acts.

Luke did not try to describe everything that happened during the early days of the church. As a skilled historian, he selected the most important and significant incidents and showed how they shaped the overall course of events. We will study the main features of his account.

1. The book of Acts emphasizes the missionary activity of the church. Acts 1:8 can be used as a basic outline of the book. It summarizes the progress of the gospel during the 30 years following the Day of Pentecost. The message of Christ was preached first in Jerusalem (Acts 1–7), then in Judea and Samaria (chs. 8–12), and then throughout the northern Mediterranean region, with Rome as the last place mentioned (chs. 13–28). In keeping with his historical presentation, Luke recorded the names of various officials of Rome who were associated with the events he described (see Acts 24-26, for example, in which Felix, Lysias, Porcius Festus, and King Agrippa are mentioned). Peter is the main leader in chapters 1-12, and Paul in 13-28.

   In the book of Acts we see how the first believers responded to Christ’s command to evangelize the world. It shows us their problems as well as their triumphs. It also gives us a practical example of missionary methods which can be followed in missionary work today.

Application

Read in Acts the verses referred to. In your notebook, briefly describe what the Spirit did in each case.

- a) 2:1-4
- b) 4:23-31
- c) 8:14-17
- d) 8:29
- e) 10:44-48
- f) 13:1-4
- g) 15:28
- h) 16:6-7
- i) 19:1-6
- j) 20:22-23
- k) 20:28

Other truths about the Holy Spirit are seen in Acts. Notice, for example, the judgment Ananias and Sapphira received because they lied to the Holy Spirit (Acts 5:1-11). Consider the rebuke the man Simon was given for asking to buy the gift of the Holy Spirit (Acts 8:18-23).

The book of Acts gives evidence of the reality and presence of the Holy Spirit. It shows that the church is a supernatural work of God, brought into being, empowered, guided, and sustained by the Spirit of God Himself. There is no other explanation for its success and endurance amidst the severe persecution and opposition which it received.

3. The book of Acts demonstrated the true character of Christianity. When the church was first established, Christianity appeared to be a special group within Judaism. Jesus was the Messiah the Jewish Scriptures had prophesied, and at the beginning the church was made up primarily of Jewish believers. But the message of Christ was for the whole world (Luke 24:47). Acts describes how the gospel began to reach those who were not part of the Jewish community.
Peter, for example, witnessed mainly to the Jews. But God showed him that He had accepted the Gentiles who believed in Christ and God used Peter to minister to them (Acts 10). Paul preached to the Jews also, but he turned increasingly to the Gentiles when most of the Jews rejected his message (Acts 19:9-10; 26:16-18; 28:28). Acts shows how it became clear that Christianity was not a Jewish sect, but a whole new way of life based on faith in Jesus as the Son of God and Savior of all men.

Application

3. Read Acts 8:1-8 and answer the following question in your notebook. What happened as a result of the persecution which came against the church in Jerusalem?

Besides showing the worldwide significance of Christianity, Acts also defended it against false charges. The book of Acts gave evidence that Christianity was not a political movement whose intent was to oppose the Roman government, as some said it was. When the Jews took Paul to court before Gallio, the proconsul, they accused him of teaching people to disobey the Law. But Gallio dismissed the case, saying that their accusation was not political, but religious (Acts 18:12-16). This was an important incident, for it showed that Christianity was not a seditious movement, and therefore not a threat to Roman political power. Luke recorded other incidents which illustrated the same point.

4. The book of Acts describes the ministry of some of the more prominent leaders God used to establish the church. As the early church grew, God raised up leaders to carry out His purpose for it. Luke told about the ministries of several of these, concentrating mainly on those of Peter and Paul. At the time Acts was written, it was important to show that Paul’s apostleship was validated by the same signs which accompanied the ministry of Peter. This was important because, unlike Peter, Paul was not one of the original disciples. In fact, he had been a bitter enemy of the young church (Acts 8:1-3; 9:1-3). Luke gave a good deal of information about Paul which showed that his ministry had divine approval. He demonstrated the similarities that existed between the ministries of the two men. For example, he showed how both men emphasized the work of the Holy Spirit (Acts 2:38; 19:2-6) and the importance of the resurrection of Christ (2:24-36; 13:30-37). He presented other ways in which their ministries were alike, such as the ones you will study in the following exercise.

Application

4 Following are listed references to parallel events in the lives of Peter and Paul. In your notebook, briefly describe each pair of events.

a) Peter—3:1-10; Paul—14:8-10
b) Peter—5:1-11; Paul—13:6-11
c) Peter—12:1-11; Paul—16:19-30

Along with Peter and Paul, Luke mentioned or described several other leaders such as John, James, Stephen, Philip, Barnabas, James, and Apollos. Each of these men had a part in the events that took place as the church moved forward. All of them were used by God to bring Jews, Gentiles, Samaritans, proselytes, and even former disciples of John the Baptist (Acts 19:1-3) into one new spiritual community with Christ at its center.

Application

5 You have studied some of the main features of the book of Acts. In your notebook, respond to each of the following exercises regarding those features.

a) Briefly describe the missionary emphasis of the book of Acts.
b) Give two examples of how the Holy Spirit was involved in the establishment and expansion of the church. Include the references.
c) State two ways in which the book of Acts demonstrated the true nature of Christianity.
d) Acts shows that the ministries of Peter and Paul were both validated by similar signs. Give two examples of those signs and the references to them.
Content

In this section of the lesson you will read through the book of Acts and follow the progress of the events which Luke described. As you read, notice examples of the special features that you learned about in the previous section of the lesson.

ACTS: RECORD OF THE CHURCH IN ACTION

The period of founding included the commission of the disciples for their work (1:1-11), the coming of the Holy Spirit to give them power (1:12–2:47), the events associated with the church and the gospel witness in Jerusalem (3:1–6:7), and the preaching and martyrdom of Stephen with the resulting persecution and scattering of the believers (6:8–8:3).

The coming of the Holy Spirit on the Day of Pentecost was an event of the greatest significance. The map entitled “The World of Acts 2” at the end of the lesson shows the areas from which pilgrims came to Jerusalem to celebrate the feast of Pentecost (see Acts 2:5-12). When Peter addressed the vast holiday crowd and explained what had happened, pilgrims from all of these areas were present in the crowd. No doubt some of them were among the 3,000 who responded to Peter’s invitation.

The period of change was the time when the gospel message reached more into the Gentile world. As greater numbers of Gentiles were converted, the focus shifted away from Jerusalem to Antioch. This period included the ministry of Philip, Peter, and John in Samaria and Judea (8:4-40), the conversion of Saul (9:1-31), and the preaching of the gospel in Lydda, Joppa, and Caesarea (9:32–11:18).

During this time there was a gradual lessening of prejudice against the Gentiles. Peter, for example, ministered to the Samaritans—a people of mixed Jewish and Gentile background (Acts 8:14–17, 25). Later he lived with Simon the tanner (Acts 9:43). Formerly Peter, as a strict Jew, would never have associated with a man who made his living in this way. After this God sent him to preach the message of Christ to a Roman centurion (Acts 10). These events were significant, for they showed that Gentiles were being accepted as part of God's plan.

The events that occurred at the time the Gentile church was planted include the teaching ministry of Barnabas and Paul in Antioch (11:19-30), the escape of Peter from prison in Jerusalem (12:1-25), the first missionary journey of Paul (13:1–14:28), and the decision made by the Jerusalem Council regarding the Gentiles (15:1-35).

Application

The church in Jerusalem responded to God’s work among the Gentiles (and Samaritans) in several different ways. In your notebook, briefly describe what they did in each of the following cases.

a The Samaritans accepted the Word of God through the preaching of Philip (8).

b Cornelius and his household believed in Christ and received the Holy Spirit (11).

c Many Greeks in Antioch turned to the Lord (11).

d There was a controversy in Antioch about whether the Gentiles had to be circumcised and keep the law of Moses. Paul and Barnabas went to Jerusalem to discuss the matter with the church there (15).

IV. Paul Carries Out His Program. Read 15:36–21:16.

During this period Paul went on his second missionary journey (15:36–18:22) and his third missionary journey (18:23–21:16). Paul began his second missionary journey by visiting the churches which were founded on his first trip. Paul then wanted to continue evangelizing in Asia, but the Holy Spirit directed him to Europe (Macedonia) instead (Acts 18:6-10). As a result, several churches were started in the areas of Macedonia and Achaia. Paul’s third missionary journey took him eventually to Ephesus, where he ministered for three years (Acts 19:10; 20:31).
Application

7 Study the maps of Paul’s missionary journeys. Circle the letter in front of each TRUE statement. Refer to the maps to help you decide which statements are true.

a On his second and third missionary journeys, Paul went first to areas he had already evangelized and strengthened the believers.

b Jerusalem was the city from which Paul departed on all three of his missionary trips.

c The area of Galatia is much closer to the city of Ephesus than the area of Achaia.

d Ephesus is much closer to the areas of Macedonia and Achaia than it is to the area of Galatia.

e The areas of Galatia, Achaia, and Macedonia are all about the same distance from Ephesus.

Can you see the strategy in the leading of the Holy Spirit in Paul’s ministry? After founding churches in the areas of Galatia, Macedonia, and Achaia, Paul stayed in Ephesus, which was centrally located. From that point he was able to communicate easily with the surrounding churches while he carried on his ministry in Ephesus. Paul apparently expected the Ephesian elders to continue to oversee the churches, for it was to them that he gave his final instructions when he left for Jerusalem for the last time (Acts 20:22-31).

The Church Is Established

Application

8 In these chapters, Paul witnessed before the Jews and several officials of Rome. In your notebook, briefly describe how each of the following groups or individuals reacted to what Paul said.

a  The Jews in Jerusalem (ch. 22)
b  Governor Felix (ch. 24)
c  King Agrippa (ch. 26)
d  The Jews in Rome (ch. 28)

The book of Acts gives us a pattern for missionary work (Acts 1:8). In this pattern there are three elements which are clearly mentioned:

1. The Power—the Holy Spirit
2. The Workers—the Christians
3. The Places—local, national, and worldwide

The book of Acts also shows us the importance of prayer in carrying out the program. The disciples gathered for prayer in response to Jesus’ command to wait for the Spirit (Acts 1:14), and the Spirit came (Acts 2:1-4). When they were persecuted for witnessing the disciples prayed for boldness; the whole place where they were praying was shaken, and they preached fearlessly (Acts 4:23-31). Peter and John prayed and the Samaritans received the Spirit (Acts 8:14-17). Prayer was indeed the practice of the early church (Acts 2:42).

Acts shows us that whenever individuals or groups prayed, God moved by His Spirit. The same is true today. The great revival that took place in my country of Burkina Faso in 1965 came because a handful of students prayed.

Let us learn not only the facts but also the spiritual principles of the book of Acts. If we follow the pattern it reveals, God will pour out His Spirit, and many people will be drawn to Christ as a result.
Application

Perhaps you would like to evaluate your own church or ministry by comparing its characteristics to those seen in the early church. Beside each quality listed, mark an X under “Present” if it is evident in your church or ministry or under “Needed” if it needs to be emphasized more. References are given to examples in Acts.

JAMES AND GALATIANS: LETTERS TO THE YOUNG CHURCH

Objective 4. Identify statements describing the content and historical setting of the Epistles of James and Galatians.

There are several New Testament epistles related to the book of Acts. It is likely that these epistles were written during the historical period it covers. They can be divided into three groups as given in the following list.

1. Those which were probably written before the Jerusalem Council of Acts 15:
   - James
   - Galatians
2. Those connected with the second and third missionary journeys of Paul:
   1 and 2 Thessalonians
   1 and 2 Corinthians Romans
3. Those written during Paul’s first imprisonment in Rome:
   Ephesians
   Philippians
   Colossians
   Philemon

In this lesson we will consider those belonging to the first group—James and Galatians. (We will study the epistles belonging to the second group in Lesson 6 and those belonging to the third group in Lesson 7. The remaining epistles will be discussed in Lesson 8.)

James: The Standards of a Godly Man

It appears that James was written sometime early in the history of the church to the Jewish Christians who lived in Jerusalem and in other cities where the gospel had reached.

Author

Most Bible scholars agree that the author of the Epistle of James was not James, the disciple of Jesus (Matthew 4:21), but James, the brother of Jesus (Matthew 13:55; Galatians 1:19). This James did not believe at first (John 7:5, 10). But the resurrected Christ appeared to him (1 Corinthians 15:7), and he was among the group of disciples who received the Spirit on the Day of Pentecost (Acts 1:14). Scripture indicates that he became a leader in the Jerusalem church and was in charge of the Jerusalem Council (Acts 15:13, 19). Paul met with him and the other elders at the end of his third missionary trip to tell them about God’s work among the Gentiles (Acts 21:17-19).

Historical Setting

We have learned that the church was strongly Jewish in character at first. In studying James we see that its overall content and style fits well into this early period. It is addressed to the “twelve tribes”—a Jewish expression (James 1:1). It uses the word for synagogue (translated “meeting” in the NIV) to name the place where believers gathered (2:2). Several Old Testament figures are given as examples, such as Abraham (2:20-24), Rahab (2:25-26), and Elijah (5:17-18). These would be familiar to Jewish Christians.

Another fact about James leads us to believe that it belongs to the early period of the church. Although it deals with questions related to the Law, there is no mention of the controversy about the Gentiles or the decision made by the Jerusalem Council. It seems likely that James would discuss this important issue if the Council had already taken place; especially since the author was evidently the leader of the Council.

Content and Outline

In his letter to his fellow Jews who had accepted Jesus as their Messiah, James expressed his concern for them. He wanted them to have the right attitude toward trials and temptations and to practice the beliefs they professed. He warned them about the dangers of greed and self-centered living and encouraged them to have faith in God. As you read through his letter, use the following outline to guide you.

JAMES: THE STANDARDS OF A GODLY MAN
I. His Attitude When Tested. Read 1:1-18.
II. His Response to the Word. Read 1:18-27.
IV. His Speech. Read 3:1-12.
VI. His Humility. Read 4:1-17.
VII. His Patience. Read 5:1-12.

Application

10 Circle the letter in front of each correct completion (more than one may be correct). The Epistle of James
a) uses the Old Testament figure of Abraham as an example of patience.
Galatians: The True Nature of the Gospel

In contrast to James, Galatians deals directly with the whole issue which was debated in the Jerusalem Council. It gives us the background for the opinions that were expressed there, and shows us how Paul responded to the situation in Galatia.

Author and Historical Setting

Paul visited the area of Galatia on his first missionary journey. This area included the cities of Pisidian Antioch, Iconium, Lystra, and Derbe (Acts 13:13–14:23). Together with Barnabas, Paul established churches in that region and then returned to Antioch of Syria (Acts 14:21-28).

While Paul was in Antioch, he learned that believers in Galatia had accepted a false “gospel”—a doctrine that men could be saved only if they were circumcised and kept the Law. Paul was horrified (Galatians 1:6). In writing to the Galatians he spared no effort to make them realize the seriousness of their mistake.

The people who were influencing the Galatians to accept a false “gospel” had the same ideas as those who are described in Acts 15:1-2. But though Galatians deals with the issue which was the subject of the Jerusalem Council, there is no mention of its official decision. This fact makes it seem likely that the Epistle was written before the Council, probably shortly before it. Regardless of when it was written, though, its content is what is of the greatest importance. It proclaimed the truth that faith in Christ, not observance of the Law, is the foundation of the Christian life. The acknowledgment of this truth formed the basis for the tremendous advances of the gospel among the Gentiles.
Content and Outline

In the strongest language possible, Paul opposed the legalistic error, denounced its advocates, and defended the true gospel—salvation through faith in Christ alone. He urged the Galatians to reject the false teaching and stand firm in their freedom, using it to serve one another in love. As you read through his letter, follow the outline given.

GALATIANS: THE TRUE NATURE OF THE GOSPEL
V. Exhortation to Apply the Gospel. Read 5:1–6:10.

Application

11 Circle the letter in front of each correct completion (more than one may be correct). The Epistle of Galatians
a) contains a defense of Paul’s apostleship.
b) says that Paul received his gospel from the original disciples.
c) states the decision which was made by the Jerusalem Council.
d) uses Abraham as an example of a person whom God accepted on the basis of his faith.

   a They shouted that Paul was not worthy to live (22:22).
   b He listened to Paul several times but made no decision (24:22-26).
   c He asked Paul if he thought he could convince him to become a Christian in such a short time (26:28).
   d Some were convinced by what he said, others were not. They disagreed among themselves (28:23-28).

3 Believers were scattered into Judea and Samaria and preached the message everywhere they went.

9 Your answer. I hope that you will seek to have a ministry which is characterized by all of these qualities.

4 (Your answers should be similar.)
   a) In Peter’s ministry, God healed a man crippled from birth at the temple in Jerusalem; in Paul’s ministry, God healed a man lame from birth at Lystra.
   b) Peter’s judgment against Ananias and Sapphira came to pass; Paul’s judgment against Elymas the sorcerer came to pass.
   c) Peter was miraculously delivered from prison in Jerusalem; Paul was miraculously delivered from prison in Philippi.

10 b) was probably written by James, the Lord’s brother.
   d) emphasizes the need to give practical demonstrations of faith. (Note on choice a): Job was the example James used for patience.)

5 a) Acts tells about the progress of the gospel and the activities of the men who preached the message of Christ beginning at Jerusalem, then in Judea, Samaria, and the northern Mediterranean region.
   b) Your answer. You could have used any of the examples given in the answer to study question 2.
   c) Acts showed that Christianity was 1) not a Jewish sect but a worldwide religion, and 2) not a threat to the political power of Rome.
   d) Your answer. You could have used any of the examples given in the lesson or in your answer to study question 4.

11 a) contains a defense of Paul’s apostleship.
   d) uses Abraham as an example . . . of his faith.
In Lesson 5 we studied the book of Acts and the epistles associated with the early period of the church—James and Galatians. Our study helped us to see the overall progress of the gospel message throughout the Roman Empire and how both Jews and Gentiles became part of the church. It also helped us to understand the message of consistent Christian living which James presented to the first Jewish believers and the truth concerning the basis of salvation which Paul explained to the Galatians.

In this lesson we will consider the letters associated with the church during the years after the Jerusalem Council when Paul made his second and third missionary journeys. We will examine the background of these letters and see how Paul responded to the needs of the new congregations which formed as the church reached out into Macedonia, Achaia, and Italy.

As we study these letters we will discover that those early believers had many of the same difficulties which we experience. Some of them were confused about the second coming of Christ. Others were torn by divisions among themselves. Still others needed to become mature in their Christian faith and understand more completely what it meant to believe in Christ. We will see how God provided guidance and instruction for believers with all these various needs through the letters of Paul.

1 and 2 Thessalonians: Letters to Macedonia
1 and 2 Corinthians: Letters to Achaia
Romans: Letters to Rome

lesson objectives

When you finish this lesson you should be able to:

- Identify descriptions of the historical background and content of the Epistles of 1 and 2 Thessalonians.
- Select facts about the historical background and content of the Epistles of 1 and 2 Corinthians.
- Choose descriptions of the teaching and historical setting of the Epistle to the Romans.

learning activities

1. Study the lesson development and complete each of the exercises. Compare your answers with those that are given and correct any that are wrong.

2. Read the letters of Paul to the Thessalonians, Corinthians, and Romans. On the maps given in Lesson 5, find the cities to which these letters were sent and any other places that are mentioned in the lesson or in your Bible reading.
3. Answer the questions given on the self-test after you have finished the lesson and reviewed it.

The Epistles which were written during Paul’s second and third missionary journeys include those of 1 and 2 Thessalonians, 1 and 2 Corinthians, and Romans and are often called the “Travel Epistles.” These letters reveal the circumstances and problems of the believers to whom Paul wrote.

1 AND 2 THESSALONIANS: LETTERS TO MACEDONIA

Objective 1. Identify descriptions of the historical background and content of the Epistles of 1 and 2 Thessalonians.

The area of Macedonia included the cities of Philippi and Thessalonica. Thessalonica was a seaport as well as a center of trade. During Paul’s lifetime its population may have been close to 200,000.

Historical Background

Sometime after the Jerusalem Council Paul set out on his second missionary journey, taking Silas with him (Acts 15:36, 40). Timothy joined them in Lystra (Acts 16:1-3), and Luke traveled with them from Troas to Philippi, where he apparently remained (Acts 16:10-40).

After a time of ministry in Philippi, Paul went on to Thessalonica, where he gained many converts. These included some Jews, several prominent women, and a large number of Gentiles. Paul had to leave Thessalonica by night. He stayed for a while in Berea and eventually arrived in Athens (Acts 17:10-15). Timothy remained in Berea and rejoined Paul in Athens later. From there Paul sent him to visit the Thessalonians (1 Thessalonians 3:1-5). After this Paul left Athens and continued on to Corinth, where he ministered for more than a year and a half (Acts 18:11).

While Paul was in Corinth, Timothy came and brought news of the church in Thessalonica (1 Thessalonians 3:6). In response to this news Paul wrote 1 Thessalonians. It appears that he received additional information not much later, and wrote 2 Thessalonians as a result (2 Thessalonians 2:2; 3:11).
Content and Outlines

In his letters to the Thessalonians Paul responded to the report and the information he had received about them. They were undergoing persecution and were confused about the second coming of Christ, for both letters refer to these subjects.

Though both letters have similar themes, however, there are differences in their content. The first letter has a full review of Paul’s relationship with the Thessalonians; the second simply has a few references. The first letter explains what will happen to those who have already died in Christ; the second describes the “man of lawlessness” who will appear before the day of the Lord comes. The first letter contains a general warning against those who are idle; the second says that those who are idle should be avoided as well as warned. Together, both letters represent the teaching that was especially needed by this group of people who had misunderstandings about the Lord’s coming and were only recently converted from paganism (1 Thessalonians 1:9). They are the first letters in which Paul discussed end-time events. Read through them, using the following outline to guide you.

1 THESSALONIANS: THE HOPE OF CHRIST’S COMING

III. Paul’s Desire to Visit the Thessalonians. Read 2:17–3:5.
V. Instructions about Christian Living. Read 4:1-12.
VI. Truths about the Lord’s Coming. Read 4:13–5:11.

Application

Circle the letter before each correct completion. More than one may be correct. The Epistle of 1 Thessalonians
a) was written when Paul was in Athens.
b) tells what will happen to those who have died in Christ.
c) shows that some of the Thessalonians were leading idle lives.
d) describes the “man of lawlessness” who will appear before the Lord returns.

2 THESSALONIANS: THE VICTORY OF CHRIST’S COMING

Application

2 The Epistle of 2 Thessalonians
a) says that the Lord Jesus will destroy the “man of lawlessness.”
b) was probably written sometime during Paul’s third missionary journey.
c) contains a specific reference to the report Timothy brought to Paul about the Thessalonians.
d) presents Paul as an example for the Thessalonians to follow in regard to working for their daily food.

1 AND 2 CORINTHIANS: LETTERS TO ACHAIA

Objective 2. Select facts about the historical background and content of the Epistles of 1 and 2 Corinthians.

The cities of Corinth and Athens were located in the area of Achaia. Corinth had been destroyed in 146 B.C. but was rebuilt by the Romans in 44 B.C. It became the capital city of the province of Achaia, and in New Testament times it was wealthy and prosperous. It was also idolatrous and immoral, for its inhabitants worshipped many gods and had a reputation for leading corrupt lives.
Background and Content of 1 Corinthians

We have previously said that Paul ministered in Corinth for more than a year and a half (Acts 18:1-18). It was at this time that the Corinthian church was founded. After this Paul returned to Antioch, and later he set out on his third missionary journey (Acts 18:23).

Paul’s third journey took him to Ephesus, where he remained for more than two years (Acts 19:8-10). While he was there he received reports about the Corinthians (1 Corinthians 1:11; 5:1; 11:18) and a letter from them containing several questions (1 Corinthians 7:1, 25; 8:1; 12:1; 16:1, 12). He may have written an earlier letter as well in response to a previous report (1 Corinthians 5:9). The reports and the letter showed that the Corinthians were in need of strong teaching about moral standards and other important Christian values. Paul then wrote 1 Corinthians, and to each problem that was raised he replied, explaining the spiritual principle that related to it.

The content of 1 Corinthians can be divided into two basic sections. In the first part, chapters 1–6, Paul dealt with the problems he learned about from the report brought to him by those who were of “Chloe’s household” (1 Corinthians 1:11). In the second part, chapters 7–16, he answered the various questions that the Corinthians wrote to him about. The letter is informal in tone. It is as if Paul were having a conversation with the Corinthians. He asks questions (1:20; 4:7). He pleads (4:14-16). He warns (4:18-21). He rebukes (5:2, 6). He teaches (12:1-6). In all of this he seeks to emphasize the fact that Christ must be Lord in every area of a Christian’s private and public life.

Application

3. Complete each of the following sentences in your notebook.
   a. Paul wrote 1 Corinthians while he was in . . .
   b. When Paul responded to the problems of the Corinthians he sought to emphasize the fact that Christ must be . . .
   c. In chapters 1–6 of 1 Corinthians Paul dealt with . . .
   d. In chapters 7–16 of 1 Corinthians Paul answered . . .
First Corinthians covers a wide variety of topics. Read through it, using the following outline as a general guide to its content.

1 CORINTHIANS: PRINCIPLES OF CHRISTIAN CONDUCT

II. The Solution to Divisions. Read 1:10–4:21.

Application

First Corinthians shows that Paul applied certain spiritual principles to the problems the Corinthians had. Match the problem (right) to each principle Paul applied to it (left). The chapters are given where the principle is applied.

...... a The church is God’s building. (3) 1) Divisions in the church

...... d The Lord’s Supper is a declaration of His death. (11) Sexual immorality
...... e The body of Christ is one with many parts. (12)

Background and Content of 2 Corinthians

While Paul was still in Ephesus he may have visited the Corinthians in order to deal personally with the problems he wrote to them about in 1 Corinthians. He seems to refer to such a visit in 2 Corinthians 2:1; 12:14, 21; and 13:1-2. If he did, apparently he was not well received. The church was still torn by rival groups and there was strong opposition to Paul by some false apostles. (2 Corinthians 10:7; 11:13). It may be that the letter he referred to in 2 Corinthians 2:3-4, 9 and 7:8-12 is one that he wrote to them after this second visit.

Paul left Ephesus and sent Titus ahead to bring back another report from Corinth. He then proceeded to Troas. Not finding Titus in Troas, as he expected, he went on to Macedonia, still deeply concerned about the Corinthians. While he was there Titus arrived with his report. It showed that there had been a change for the better in Corinth (2 Corinthians 7:6-16), although some were still opposed to Paul. This news formed the background for Paul’s writing of 2 Corinthians. He explained his situation (1:3–2:4), asked the Corinthians to be reconciled to him (6:11-13), rejoiced over the good report he had received (7:6-7), and made a defense of his apostleship (10:1–13:10). He wrote about the collection for needy brothers also, in which the Corinthians were participating (8:1–9:15).

This letter is perhaps the most personal of all of Paul’s correspondence. Because of the malicious opposition he received from certain people, it was necessary for him to defend himself and his ministry. Otherwise not only he but also the gospel would be discredited. The exact accusations are not repeated in the letter. However, we may infer what they were by studying what Paul wrote in response. He used phrases like “so many” (2 Corinthians 2:17), “some people” (3:1; 10:2), “some say” (10:10), “such people” (10:11), and “such men” (11:13) to refer to those who opposed him.

Application

5 Below are listed some of the passages in 2 Corinthians in which Paul evidently replied to certain accusations. Read each passage (right) and match it to the kind of accusation to which it would be an appropriate reply (left).

...... a  “Paul is proud and boastful”  1) 3:1-6; 11:5; 12:11-12
...... b  “Paul has no authority or letter of recommendation.”  2) 10:12-18  3) 11:7-15
...... c  “If Paul were a real apostle, he would have the church support him.”
...... d  “Paul’s apostleship is of an inferior kind.”

Now read through the entire epistle, using the following outline as a general guide to its contents.

2 CORINTHIANS: A DEFENSE OF TRUE MINISTRY

Application

6  Circle the letter before each TRUE statement. If the statement is FALSE, rewrite it in your notebook so that it is TRUE.

a  Second Corinthians was written after Paul received an encouraging report about the Corinthians from Titus.
Second Corinthians was written after Paul . .

b  The main topic of 2 Corinthians is the second coming of Christ.
The main topic of 2 Corinthians is . .

c  The Epistle of 2 Corinthians shows that Paul found it necessary to defend his ministry because false “brothers” were saying things about him that were untrue.
The Epistle of 2 Corinthians shows that Paul found it necessary to defend his ministry because . .
Both Corinthian letters demonstrate how Paul dealt with a group of people who were immature and often hostile to him. They always seemed ready to doubt his character and disregard his work among them. In spite of their attitude and lack of spirituality, however, Paul continued to care for them, expressing his deep love and concern (2 Corinthians 12:14-15).

The letters to the Corinthians reveal that many of the early Christians had serious problems. The existence of these problems is not remarkable, though. What is remarkable is that the church not only survived but also grew steadily in spite of them. This fact is a testimony to the truth that the church is not simply a human organization. It is evidence that the church is the supernatural body of Christ, brought into being, sustained, and led forward by God Himself in the person of the Holy Spirit.

ROMANS: LETTER TO ROME

Objective 3. Choose descriptions of the teaching and historical setting of the Epistle to the Romans.

The apostle Paul directed his letter to the Romans to all the Christians in Rome, the great capital city of the Roman Empire. This letter is perhaps Paul’s most important work, for in it he gave a full explanation of God’s method and provision of salvation for all men. It is profound in its teaching and clear in its application. It is worthy of careful, thorough attention.

Historical Background

As a result of the good report Titus brought about the Corinthians, Paul sent them 2 Corinthians and then resumed his third missionary journey southward. It is likely that he visited Corinth again and wrote to the Romans while he was there, since he had already made plans to go to Rome (Acts 19:21). He sent his letter to the Romans by way of Phoebe, a deaconess in the church of Cenchrea, a city close to Corinth (Romans 16:1-2). At the time Paul wrote, the church in Rome had existed for some time already, for its reputation was widespread (Romans 1:8). It had probably been started by Christians who settled there. Paul knew many of the believers by name, and some were relatives (Romans 16:3-15).
From the contents of Romans, it appears that Paul had several reasons for writing it. He hoped that the Roman Christians would help him carry out a mission to Spain (Romans 15:23-24). In addition, he was concerned that they understand the full meaning of the gospel and not be led astray by false teachers (16:17-19). This concern led him to give them a full presentation of the message of Christ, since he was not able to teach them in person.

Application

7 More than one completion may be right) When Paul wrote to the Romans he was a) living in Jerusalem.

b) planning to visit them eventually.
c) traveling on his second missionary journey.
d) probably visiting the Corinthians for the third time.

Content and Outline

Romans is a reasoned presentation of the heart of the apostle Paul’s teaching about the gospel. In this respect it is unlike several of his other epistles, which were written to correct certain specific errors of belief and conduct. To the universal problem of man’s sin Romans gives the eternal solution of God’s righteousness as revealed in Christ. Its arguments are persuasive, and its style is forceful and logical. It contains several of the most important truths about salvation including those of justification (set forth in chs. 3:21–5:21) and sanctification (taught in chs. 6:1–8:39). The theme of the book can be found in chapter one, verse sixteen:

I am not ashamed of the gospel, because it is the power of God for the salvation of everyone who believes: first for the Jew, then for the Gentile.

Paul followed this theme throughout his epistle as he explained the truths about God’s righteousness step by step.

Read Paul’s letter to the Romans, using the following outline to guide you.
ROMANS: THE REVELATION OF GOD’S RIGHTEOUSNESS

Application

The following exercise will help you remember some of the important truths taught in the book of Romans. Fourteen of these truths are stated in the following list, one for each chapter of the book of Romans from 1 through 14. In your notebook, copy the headings of the chart given, listing chapters 1-14, one chapter on each line. Next, review each chapter. Then select the sentence which states a truth specifically taught in that chapter and write it opposite the number of the chapter. The first is done to give you an example. (Remember that only one truth is given for each chapter.)

The teachings of the book of Romans have challenged the hearts and minds of Christians ever since they were written. They lift the believer out of the depths of guilt and condemnation (Romans 3:23) to the heights of future glory in Christ (8:18-21) and guide him into practical ways of expressing God’s love in his daily life (12:9-21). I hope that its message will become part of your life.

After Paul left Corinth he concluded his ministry in Achaia and Macedonia, said good-bye to the Ephesian elders in Miletus, and eventually arrived in Jerusalem (Acts 21:17-19). At the close of Paul’s third missionary journey, congregations of believers had been established in the areas of Galatia, Asia, Macedonia, and Achaia, as well as in other places. The church had grown from a small group of believers in Jerusalem into an army of thousands in cities all over the Mediterranean region. When Paul arrived in Jerusalem his circumstances changed, though. He was arrested and had to continue his ministry not as a free man traveling where he willed but as a prisoner, confined and kept under guard first in Jerusalem, then in Caesarea, and finally in Rome.

2 SHORT ANSWER. Following are given descriptions of each of the groups of believers to whom Paul wrote the letters you have studied in this lesson. Write the name of the city in which the believers lived in the space following each description.

a These believers had rival groups within their congregation. Certain people among them made false statements about Paul and his ministry.
b Some of these believers were alarmed because they heard a report that the day of the Lord had already come. Certain ones did not work and led idle, unproductive lives.

c The faith of these believers was widely known. When Paul wrote to them, he expressed a hope that they would help him undertake a mission trip to Spain.

d These believers did not behave properly when observing the Lord’s Supper. Their times of worship were disorderly also. They needed to change their conduct in both of these kinds of meetings.

For Your Notes
In Lesson 6 we studied the “Travel Epistles”—the letters Paul wrote during his missionary journeys. These letters showed us some of the difficulties experienced by new believers in areas which had been recently evangelized. They also showed us some of the personal struggles Paul had in maintaining his authority as an apostle in the face of strong opposition from false brothers.

In this lesson we will study the “Prison Epistles”—the letters of Philemon, Ephesians, Colossians, and Philippians. These are the letters Paul wrote during his imprisonment in Rome (Acts 28:17-31). They help us see what the church was like during this period of its history, and they also reveal more about the character of Paul.

Ephesians and Colossians, for example, are letters written to believers who were ready for more teaching about the person of Christ and the nature of the church. On the personal side, Philemon is an expression of Paul’s understanding of Christian brotherhood and forgiveness, and Philippians is his own spiritual self-portrait. As we study these letters, we will see how the church continued to grow and we will learn more about Paul himself and his total dedication to Jesus Christ.

lesson objectives
When you finish this lesson you should be able to:
- State facts about the arrest and imprisonment of Paul.
- Answer questions about the historical background, content, and significance of the Epistle of Philemon.
- Identify the distinctive form and state the main doctrinal teachings of the letter to the Ephesians.
- Choose statements describing the historical background and specific doctrinal emphasis of the letter to the Colossians.
- Recognize statements expressing the historical background, content, and teaching of the letter to the Philippians.
learning activities

1. Study the lesson development and answer the questions according to the regular procedure.

2. Read the Epistles of Philemon, Ephesians, Colossians, and Philippians as directed in the lesson. Find the cities of Ephesus, Colosse, and Philippi on the map of Paul’s third missionary journey which is given in Lesson 5.

3. When you have completed the lesson, review it and take the self-test. After you have done this, review Lessons 5, 6, and 7 (Unit 2). Then answer the questions on your unit student report for Unit 2. Return the answer sheet to your national ICI office or your local learning center.

Prison Epistles
In all four prison epistles Paul referred to his imprisonment or bonds (Philemon 1; Ephesians 3:1, 4:1; Colossians 1:24, 4:10; Philippians 1:12-13). Through these letters Paul continued to minister to the churches that had been established in Colosse, Philippi, and the area of Ephesus even though he was unable to visit them personally.

PAUL’S IMPRISONMENT

Objective 1. State facts about the arrest and imprisonment of Paul.

Paul arrived in Jerusalem at the end of his third missionary journey and met with the leaders there (Acts 21:17-19). He agreed to sponsor four men in a vow of purification and make a vow himself in order to show that he was not teaching Jews to completely disregard the Law of Moses (Acts 21:20-26). A few days after he had agreed to do this, he was attacked by a mob while he was in the temple in fulfillment of his vow. Some Jews from Asia had stirred up the crowd against him, saying that he had desecrated the temple by taking Gentiles into areas which were forbidden to them (Acts 21:27-29).

The uproar was so great that the Roman commander sent his soldiers to take Paul into their protection until he could find out what he had done to anger the crowd. In an effort to determine what had happened, the commander permitted Paul to defend himself. But Paul’s defense before the crowd and the Sanhedrin only served to further infuriate them. When the commander proceeded to examine Paul by scourging, he appealed to his rights as a Roman citizen. Thus the commander sent him to Caesarea to appear before the governor Felix. Felix heard his case but delayed in making a decision. Thus Paul remained in prison in Caesarea for two years. Festus, a new governor, came into office at that time, and Paul’s case was reviewed again. At this time he asked to be tried before Caesar, and he was sent to Rome.
Application

1. Review Acts 21-26 and complete the following exercises in your notebook.
   a. State the number of times in these chapters that Paul made his defense, tell who was his audience each time, and give the references where the occasions are described.
   b. When Paul appeared before the Sanhedrin, he said that he was on trial because of a certain hope he had. State what that hope was (see 23:1-10).
   c. We have said in Lesson 5 that one of Luke’s purposes in writing Acts was to show that Christianity was not an anti-Roman political movement. This purpose explains why Acts includes the accounts of times when Paul appeared before several different civil authorities who agreed that he was not doing anything contrary to Roman law. In your notebook, briefly state the opinion which was expressed regarding Paul by each of the following: 1) Claudius Lysias—23:28-29; 2) Festus—25:19; and 3) Agrippa and Festus—26:30-32.
   d. Notice that God had already revealed to Paul that he would testify in Rome (Acts 23:11). How long after this revelation did Paul actually arrive in Rome?

Luke gave us a full description of the voyage Paul made to Rome. During this voyage several notable things happened, including a storm, a shipwreck, Paul’s miraculous deliverance from a poisonous snake on the Island of Malta, and the healing of many people there (Acts 27:13–28:10). These incidents reveal additional aspects of Paul’s character and show his calm resolution and trust in God in the midst of dangerous and life-threatening situations.

After Paul arrived in Rome he was placed under house arrest (Acts 28:16). But though he was unable to travel, he had complete freedom to teach and preach about Christ (28:30-31). Acts does not tell us what was the outcome of Paul’s trial before Caesar. Probably Luke had no more information available to him about it at the time he wrote. However, from the evidence we have it appears that the four prison epistles were written during the time Paul was imprisoned in Rome. We will study the specific historical background and content of each one in the remaining part of this lesson.
Application

2 The record in Acts 21–26 of the imprisonment of Paul and his voyage to Rome shows that Paul
a) left for Rome within a few days after Felix heard his case.
b) was not able to continue teaching while he was in prison.
c) made use of the fact that he was a Roman citizen when it was helpful to his purposes.
d) was not doing anything that the Roman authorities thought was worthy of death.
e) told the men on the ship that all their lives would be spared along with his.

PHILEMON: PRACTICAL CHRISTIAN FORGIVENESS

Objective 2. Answer questions about the historical background, content, and significance of the Epistle of Philemon.

While Paul was in prison he became acquainted with Onesimus and led him to the Lord (Philemon 10). Onesimus was a slave who had run away from his master, a man whom Paul knew named Philemon. Philemon may have become a Christian while Paul was in Ephesus. It appears that his home was in Colosse (or possibly in nearby Laodicea) and that he was a member of the church where he lived (Philemon 1-2; Colossians 4:17). Paul sent Onesimus back to his master with a letter—our New Testament book of Philemon—in which he called upon Philemon to forgive Onesimus.

Philemon gives us a glimpse into the society in which many of the first Christians lived. Slavery was a common practice. Some historians have estimated that there may have been up to six million slaves in the Roman Empire during New Testament times. According to Roman law, a master could treat his slave as he wanted to. If the slave offended him, he could punish him with any degree of cruelty or even put him to death.

In some of his other letters, Paul gave instructions to slaves and masters regarding their relationships (see Ephesians 6:5-9).
But in fact the gospel introduced life-changing principles of love and brotherhood which would eventually cause Christians to stop the practice of slavery altogether. No doubt Paul realized this. As 1 Corinthians 7:21-23 shows us, he had a high regard for freedom and encouraged others to obtain freedom if they could. There is a hint in his letter to Philemon that he had an expectation that Philemon would give Onesimus his freedom (see verses 14 and 21). Nevertheless, Paul’s immediate aim in all his letters, including Philemon, was not to dictate outward social change. It was to instruct believers to live out the gospel in their present situation, regardless of what it was.

The letter to Philemon gives us a beautiful and practical example of how Christian forgiveness can be applied to a real situation in which a serious offense has been committed. It also affords us further insight into the character of the great apostle to the Gentiles. Because of Christ’s love in him, he reached out to a runaway slave, a person whom most of society would despise and consider worthless. He led him to the Lord and made intercession for him with tact and eloquence, offering to pay his debts himself. Read the letter and complete the exercise which follows.

PHILEMON: PRACTICAL CHRISTIAN FORGIVENESS

I. Paul’s Greeting. Read verses 1-3.
II. Paul’s Thanks for Philemon. Read verses 4-7.
III. Paul’s Plea for Onesimus. Read verses 8-21.
IV. Paul’s Request and Conclusion. Read verses 22-25.

Application

3 In your notebook, write a brief response to each of the following questions.
   a How had Onesimus offended Philemon?
   b How did Paul ask Philemon to treat Onesimus?
   c What was the basis of Paul’s appeal?
   d How did Paul propose for restitution to be made if it was needed?
Paul sent his personal appeal to Philemon and his letters to the church at Colosse and the churches in the area of Ephesus by way of a believer named Tychicus. Onesimus accompanied Tychicus as far as the home of his master Philemon (Colossians 4:7-9; Ephesians 6:21-22).

EPHESIANS: THE GLORIOUS CHURCH

Objective 3. Identify the distinctive form and state the main doctrinal teachings of the letter to the Ephesians.

As we have stated, Tychicus took with him the letter to the Ephesians when he went to Asia accompanied by Onesimus. This letter shows the kind of teaching Paul gave to believers who were past the beginning stages of their Christian walk and reaching out for greater maturity in their spiritual lives.

Distinctive Form

Several facts indicate that Ephesians was a letter originally designed by Paul for circulation among all the churches in the area of Ephesus. The practice of circulating letters among the churches was not unusual. In his earlier letter to the Corinthians, Paul addressed not only them but “all the saints throughout Achaia” (2 Corinthians 1:1). This implies that other churches near Corinth would read the letter as well.

Paul had spent three years in Ephesus, an important center of trade and the location of a famous temple to the goddess Artemis (Acts 19:8-10, 35; 20:31). As a result, many churches were started in the surrounding cities. While he was imprisoned, Paul responded to the needs of these churches by composing a letter which would be suitable for all of them as well as for the believers in Ephesus. His letter showed them that they were not separate, individual groups, but parts of one living organism—the universal body of Christ whose existence was planned by God before the world began.

Some of the ancient copies of Ephesians do not contain the words “in Ephesus” at the beginning. Thus the letter we have probably represents the copy which was preserved by the congregation in Ephesus. These facts explain why it bears the name of the city of Ephesus but contains no personal greetings to individuals in the church there, as was Paul’s custom. It may be that Paul had Ephesians in mind when he told the Colossians to “read the letter from Laodicea” (Colossians 4:16). This phrase would refer to his circular letter, then on its way from Laodicea to Colosse.

Content and Outline

Ephesians is similar to Romans in that it is not a response to specific church problems but a presentation of a certain doctrinal truth. But whereas in Romans the theme is God’s righteousness (or salvation), the theme in Ephesians is the universal church. Thus the teaching of Romans is particularly suitable for new Christians and that of Ephesians for those who are more mature in their faith.

In Ephesians Paul explained the origin of the church, stated the nature of its final destiny, described the behavior of its members, and outlined the character of its warfare. The truths that he expressed concerning the church are profound and far-reaching. Its members were chosen “before the creation of the world” (Ephesians 1:4). Their position is “in the heavenly realms in Christ Jesus” (2:6). Their goal is to “grow up into him who is the Head, that is, Christ” (4:15). God’s purpose in all of this is that He might show the riches of His grace and that all will contribute to the praise of His glory (1:6, 12, 14; 2:7).

After expressing these truths, Paul described how believers should live as a result of the spiritual position they have in Christ. His description is specific, practical, and inclusive. He addressed individuals (Ephesians 4:1–5:21), wives and husbands
(5:22-33), children and parents (6:1-4), and slaves and masters (6:5-9). He concluded by revealing the true nature of the church’s conflict and the secret of its victory (6:10-18).

The teachings of Ephesians help believers to understand how they fit into the eternal plan of God. That plan is that all things in heaven and on earth will be brought together under one head—Christ (Ephesians 1:10). What a privilege it is to be included in God’s plan as part of the church, the body of Christ! Paul challenged his readers to live a life worthy of the calling they had received (4:1). May we accept the same challenge and live lives which bring glory to God.

COLOSSIANS: THE SUPREMACY OF CHRIST

Objective 4. Choose statements describing the historical background and specific doctrinal emphasis of the letter to the Colossians.

Colossians was written at the same time as Ephesians. It has similar content but the emphasis is different, for in it Paul responded to certain doctrinal errors which had found their way into the church at Colosse. Tychicus took this letter with him along with the letters to Philemon and the Ephesians.

Historical Background

Colosse was a city located to the east of Ephesus. Paul received news of the Colossian church from Epaphras, who ministered there and in the cities of Laodicea and Hierapolis (Colossians 1:7-8; 4:12-13). Although Paul had never visited the Colossian church, he considered himself responsible for its spiritual welfare since it was in the area that was evangelized while he ministered in Ephesus (Acts 19:10).

It appears that Epaphras told Paul of certain errors that the Colossians were adopting. Specifically, they had begun to follow a teaching which promised that they could have a special knowledge of God. This knowledge could be obtained by those who would observe legalistic practices (Colossians 2:9-16), embrace a philosophy which included false humility and the worship of angels (2:8, 18-19), and obey certain ascetic rules (2:20-23). No doubt those who promoted this false doctrine made it sound very Christian.
The legalistic aspect of this teaching had a Jewish source similar to that which Paul had already opposed in his letter to the Galatians. The other aspects were beliefs held by some of the pagan religions of the day. In effect, the whole teaching denied Christ His rightful place as supreme in the universe and head over the church. It substituted a man-made system of human regulations and false humility for the life of true spirituality which is found in Christ.

Application

6 The Epistle to the Colossians was
a) taken to the Colossian church by Epaphras.
b) Paul’s response to news about the church in Colosse.
c) written to believers who were following a false teaching.
d) composed at the same time as the Epistle to the Romans.

Content and Outline

Paul responded to the situation in Colosse. He began his letter by reminding the Colossians that they had heard the true gospel from Epaphras (Colossians 1:7). He continued by asserting the full deity of Christ and His total sufficiency as God’s complete revelation (1:15-20; 2:2-10). He then exposed the false teaching they had adopted (2:16-19) and explained how their relationship to Christ was the key to godly living (2:20–4:6).

In all of his writing Paul sought to help the Colossians understand the supremacy of Christ, the creator of all things (1:16, 18). He made clear the great contrast between the empty philosophy which they were following and the fullness which is in Christ, in whom all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge were hidden (2:3). Paul intended for his letter to be read by the church in nearby Laodicea also (4:16). This would help prevent the believers there from following the same error.

Read through the epistle, using the following outline to guide you.

Paul’s strategy in helping the Colossians see their error was to present the glories of Christ and declare His deity and supremacy. This in itself showed up the poverty of the false teaching they had been following. He reminded them that they had been given “fullness in Christ” (2:10). Those who read his letter and accepted its message would find it impossible to continue on in their mistaken beliefs. Its message, however, is just as important for us today as it was for its original readers. Like them, we must be careful that our spiritual lives are centered on Christ. We, too, need to worship Him as the one who alone has total authority over the universe and is the supreme head of the church.

PHILIPPIANS: THE TESTIMONY OF PAUL

Objective 5. Recognize statements expressing the historical background, content, and teaching of the letter to the Philippians.

Philippians is an inspiring expression of the personal feelings and ambitions of Paul. It shows us the values and ideals which formed the basis of his ministry. This letter is evidence of the close relationship that existed between Paul and the believers to whom it was directed. They had been loyal to him from the beginning.

Historical Background

It appears that Philippians was written somewhat later than Philemon, Ephesians, and Colossians—probably toward the close of Paul’s two-year period of house arrest in Rome (Acts 28:30-31). He told the Philippians that he hoped to visit them again, which indicated that he expected to be released after his case was heard (Philippians 1:23-26). His expectation shows that his case was probably coming up for trial in the near future.

Philippi was the first city Paul visited when he went to the continent of Europe for the first time on his second missionary journey (Acts 16:6-40). It was a Roman colony and the leading city of the area. He gained several converts there, including Lydia and the Philippian jailer and their households (Acts 16:14-15, 31-34). The city apparently had very few Jews, for Luke made no mention of there being a synagogue. He did not describe any Jewish opposition, either, which Paul usually experienced in the cities where he preached. When Paul left, Luke stayed behind, probably to oversee the new group of believers. He rejoined Paul later. (Note Luke’s use of “we” and “they” in Acts 16:11-12, 40. The “we” does not appear again until Acts 20:5-6.)

Application

9 Read Philippians 4:10-18 and answer the following question in your notebook. What had the Philippians done in order to show their love and concern for Paul?

Content and Outline

Philippians allows us to see into the mind and heart of Paul in a special way. It reveals the attitude he had toward his circumstances (Philippians 1:12-18), the example he followed (2:1-12), the goals he pursued (3:7-14), and the confidence he maintained (4:12-13, 19).

In addition to these personal subjects, two other themes appear throughout the letter—that of the gospel, and that of joy and rejoicing. Though Paul was in a difficult and depressing situation, his heart was full of joy (Philippians 2:17; 4:10). Several times he encouraged the Philippians to rejoice (2:18; 3:1; 4:4). He did not dwell on the fact that he was imprisoned but focused his attention on the progress of the gospel (1:12-18). He told his readers to live worthy of the gospel (1:27), and named several who were fellow workers in the cause of the gospel (4:3).

Philippians 2:5-11 is an important passage in the letter as well. Along with John 1; Hebrews 1–2; and Colossians 1 it asserts the deity of Christ and helps us understand what took place when He became a man. As we read the verses immediately before this passage, however, we discover that Paul had a particular reason for including it.

Application

10 Read Philippians 2:1-11 and answer the following question in your notebook. Why did Paul give this description of Christ in his letter?
Read through the Epistle to the Philippians using the following outline to guide you.

PHILIPPIANS: THE TESTIMONY OF PAUL

VI. Paul’s Appeal. Read 4:2-3.
VII. Paul’s Example. Read 4:4-9.
VIII. Paul’s Thanks. Read 4:10-23.

Application

11 The letter to the Philippians
a) expresses Paul’s thanks to them for a gift they sent to help him.
b) reveals many of Paul’s personal feelings, values, and ambitions.
c) was probably written at the beginning of Paul’s two-year period of house arrest in Rome.
d) was sent to believers who knew Paul and loved him.
e) gives a detailed explanation of the doctrine of the church.

For Paul, his life and his teachings were in complete harmony. Without reservation he could tell the Philippians to follow his example and put into practice whatever they had learned from or seen in him (Philippians 3:17; 4:9). Can we do the same?

Truly for Paul to live was Christ (Philippians 1:21). His testimony shows us how much God’s grace can do in a life that is completely given to Him.

Lessons
  8  The Church Finds Solutions
  9  The Church In Conflict and Anticipation
  10 We Rely On The New Testament
In Lesson 7 we studied the Prison Epistles and saw how they revealed truths about Christ and the church and gave us insight into the character and ministry of Paul. These letters helped us see how the church became more mature during the time Paul was imprisoned in Rome.

In this lesson we will study five of the letters which were written during the years which followed Paul’s first Roman imprisonment. For the church, these years were years of continued expansion. They were also years of growing opposition. The relationship between the new faith of Christianity and the ancient religion of Judaism needed to be defined in a more conclusive way.

As the Spirit of God gave direction and wisdom, the leaders of the church responded to each of these challenges. Standards were established for church leaders. Attitudes toward persecution were clarified. The significance of Judaism was explained in the light of God’s revelation in Christ. Each of these responses represented another advance for the church. During this period it gained a fuller understanding of its unique heritage and continued to develop its own special kind of organizational structure.

lesson objectives
When you finish this lesson you should be able to:

- Identify or describe aspects of the life and teaching of Paul as shown in the Pastoral Epistles.
- Recognize facts about the author, background, and content of the letter of 1 Peter.
- Describe important aspects of the background and message of the letter to the Hebrews.

learning activities
1. Study the lesson development as usual, being sure to find each key word in the glossary and read in your Bible each Scripture passage to which reference is made.
2. Read the letters of 1 Timothy, 2 Timothy, Titus, 1 Peter, and Hebrews as directed.
3. Review the lesson after you have studied it, answered the study questions, and corrected any items you answered incorrectly. Then take the self-test and check your answers.

lesson development

We will begin our lesson by studying the last years of the life of Paul. Then we will examine the letters he wrote to Timothy and Titus, two of his associates. As we continue, we will give attention to the first letter of Peter and the letter to the Hebrews. These letters show us how the church met the problems which arose during the years which followed Paul’s first imprisonment in Rome.

RESPONDING TO GROWTH: THE LETTERS TO TIMOTHY AND TITUS

Objective 1. Identify or describe aspects of the life and teaching of Paul as shown in the Pastoral Epistles.

Paul’s letters to Timothy and Titus have been called the Pastoral Epistles because they were written to encourage and instruct these two men in their work of pastoring. They demonstrate the practical side of Paul’s wisdom and reveal how he counseled his associates and helped them face the needs of a growing church.

Paul Finishes His Race

As we have already stated, the record of Acts closes without describing the outcome of Paul’s trial in Rome or giving any further information about him. However, certain references which appear in the pastoral letters indicate that after his trial he was released for a time and was able to travel again. In 2 Timothy 4:16-17, for example, Paul wrote that the Lord stood by him in his first defense and that he was delivered “from the lion’s mouth.”

Application

Following are given references to Scriptures which name places Paul visited during his time of freedom after his first trial. Next to each reference, write the name of the place which is given in the corresponding Scripture (sometimes two are mentioned).

b Titus 1:5 ........................................................................

c Titus 3:12 ........................................................................
Of the three pastoral letters, 2 Timothy was the last to be written. Paul was back in prison again at the time it was composed, and he did not expect to live much longer (2 Timothy 4:6-7). It is probable that he was executed under the Roman emperor Nero some time around A.D. 64.

Application

2 The pastoral letters indicate that Paul
a) was confined to Rome after his first release.
b) thought he might be set free at the time he wrote 2 Timothy.
c) visited Macedonia and other places before he was imprisoned again.

The manner of Paul’s death is not known for certain, but the manner of his life is. It was one of glorious victory. He served the Savior whom he loved with total dedication ever since the momentous day when he met Him on the Damascus road. Through shipwrecks, beatings, stonings, imprisonments, and persecutions he followed his Lord. As a result, the gospel message was preached and churches were established all over the Mediterranean world. What an inspiring example he left for us!

The Ministries of Timothy and Titus

Timothy was a young man of Jewish and Gentile descent, respected by the believers who knew him (Acts 16:1-3). Paul took him along on his second missionary journey, and from then on he was Paul’s constant companion. He helped Paul during the three-year stay in Ephesus, and went with him to Jerusalem as one of the representatives from Derbe (Acts 20:4). Colossians 1:1 and Philemon 1 indicate that he was with Paul during his first Roman imprisonment. When Paul went to Ephesus after his release, he left Timothy there to oversee the work (1 Timothy 1:3). Apparently he joined Paul in Rome shortly before Paul died (2 Timothy 4:9, 21). According to Hebrews 13:23, he was also imprisoned for a time.

Titus had become a Christian in Antioch. When the controversy arose over the question of circumcising the Gentiles, Paul took Titus along with him to Jerusalem to discuss the matter with the leaders there (Galatians 2:1, 3). When difficulties arose in the Corinthian church, Paul sent him there to settle some of the problems. He was effective in this task (2 Corinthians 7:6-16). It appears that he was involved to a great extent in collecting the offerings which were made for the needy saints. Paul called him his “fellow worker,” and he was well thought of by the churches (2 Corinthians 8:6, 16-24). When Paul visited Crete after his release, he left Titus there in charge of the work until the arrival of Artemas or Tychicus (Titus 1:5, 3:12). He was probably with Paul during part of Paul’s second Roman imprisonment and later went to Dalmatia (2 Timothy 4:10).

Application

3  In front of each phrase which follows, write 1 if it describes Timothy or 2 if it describes Titus.

...... a  Helped deal with church problems in Corinth
...... b  Was left in charge of the work at Ephesus
...... c  Was of Jewish and Gentile descent
...... d  Went with Paul to Jerusalem as a representative from Derbe
...... e  Was left in charge of the work in Crete

The First Letter to Timothy

Paul went to Ephesus some time after he was released from prison. He left Timothy temporarily in charge of the work there while he continued his travels. He evidently planned to return to Ephesus, and wrote to Timothy in case he should be delayed (1 Timothy 3:14-15). No doubt he wanted Timothy to have clear guidelines for dealing with the situation in Ephesus while he was gone.
Application

4 According to 1 Timothy 1:3-4, Paul told Timothy to stay in Ephesus in order to \( a \) collect an offering for the needy saints.
\( b \) tell certain men to stop teaching false doctrine.
\( c \) visit the believers in the surrounding areas.

In addition to his opening instructions about false teachers, Paul gave Timothy directions about public worship (1 Timothy 2:1-15), church leadership (3:1-16), widows, elders, and slaves (5:1–6:2), and the rich (6:17-19). He also advised him about his personal spiritual life and the conduct of his ministry (1:18-20; 4:1-16; 6:3-16, 20-21). His letter shows the close relationship he had with Timothy. Yet his manner was unashamedly authoritative. Several times he reminded his younger associate of his spiritual heritage (1:18; 4:14; 6:12, 20). Perhaps he sensed that Timothy, left in a difficult situation, was especially in need of encouragement in his work and renewal in his calling.

Read through Paul’s first letter to Timothy, using the following outline to guide you.

II. Directions Concerning Church Order. Read 2:1–3:16.
III. Special Advice. Read 4:1-16.
V. Final Charges. Read 6:3-21.

Application

5 Review Paul’s charge to Timothy in 1 Timothy 6:11-16 and answer each of the following questions in your notebook.
\( a \) What was Timothy to flee (see 6:3-10)?
\( b \) What was Timothy to pursue or follow (v. 11)?
\( c \) What was Timothy to fight (v. 12)?
\( d \) What was Timothy to hold or keep (vv. 12, 14)?
The ministerial ideals and the practical guidelines which Paul outlined in 1 Timothy are as relevant for the man of God today as they were for Timothy when he first received them. They should be carefully studied by every person who wants to faithfully serve the Lord.

THE LETTER TO TITUS

It appears that Paul went to Crete soon after he wrote his first letter to Timothy (Titus 1:5). Evidently there were already many believers on the island. Perhaps they had heard the gospel message from pilgrims who were in Jerusalem on the Day of Pentecost (Acts 2:11). After a time of ministry among these believers, Paul continued his travels, leaving Titus behind to finish organizing the work on the island (Titus 1:5). The task of Titus, thus, was somewhat different from that of Timothy, who was left in charge of a work which had already been organized.

The content of Titus is similar to that of 1 Timothy. There are instructions for choosing leaders (Titus 1:5-9), directions for dealing with false teachers (1:11, 13; 3:10), and personal admonitions for Titus (2:7-8, 15).

However, Titus contains a more specific emphasis on the importance of correct or sound doctrine in the life of the church. The phrase “sound doctrine” indicates the truth concerning Christ. This truth was sound, or correct, and was not like the erroneous or unsound doctrine of the false teachers.

Application

6 In your notebook, write a brief answer to each of the following questions.
   a According to Titus 1:9, what must an elder or overseer be able to do?
   b According to Titus 2:1, what was Titus to teach?
Read through the letter to Titus, using the following outline to guide you.

TITUS: DIRECTIONS FOR A CHURCH LEADER

II. Appointing Elders. Read 1:5-16.

V. Closing Instructions. Read 3:12-15.

Application

7 Review Titus 2:11-14 and 3:4-7. These two passages state several important truths in just a few sentences. Refer to them as you complete each of the following statements. Write each statement in your notebook.

a (2:13) Our blessed hope is the . . .

b (2:14) Christ gave Himself to . . .

c (3:5) God saved us because of . . .

d (3:5) God saved us through the . . .

e (3:7) We are justified by . . .

f (3:7) We have the hope of . . .

Though the book of Titus is short, it is a valuable handbook for Christian workers. A knowledge of its principles and instructions is a sound foundation for those who wish to build up the body of Christ.

The letters of 1 Timothy, Titus, and 1 Peter (which you will study later), show that the groups of believers had developed more definite patterns of organization. Leaders such as overseers and deacons are mentioned more often in these letters than in those written previously. Their qualifications are described.

Application

8 In your notebook, briefly describe the requirements of a leader in regard to each of the following. Review the Scripture passages whose references are listed to help you state your answers.

a His relationship to his wife and her character (1 Timothy 3:1, 11-12; Titus 1:6)
The Second Letter to Timothy

Timothy was no longer in Ephesus at the time he received Paul’s second letter to him (2 Timothy 4:12). He was probably engaged in evangelistic work in Macedonia or Asia. Paul’s circumstances had changed also. He was in prison again (2 Timothy 1:8; 2:9).

The New Testament descriptions of the trials and imprisonments of Paul seem to show that there was a gradual shift in the attitude of the Roman government towards Christianity. At first, Roman officials were indifferent (Acts 18:14-17). Then they were tolerant (Acts 26:30-32). But then tolerance became hostility, for history shows that many Christians suffered for their faith during the persecutions which began under the Roman emperor Nero in A.D. 64. It may be that Paul was one of these. He told Timothy that he was prepared to face death (2 Timothy 4:6).

The letter of 2 Timothy is a mixture of advice, warning, exhortation, request, and personal reminiscence. As a departing senior officer would instruct the junior officer who was about to succeed him, so Paul instructed Timothy. He encouraged him to be faithful (2 Timothy 1:1-14). He challenged him to be a good workman (2:14-26). He told him about the difficult times which he saw approaching (3:1-9), and he charged him to perform all the duties of his ministry (3:10–4:8). Alone except for Luke, he longed for his “dear son” to come to him and bring him some of the belongings he had left in Troas. (4:9-22).

RESPONDING TO PERSECUTION: THE FIRST LETTER OF PETER

Objective 2. Recognize facts about the author, background, and content of the letter of 1 Peter.

During the years which followed Paul’s first imprisonment in Rome, the church began to experience increasing persecution. The apostle Peter responded to this situation by writing a letter to some of the believers who were undergoing severe tests and trials.
Author

Peter was one of the three disciples who were closest to the Lord (Matthew 26:37; Luke 9:28). At times he displayed great spiritual insight (Matthew 16:13-17), but at other times he failed miserably (Matthew 16:21-23; 26:69-75). As Jesus had prophesied, however, he changed from an unstable disciple into a steadfast apostle (Matthew 16:18; Luke 22:31-32). We have discovered from our study of the book of Acts that he was a prominent leader in the church and a powerful witness and preacher of the gospel. Like Paul, he traveled widely (1 Corinthians 9:5). And like Paul also, he may have died a martyr’s death in Rome some time after Nero began to persecute the Christians.

Background and Content

Peter wrote the letter of 1 Peter to believers in Asia who were experiencing a time of trial and suffering (1 Peter 1:1, 6; 3:14; 4:12-19). When Peter wrote, Mark had apparently already visited the area, for Peter gave his greeting to the readers (1 Peter 5:13). This indicates that the letter was written sometime after Paul’s first Roman imprisonment, for at that time Mark was planning a visit to the area but had not yet done so (Colossians 4:10).

Though Peter had not met these believers personally, he was aware of their difficulties. Perhaps Mark had described their situation to him. There is no specific information about how they first heard the gospel. However, it is likely that they became Christians as a result of Paul’s ministry in Ephesus (Acts 19:10). Peter’s reference to the “elders” among them is evidence that they were organized into churches (1 Peter 5:1). It is possible that their sufferings were associated with the persecutions which took place under Nero, for Peter said that others were also suffering (1 Peter 5:9).

In his letter, Peter encouraged his readers and reminded them to face their enemies with a Christlike spirit (1 Peter 2:20-23). He contrasted the temporary nature of their earthly suffering with the eternal reality of heavenly glory (1:6-7; 5:10). He stated the nature of the hope they could have in the midst of their trials (1:1-12). He reminded them of their spiritual calling (1:13–2:3). He explained their position as God’s chosen people (2:4-12). He instructed them regarding their relationships with civil authorities and each other (2:13–3:7). He exhorted them to continue to do what was right (3:8-22). He described the attitude they should have if they were called upon to suffer for Christ’s sake (4:1-19). He gave counsel to the elders and young men among them, and told everyone to trust in God (5:1-14).

Read the first letter of Peter, using the following outline to guide you.

1 PETER: COUNSEL FOR THE SUFFERING

II. Our Costly Redemption. Read 1:13–2:3.

III. Our Privileged Position. Read 2:4-12.

Application

- The letter of 1 Peter
  - says that believers need to obey human authorities.
  - was addressed to believers who lived in Macedonia.
  - lists the qualifications for elders.
  - presents Christ as an example to follow when suffering.
  - was probably written sometime after Paul’s first Roman imprisonment.
  - does not have any instructions for leaders to follow.

No doubt the first believers who read the letter of 1 Peter were greatly encouraged and comforted by its message of hope. And what a striking testimony it was to the power of God in the life of its author, the apostle Peter. He who once denied his Lord became one who strengthened his brothers (Luke 22:32). Today we too receive strength from the words the Holy Spirit inspired him to write.
RESPONDING TO JUDAISM: THE LETTER TO THE HEBREWS

Objective 3. Describe important aspects of the background and message of the letter to the Hebrews.

Our study of Acts and Galatians has shown us that at first many Jewish Christians found it difficult to understand and adapt to the changes brought about by the work of Christ. The Judaizers insisted upon circumcision for the Gentiles, and Paul had to oppose them and defend the true gospel. It appears that other Jewish Christians continued to cling to the temple, its rituals, and the Jewish way of life in general. The author of Hebrews directed his letter to believers such as these.

Author and Background

The exact identity of the author of Hebrews is unknown, for the letter does not mention the name of the writer, and there is no definitive information available about who he might have been. However, the early church eventually concluded that it did bear the marks of apostolic authorship and included it in the Canon. Certain bible scholars have suggested Paul, Barnabas, and Apollos (and others) as possible authors. However, the form and content of the letter do not point conclusively to any one of these. We do know that the author wanted to visit the people to whom he wrote and that he knew Timothy (Hebrews 13:19, 23). It appears that he was not one of the original disciples (2:3). His teaching, though, agrees completely with that of the apostles, and it bears the unmistakable mark of divine inspiration throughout.

The name of the Epistle indicates that it was written to Jewish Christians. Since no city is mentioned, we do not know where these Christians lived. Rome and Jerusalem have been suggested as two of the most likely places (see Hebrews 13:24). The Epistle was probably written sometime in the late sixties before the destruction of Jerusalem and the temple in A.D. 70.
Application

Read Hebrews 2:3-4 and 10:32-34. These passages indicate that the Christians to whom Hebrews was written
a) received the gospel from those who heard it directly from the Lord.
b) were new Christians facing persecution for the first time.
c) had already suffered for their faith in Christ.

Content and Outline

The writer of Hebrews was aware that those to whom he wrote were beginning to draw back from identifying themselves fully with Christ. He saw that they were displaying a tendency to choose the temple and its familiar ritual over obedience to the revelation which God made through His Son. He wrote his letter to show them the grave danger of their position and explain the superiority of Christ and His work over all the ceremonies and institutions of the Law.

He demonstrated how Christ was greater than the angels (1:1–2:18), Moses (3:1–4:13), and Aaron (4:14–7:28). He continued by describing how the new agreement was better than the old (8:1–9:28) and how the sacrifice of Christ was the only one that could take away sin (10:1-31). He concluded by illustrating the necessity of faith (10:32–12:29) and giving practical ways in which his message could be applied (13:1-25). Woven into his letter are several warnings (such as the one given in 2:1-4) and thirteen exhortations beginning with the words “let us” (see for example 4:1, 16 and 12:1). Look for these warnings and exhortations as you read the letter.

Application

13 Following are listed the references to six warnings which are found in Hebrews. Review each warning and match its reference (right) to the phrase which best expresses its content (left).

...... a Do not turn away from God in unbelief. 1) 2:1-4
...... b Do not reject the Son of God. 2) 3:7-19

...... d Do not ignore the salvation Christ has made. 4) 5:11–6:12
...... e Do not be disobedient. 5) 10:19-31
...... f Do not continue to be immature. 6) 12:25-29

As we have seen, the letter of Hebrews contains many precious truths about Christ and His work. Its message was important for the Jewish Christians to whom it was directed, and it is important for us today. Like them, we need to realize that Christ is our great high priest, the one to whom all the rituals and ceremonies of Judaism pointed. Like them, we too have a race marked out for us. Let us run it with perseverance, keeping our eyes fixed upon Jesus (Hebrews 12:1-2). How wonderful it is to know that He is continually interceding for us before the Father, even at this very hour. (7:25). He helped those early Christians face the challenges of growth and opposition, and showed them truths about their spiritual heritage. Through His Word He can give wisdom and guidance to believers today regardless of the problems or needs they may have.

In Lesson 8 we studied the letters of 1 and 2 Timothy, Titus, 1 Peter, and Hebrews. These letters showed us how the church developed in its structure, learned how to respond to persecution, and gained a clearer understanding of its relationship to Judaism. In this lesson we will study the letters which were written in the following years, the years after the death of Paul. In many ways these were difficult years for the young church. False teachers arose to challenge the foundational truths of Christianity. Persecution became more intense. Some believers yielded to the growing temptation to compromise with the world.

But again the Spirit of God gave wisdom and direction. Through the letters written by Peter, Jude, and John, believers were warned about false doctrine. Through the book of Revelation they were encouraged to remain faithful to Christ in spite of severe suffering and were given a magnificent vision of His glorious return and complete victory. As you study this lesson you will learn many facts which will help you understand these books. You will discover that they have a powerful message for us today. We face similar kinds of false doctrines and temptations, and we are much closer to the fulfillment of the prophecies of Revelation than the believers who first read them.

We will first study the books which spoke against the internal enemy of the early church: false doctrine. Then we will consider the unique features of the book of Revelation and its wonderful message of hope and triumph.

THE CHURCH OPPOSES ERROR: THE LETTERS OF 2 PETER, JUDE, AND 1, 2, 3 JOHN

Objective 1. Recognize statements describing the background and content of 2 Peter, Jude, 1, 2, 3 John and the false doctrines against which they were written.

Paul had already warned the Ephesian elders, Timothy, and Titus that evil men would arise and teach things that were untrue (Acts 20:29-30; 2 Timothy 4:3-4; Titus 1:10-11). In the letters of 2 Peter, Jude, and 1, 2, 3 John we see how other leaders of the church responded to the specific kinds of errors which appeared.

The Letter of 2 Peter

The letter of 2 Peter was probably written sometime between A.D. 65–67. Its content indicates that Peter wrote it to the same believers to whom he sent 1 Peter (2 Peter 1:1; 3:1). It appears that their situation had changed, however. They were now in more danger from false teachers on the inside than persecution on the outside.

In his letter Peter drew a contrast between the true knowledge of Christ and the heresies of the false teachers. He described to his readers the completeness of this knowledge and its origin (2 Peter 1:1-21). He warned them about the evil character and destructive doctrines of the false teachers (2:1-22). He prophesied the unbelieving attitude some would take towards the coming of the day of the Lord (3:1-7). He concluded by exhorting his readers to prepare themselves for that day by living godly lives (3:8-18). The believers who accepted the message Peter presented would be equipped to identify the false teachers in their midst and avoid being deceived by them.
Read through the letter, using the following outline to guide you.

2 PETER: TRUE CHRISTIAN KNOWLEDGE

Application

1. According to 2 Peter 2:1-2, the false teachers would
   a) openly introduce their heresies.
   b) not gain any followers.
   c) deny the Lord who bought them.

2. Peter said that the false teachers would invent stories in order to take advantage of the believers (2 Peter 2:3). He said that he did not follow invented stories but that he was an......................... of the majesty of the Lord. He also said that we have the ......................... of the prophets which came by men who spoke ......................... (See 2 Peter 1:16, 19, 21.)

3. Second Peter 3:1-13 gives several important facts about the day of the Lord. According to those verses
   a) the day of the Lord has not come yet because God wants to give men time to repent.
   b) those who scoff at the promise of the day of the Lord do so out of ignorance.
   c) everyone will be expecting the Lord to return.

The letter of 2 Peter serves as a solemn warning to any person who tries to destroy the church from within. It declares that the day of judgment for false teachers will certainly come (2 Peter 3:12-13, 17). It also serves as an important reminder to us to be ready for the coming of the Lord and to make every effort to be found spotless, blameless, and at peace with him” (3:14).

The Letter of Jude

The writer of Jude was also called Judas; he was the brother of James and the half-brother of Jesus (see Matthew 13:55; Mark 6:3; Jude 1, but note that he is not the same person as the Judas son of James who is mentioned in Acts 1:13). After the Resurrection he believed in Christ and was among those who received the Spirit on the Day of Pentecost (John 7:5; Acts 1:14). Later on he traveled on missionary journeys as did the other brothers of the Lord (1 Corinthians 9:5).

Jude has a very close similarity to parts of 2 Peter (compare 2 Peter 3:3 with Jude 18). It may be that Jude saw Peter’s letter and felt the need to send a similar letter to a group of believers he knew who were facing the same kind of difficulties. Apparently he had found out that false teachers had secretly entered their assembly. He wrote to them in haste to warn them, interrupting another project to do so (Jude 3-4). The letter does not mention the place where these believers lived; Bible scholars have suggested Jerusalem and Antioch as possibilities. It is likely that Jude wrote it sometime after 2 Peter was circulated and before the fall of Jerusalem in A.D. 70. In his letter he described the present behavior and future judgment of the false teachers (vv. 1-16) and told the believers how they should respond to the situation (vv. 17-25).

Read the letter, using the following outline to guide you.

JUDE: DEALING WITH APOSTASY

I. The Dangerous Presence of False Teachers. Read verses 1-4.

II. The Description of False Teachers. Read verses 5-16.

III. The Response to False Teaching. Read verses 17-25.

Application

In your notebook briefly describe the characteristics of the false teachers. The verse references are given to help you.

- a (4) How did these men enter into the church?
- b (4) For what did they exchange the grace of God?
- c (4) Whom did they deny?
- d (8) What did they reject?
- e (16) What did they boast about?
- f (19) What did they lack?
Jude told the believers to do several things in response to their situation. Complete each instruction by choosing the correct ending (right) and writing its number in front of the beginning phrase (left).

......a Contend for the . . . 1) Holy Spirit
......b Remember the . . . 2) People who doubt
......c Pray in the . . . 3) Faith given to the saints
......d Keep yourselves in the . . . 4) Love of God
......e Have mercy on and rescue the . . . 5) Prophecy of the apostles

Like 2 Peter, Jude is also a solemn warning against those who pervert the gospel and try to lead believers astray. It reminds us today that we should not be surprised when such men appear. As Jude directs, we should meet the situation by holding firmly to the truths of the gospel and reaching out in mercy to those who have been deceived. God can also keep us from falling and give us a victorious entrance into His presence.

The Letters of 1, 2, and 3 John

We have seen that Peter and Jude warned their readers against scoffers who said that the day of the Lord was not going to come and boastful men who lived lives of immorality. As time went on, other deceivers arose among the believers. They said that Christ had not really come in the flesh (2 John 7). The three letters of John were written to instruct believers who were being exposed to the false doctrine of these evil men and to teach them truths about salvation and Christian living as well.

John, the Eyewitness

The author of 1, 2, and 3 John was the apostle John, the same person who wrote the Gospel of John and the book of Revelation. Certain historical writings indicate that he went to Ephesus after the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70. He ministered there and in the surrounding area until he was exiled to the island of Patmos during the latter part of the reign of the Roman emperor Domitian (A.D. 81–96). Apparently he was released after the death of Domitian and returned to the area of Ephesus to continue ministering there. The three Epistles were probably written sometime between A.D. 85–90 and sent first to churches and believers in Asia among whom John had worked. As an eyewitness of the life of Christ and His close friend, he spoke out with great authority against those who denied Him and His coming in the flesh.

The False Teachers

The false teachers against whom John warned the believers did not acknowledge the truth that Christ had actually become a man. In their view, matter was evil and spirit was good. They taught that it was unthinkable for God, who was good, to become a real human being and thus unite Himself with physical matter. Some of them said that Christ only seemed to be real, that the disciples saw a ghost or a phantom. Others said that a “Christ spirit” came upon the human Jesus at his baptism and left Him before His crucifixion. Both of these ideas denied the truth that Jesus Christ was God manifested in the flesh.

Some of these false teachers also believed that a person must strive to escape from the realm of the material into the spiritual by obtaining a special kind of knowledge. This false teaching came to be called Gnosticism. In contrast to these false ideas, John described the true knowledge which gave assurance of eternal life (see 1 John 2:3; 3:10, 14; and 5:20, for example). He asserted the full divinity and humanity of Christ (1 John 1:1-2; 2:22-23).

The Letter of 1 John

John was a purposeful writer. In his Gospel account he stated that he wrote his book so that men would believe on Christ and receive life (John 20:31). In the letter of 1 John he said that he wrote what he did so that men would know that they had eternal life (1 John 5:13). These two purposes are closely related; John wanted to help believers understand their new relationship to God and gain assurance of salvation. The truths he presented about Christ gave answers to the doubts raised by the false teachers.
Application

6 In your notebook make a chart like the following. Read each Scripture listed. Opposite each reference, briefly state the truth the portion presents. In the last column, write a 1 if the truth presented opposes the false idea that Christ did not come in the flesh. Write a 2 if the truth presented opposes the false idea that Jesus was not the Son of God (the Christ). The first one is completed to give you an example.

Along with teaching truths about Christ, John emphasized the certainty and assurance a believer can have. He stated the basis of his own knowledge (1 John 1:1-4). He explained the importance of walking in the light (1:5–2:14) and warned the believers against loving the world and being deceived by the antichrists (2:15-27). He also told them how they could know they were children of God (2:28–3:10) and described how they could know that they were in the truth and recognize those who were not (3:11–4:6). He commanded them to love each other (4:7-21) and gave them assurance regarding their relationship to God (5:1-21). Read the letter using the following outline as a general guide to its contents.

1 JOHN: ASSURANCE FOR THE BELIEVER

III. Assurance by Possessing God’s Anointing. Read 2:15-29.

IV. Assurance by Doing Right. Read 3:1-10.

VII. Assurance by Acknowledging Christ. Read 4:7-21.
VIII. Assurance by Observing God’s Commands. Read 5:1-12.

Application

7 Circle the letter in front of each TRUE statement.
a John wrote his Gospel and letters from the standpoint of one who knew Jesus from the testimony of others.
b The false teachers John warned against did not believe that Christ had come in the flesh.
c The letters of John show that the main problem among the believers to whom he wrote was whether or not the Gentiles should be circumcised.

The Letters of 2 and 3 John

Second and 3 John are short, personal notes which John intended to follow up with face-to-face visits (2 John 12; 3 John 13-14). Second John was directed to a “chosen lady and her children” (2 John 1). This phrase might have referred to a certain woman and her children. It also could have meant a church and its members (see Paul’s use of “mother” in Galatians 4:26, for example). Since the letter closes by mentioning a “chosen sister,” the second possibility may be the more likely. In any case, John’s concern is evident: he wanted the believers to walk in truth and love (vv. 1-6) and to completely reject the antichrists who denied the fact that Jesus Christ had come in the flesh (vv. 7-13). Read the letter and complete the exercise which follows.

2 JOHN: WALK IN TRUTH AND LOVE

I. Obey God’s Command to Love. Read verses 1-6.

Application

8 According to 2 John 9–10, are believers required to give hospitality to everyone? Explain your answer.
The letter of 3 John was directed to John’s friend Gaius. It also deals with the subject of hospitality. In this case, however, the hospitality John had in mind was the kind which should be shown to Christian brothers. Apparently there were certain men who were traveling for the sake of Christ (3 John 7). Diotrephes, evidently the leader of the church of which Gaius was a member, refused to help these men (vv. 9-10). Demetrius may have been one of the traveling brothers who took John’s letter to Gaius.

In his letter John commended Gaius for being hospitable to the brothers who were traveling (3 John 1–8). He said that he would expose the hindering activities of Diotrephes (vv. 9-10). He encouraged Gaius in his Christian life and recommended Demetrius to him (vv. 11-14). Read the letter and complete the exercise which follows.

3 JOHN: PRACTICE CHRISTIAN HOSPITALITY
I. Praise for a Faithful Host Read verses 1-8.
II. Warning to a Proud Enemy. Read verses 9-10.
III. Commendation of a Good Worker. Read verses 11-14.

Application

According to 3 John 8, those who show hospitality to believers who travel for the sake of Christ

The letters of 1, 2, and 3 John give us a glimpse into the heart of the disciple “whom Jesus loved” (John 21:20). For him, truth and love were inseparable. Those who knew the truth were those who loved, and those who loved were those who knew the truth. He had the highest standards for both. Each of them found its complete expression in the person of Christ Himself (1 John 4:16; 5:20).

Together the books of 2 Peter, Jude, and the three Epistles of John form a strong defense against false doctrines and wrong practices. They help us understand some of the problems which arose in the church during the first century and how the leaders responded to them. In addition, they show us that it is important for believers not only to know the truth but also to test those who profess to be teachers in order to see if they are true followers of Christ.

THE CHURCH ANTICIPATES THE RETURN OF CHRIST: THE BOOK OF REVELATION

Objective 2. Identify aspects of the historical setting, literary features, and overall message of the book of Revelation.

The book of Revelation is a fitting climax to the New Testament (and to the entire Bible). It states that Jesus Christ, the Savior who was born in obscurity and rejected by men, will one day return to the earth in great power and glory as its rightful king. It leaves no doubt that all of God’s purposes will be fulfilled. We will study its background, special features, content, and interpretation.

Background

The Jews of Palestine were in continual rebellion against their Roman rulers. When this rebellion increased and became widespread during the late 60’s, Roman soldiers moved in to crush it. Galilee was subdued. Then the city of Jerusalem was surrounded and besieged. Within its walls many thousands of Jews died of starvation and disease. Thousands more were killed by the Romans. Finally, after resisting the Romans for several years, Jerusalem fell in A.D. 70. The magnificent temple was destroyed, leaving not one stone upon another as Jesus had prophesied (Matthew 24:2). Years before He had warned His followers to flee from the city when certain events took place (Matthew 24:15-25). John the apostle may have been among those who left before it was too late. As we have already mentioned, it appears that he went to Ephesus in A.D. 69 or 70 and worked there and in the surrounding areas.

During the years after the fall of Jerusalem the Roman attitude towards the Christians changed from suspicion to hatred. This hatred was first expressed by Nero, who accused the Christians of burning Rome in A.D. 64 and killed many of them. Later it took other forms. Christians, who earlier had been instructed to submit themselves to governing authorities (Romans 13:1), now found that it was impossible to obey these authorities.

The emperor Domitian (A.D. 81–96) insisted that he be worshipped as a god, and those who refused to do so were persecuted. Quite possibly John was one of these. This may have been the reason why he was exiled to the island of Patmos during the latter part of Domitian’s reign (Revelation 1:9). While he was there God gave him a message for the believers in Asia who were being oppressed by the tyrannical Roman state. God’s message was not just for them, however, for it contains a vision of Christ and His final victory that every Christian needs to see.

Application

Complete the following by writing in the correct word or phrase. It appears that after the destruction of .................. John ministered in the area of .................. until he was .................. to the island of .................. during the reign of Domitian. At the time John wrote Revelation, the Roman attitude towards Christianity was one of .................. Christians could not obey the emperor Domitian because he commanded them to ..................

Special Features

John expressed the message he received in a form of writing called apocalyptic (the book of Daniel in the Old Testament has this same form in some parts). In this type of writing, objects are often used to represent other things. For example, John saw Christ among seven golden lampstands (Revelation 1:12-13). A few verses later we read that these golden lampstands represent the seven churches to whom John was told to write (1:10-11, 20). In apocalyptic writing certain numbers, too, may have another meaning. For example, the number seven often speaks of completeness. The fact that seven churches are addressed (1:11) means that the message is not just for them but for the entire church as well. The fact that there are seven seals, trumpets, and plagues (bowls) means that God’s judgments and purposes for the earth will be completed (see 6:1; 8:2; 15:1; 16:1).

In addition to having some apocalyptic features, Revelation is also closely connected with the writings of the Old Testament. There is no doubt that John was thoroughly familiar with them. In his book there are more than 275 references to various Old Testament Scriptures. However, John did not merely quote from the Old Testament. He combined the images and pictures used there in new ways which powerfully convey the prophetic truths which the Spirit of God revealed to him.

Application

11 Compare the description of the tree of life in Genesis 2:9; 3:22-24; and Revelation 22:1-2, and answer the following questions in your notebook.

a Genesis 3:22-24 tells us that Adam and Eve were not allowed to eat of the tree of life after they sinned. What did John say about the tree of life in Revelation 22:2?

a Blessed is the one who reads the words of this prophecy (1:3).

b Before the throne, seven lamps were blazing. These are the seven spirits of God (4:5).

c And I saw a beast coming out of the sea. He had ten horns and seven heads (13:1).

d Behold, I am coming soon! My reward is with me (22:12).

Content and Outline

The content of the book of Revelation can be divided into four sections which contain the four main visions that John had. Each of these visions begins with the phrase “in the Spirit” (Revelation 1:10; 4:2; 17:1-3; 21:9-10).
In the first vision (Revelation 1:10–3:22) John saw Christ among the churches. John was acquainted with these churches, for they were in the area of Ephesus in Asia Minor where he ministered after he left Jerusalem. Christ gave John messages that were especially suitable for these churches, revealing to each one a certain aspect of His character. To the church of Smyrna, for example, He spoke as “the First and the Last” (2:8). To the church at Laodicea He spoke as “the faithful and true witness” (3:14).

In the second vision (Revelation 4:1–16:21), John saw the throne of God in heaven and Christ as the Lamb who was worthy to open the scroll which God had in His hand. John described the content of each seal of the scroll. The seventh seal included the seven trumpets. These were followed by seven plagues or bowls of wrath. The events associated with the seals, trumpets, and plagues portray aspects of God’s judgment of the earth and His will for the redeemed. Christ is shown in this vision as the one who has the authority to set God’s purposes in motion.

In the third vision (Revelation 17:1–21:8) John saw Christ as the conqueror of the evil kings of the earth and their armies. He heard the lament over Babylon and saw its destruction. He saw, too, the final doom of Satan, the judgment of the dead, and the new heavens and the new earth. This third vision shows Christ as the triumphant one, the one who brings world history to its final conclusion.

In the fourth vision John saw the bride of Christ—the new Jerusalem (Revelation 21:9–22:5). In this vision Christ is shown as the temple and light of the city, the home of all those whose names are written in His book of life.

Read the book of Revelation, using the following outline to guide you.

REVELATION: THE VICTORIOUS CHRIST
I. Introduction: Greetings and Praise. Read 1:1-8
Read 17:1–21:8.

V. Fourth Vision: Christ Reigns on His Throne.

Application

13 In your notebook, write a brief answer to each of the following questions on the four visions in the book of Revelation. The chapter references are given to help you.

a. First vision: In His message to the seven churches, to whom did Christ make His promises each time (chs. 2-3)?

b. Second vision: Why was Christ worthy to open the scroll (ch. 5)?

c. Third vision: How many angels were necessary to bind Satan and cast him into the Abyss (ch. 20)?

d. Fourth vision: Who will be able to enter the Holy City (ch. 21)?

Meaning

Because of its form and subject material the book of Revelation is difficult to understand. Through the years godly men have held differing (and sometimes opposing) opinions regarding its meaning. We will examine the four most important interpretations of its content. Then we will consider the message the book had for its original readers and the message it has for today.

Four Interpretations

The preterist school of thought holds that the book of Revelation relates only to the immediate time in which it was written. According to this view, the book has no prophetic significance for the future. It is simply a vivid picture of the struggle the church had with the godless power of Rome. This view is good in that it presents the significance the book would have had for its original readers. It is weak because it does not account for many of the events John saw which have not yet occurred, such as the reign of Christ with the martyrs (Revelation 20:4-6).

The idealist school of thought believes that Revelation is a symbolic picture of the ongoing conflict between good and evil.
Those who hold this view say that the real purpose of the book is to reveal the character of God and the power of Christ as Savior. This is an important purpose. However, the idealist school is in error because it does not believe that the symbols of the book may also point ahead to specific events in the future. It ignores the fact that many biblical prophecies given in symbolic form have already been fulfilled, such as some of those in Ezekiel and Daniel.

The historicial school sees the symbols of the book of Revelation as a forecast of church history from the Day of Pentecost until the return of Christ. In this view, the symbols of the book are linked to historical events that affect the church, some of which have already taken place. (For example, the seals, such as those described in chapter 6, are interpreted as signifying the fall of the Roman Empire, the first-century persecutor of the Christians.) Those who hold this view have many disagreements among themselves because their method allows a symbol to stand for any one of several events or individuals. Therefore it is impossible for them to arrive at any definite understanding of the message of the book.

The futurist school maintains that most of the visions given to John concern future events. Those described in chapters 4–19 will take place within a period of a few years shortly before the return of Christ. This period is called the “Great Tribulation.” In this view, for example, the beast of chapter 13 represents the world government and the prostitute (Babylon) of chapter 17 presents the false religion which will exist at the time Christ returns. Some futurists say that the seven churches of chapters 2 and 3 represent seven eras of church history as well as the seven actual churches to whom John wrote.
Application

14 Match the interpretation (right) to each description or example of it (left).

......a The events in Revelation are like a calendar of church history from the Day of Pentecost until the return of Christ.
1) Preterist  2) Idealist  3) Historicist  4) Futurist

......b All the events described in Revelation came to pass shortly after it was written.

......c The fall of Babylon in chapter 18 will occur shortly before Christ returns.

......d The locusts in chapter 9 are symbolic of evil in the ageless war of good and evil.

......e The two witnesses in chapter 11 will prophesy during the Great Tribulation.

Many Christians are convinced that most of the book of Revelation should be interpreted according to the futurist view, especially chapters 4–22. The futurist interpretation is probably the best approach, because it allows the prophecies of Revelation to be harmonized with other prophecies of the Bible. Those who hold it can show how the prophecies of Revelation expand the meaning of the previous prophecies.

For example, in Daniel 7:13 and Acts 1:11 we read that Jesus will return to earth. The futurist interpretation says that various passages in Revelation, such as Revelation 19:11-21, give us more details about how He will return and what will happen when He does. In addition, the futurist interpretation shows us that John’s vision of the coming of Christ, the resurrection of the dead, and the final separation of the saved and the lost do not simply represent ideas but portray real events which will actually take place.

Message for Then and Now

For the churches in Asia Minor the book of Revelation contained a message of encouragement and exhortation. The seven letters reveal that some believers were tolerating false doctrine and becoming careless and indifferent towards spiritual things (Revelation 2:4, 14-16, 20; 3:1-3, 15-18). Christ exhorted these believers to respond to His discipline and renew their dedication to Him. The letters also show that some believers were experiencing severe persecution (2:3, 9, 13). The prophecies of the book encouraged them by showing them that God would one day punish the wicked and reward the faithful. Certain symbols in Revelation were probably recognized by these believers as pointing to familiar events or persons. For example, it is likely that they saw in the beast of chapter 13 a picture of the Roman state which was persecuting them. They learned that their prayers and sufferings were known to God (6:9-11; 8:4; 14:13). They found that the martyrs would reign with Christ (20:4), and that God Himself would wipe away all tears (21:3-4). Through the prophecy they were told that they needed to be patient and faithful, for God would punish the beast (Revelation 13:10; 20:10).

The book of Revelation also has a message for us, because it was intended for the whole church. We should receive and respond wholeheartedly to its words of warning, exhortation, and encouragement. There may be times when, like the Ephesians, we need to repent and renew our dedication to Christ (Revelation 2:4-6). There may be times, too, when we suffer affliction and poverty like the believers in Smyrna (2:8-11). At such times the promises in Revelation can give us great comfort, for they present a vision of our eternal home and assure us that one day God will wipe away all tears (21:3-4; 22:3-5).

The prophecies of Revelation also have significance for us. It is true that some of them predicted the situation which would exist soon after they were written. But it appears that these same prophecies also refer to events which will occur at the end of the world.

They are like other biblical prophecies which have had a double fulfillment. For example, in Genesis 46:4 and 50:24 we read that Jacob’s descendants would one day come out of Egypt. This did in fact happen later when Moses led them out (Exodus 12:31-42). Much later, the prophecy was fulfilled again when another descendant of Jacob, Jesus Christ, also came out of Egypt (Hosea 11:1; Matthew 2:15).

In a similar way some of the prophecies in Revelation have a double fulfillment. For example, many Bible students believe that the prophecy of the beast in chapter 13 points to two things: 1) the Roman government which existed at the time John wrote, and 2) the world power which will be in control during the time just before Christ returns. This prophecy has a warning for us. Like those early Christians, we must be careful not to give our allegiance to any power which demands the worship which belongs to God alone (Revelation 13:5-8; 15:2). Other prophecies in Revelation, such as the ones in chapters 20–22, will have only one fulfillment, for they have to do with eternity and the end of the world.

Application

15 A prophecy which has (or may have) a double fulfillment is one which
   a) actually has only one primary meaning, regardless of its form.
   b) quotes at least two times from the Old Testament.
   c) points to two similar events separated by a span of time.
   d) has one meaning for Christians, another meaning for unbelievers.

   It should not surprise us that the prophecies of Revelation often seem difficult to understand. However, we can expect their meaning to become clear when the time arrives for their fulfillment, as has been the case with other prophecies in the Bible. But the book’s presentation of the victorious Christ, warnings against apostasy, exhortations to consecration, and call to fellowship can be understood by all Christians, no matter when and where they live.

Application

16 The futurist approach to the book of Revelation is good because it
   a) explains how all the events described were related to the seven historical churches of Asia.
b) gives a detailed description of church history from the Day of Pentecost until now.
c) proves that most of its prophecies are symbolic pictures of the war between good and evil.
d) allows its prophecies to be brought together with and expand previous biblical prophecies.

17 A person who had a good understanding of the book of Revelation as explained in this lesson would say:
a) “Many of the warnings and commands given in the letters to the seven churches can be applied to the lives of believers today.”
b) “Since the prophecies of Revelation were given in symbolic language, they do not refer to real people or events.”
c) “Most of the content of the book of Revelation has little significance for Christians who are not suffering persecution or affliction.”
d) “The book of Revelation contains truths about Christ and His complete victory which all Christians need to know.”

The book of Revelation closes the New Testament—and the entire Bible—on a note of victory and warning. It gives us a vivid picture of our Savior’s triumph and records the last words John heard Him say to us: “Yes, I am coming soon” (Revelation 22:20). Let us pay attention to its message and prepare for the events it predicts, serving Christ with all our strength and carrying His gospel to every part of the world.
self-test

1 MATCHING. Match the epistle or book (right) with the title of its outline and each fact about its historical background or content (left).

...... a Commends Gaius for helping Christian brothers who were traveling
...... b Title: Assurance for the Believer
...... c Is written in a style called apocalyptic
...... d Title: Dealing With Apostasy
...... e Title: Practice Christian Hospitality
...... f Has some content similar to that of Jude
...... g Title: The Victorious Christ
...... h Was written to give believers assurance of eternal life and opposes teachers who say that Christ was not a real person
...... i Title: True Christian Knowledge
...... j Title: Walk in Truth and Love
...... k Warns an elect lady not to welcome false teachers

2 Match the epistle or book (right) with each sentence which describes a circumstance of the believers with which the epistle or book deals (left).

...... a These believers belonged to seven different churches in Asia. Some were becoming spiritually careless and indifferent, and others were suffering persecution and martyrdom.
...... b These believers had been exposed to false teachers who denied the real humanity and complete divinity of Christ.
...... c These believers needed to be warned against immoral teachers who had secretly entered in among them and denied Christ.
...... d These believers lived during the time of the Roman emperor Domitian who demanded their worship.
MULTIPLE CHOICE. Choose the one phrase which best completes each of the following.

3 Suppose you needed to teach basic truths about salvation to a group of new believers. The book which would be most appropriate to use in your study would be a) 2 Peter.
   b) 1 John.
   c) 3 John.
   d) Revelation.

4 The view of Revelation which most easily allows for its prophecies to be harmonized with the other prophecies of the Bible is the
   a) preterist view.
   b) historicist view.
   c) idealist view.
   d) futurist view.

5 A vivid description of false teachers and the punishment which awaits them is contained in the letter of
   a) 2 John.
   b) 3 John.
   c) Jude.

6 In Revelation 1:12-13 John said that he saw Christ among seven golden lampstands. This passage is an example of
   a) apocalyptic symbolism.
   b) double fulfillment of prophecy.
   c) historical writing.

7 The reason why many of the prophecies of Revelation are obscure is because
   a) God did not intend for us to understand them.
   b) the time has not yet arrived for their fulfillment.
   c) they were written many hundreds of years ago.
   d) they were directed to believers in Asia Minor.

8 CHRONOLOGY. Put the following events in historical sequence by writing 1 in front of the event which occurred first, 2 in front of the event which occurred next, and so forth.

...... a  The apostle John wrote the book of Revelation.
...... b  Jerusalem fell and the temple was destroyed.
...... c  The apostle John was exiled to Patmos.
...... d  Nero burned Rome and blamed the Christians.

17 a “Many of the warnings . . . today.”
   d “The book of Revelation . . . need to know.”
You have learned many things about the books of the New Testament in the previous lessons. You have learned about the political, religious, and cultural circumstances which surrounded them. You have learned some facts about their authors. You have considered some of the reasons why they were written. And you have read each one and studied its message.

But there are still some questions that need to be answered. For example, why does the New Testament contain just the 27 books we have studied and no others? How were these books passed on to us? What evidence is there to show that they exist today in the same form in which they were first written during the first century?

In this lesson you will find answers to these questions. You will discover how the New Testament was formed. You will become acquainted with the evidence we have that it has been accurately passed on to us. The facts you learn will help you realize that you can have complete confidence in the New Testament. They will help you see why you can rely on it with assurance as you seek to serve the Lord and live for Him.
Lesson Outline

Formed Under God’s Guidance
Faithfully Preserved and Transmitted

Lesson Objectives

When you finish this lesson you should be able to:

- Choose descriptions of the four main stages in the formation of the New Testament.
- Match statements about the reliability of the New Testament to specific facts which support them.

Learning Activities

1. Study the lesson development, paying special attention to the information given on the charts. Complete the study questions and check your answers.
2. Find the places associated with the formation of the New Testament on the map which is given.
3. After you have completed the lesson, review it and take the self-test. Then review Lessons 8, 9, and 10 (unit 3) and answer the questions on your student report for Unit 3.

The Holy Spirit not only inspired the writers of the New Testament books but also guided the church in forming the New Testament and transmitting it to us. Your study of these processes will help you see why you can rely on the New Testament as God’s Word for us today.

FORMED UNDER GOD’S GUIDANCE

Objective 1. Choose descriptions of the four main stages in the formation of the New Testament.

The formation of the New Testament was a process which went on for several years after the books themselves were written. The books were circulated, gathered into collections, used by church leaders, and officially recognized by church council.

Written by Chosen Men

Not very long after the ascension of Jesus, God inspired certain men to write the books you have studied which we call the New Testament. At first the apostles preached from their own first-hand experience with Christ and showed how He fulfilled the Old Testament prophecies (see Acts 2:14-40; 3:17-26; 7:2-53; 8:26-35, for example). Then Paul, Peter, and others wrote letters to various churches and individuals in order to confirm in writing what they had already explained through preaching and teaching. Later, Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John wrote the Gospels so that believers would have an accurate record of the life and teachings of Jesus, and Luke wrote the book of Acts. Finally, the apostle John was told to write the things God revealed to him in order to show believers what would take place in the future (Revelation 1:1, 11). The whole group of 27 writings was produced between A.D. 49 and A.D. 95.

Collected by Believers

Some churches exchanged the letters they had received (see Colossians 4:16). No doubt the letters were eventually returned to their original owners, however, for they were highly prized.
Copies were made of the various writings, and before very long churches in many cities had them.

Not much later after the separate writings were circulated and copied, certain ones were grouped together. In the New Testament itself, Peter wrote of the letters of Paul as if they were already an accepted unit (2 Peter 3:15-16). Manuscripts have been found in which Paul’s letters were all placed together in just such a way. In addition, it appears that the four Gospels were often bound together. Sometimes Acts was included with this group. Other similar collections were made during the years after the books were written, and soon all the New Testament books were joined together. One important manuscript that we have from the fourth century contains the entire New Testament.

Application

1. The New Testament books were
   a) probably circulated first as separate letters or writings.
   b) written over a period of two hundred years.
   c) produced before the apostles first began to preach about Christ.
   d) confirmations of truths believers had already been taught.

Affirmed by Church Leaders

The books of the New Testament were recognized as God’s Word by those who received them. As we have seen, Peter regarded the writings of Paul as Scripture (2 Peter 3:15-16). In 1 Timothy 5:18, Paul applied the term “Scripture” both to a quotation from the Old Testament, “Do not muzzle the ox while it is treading out the grain,” (Deuteronomy 25:4) and a saying of Jesus, “The worker deserves his wages” (Luke 10:7). Paul and John both expected their letters to be read to the church, as was the custom with Old Testament Scriptures in the synagogue (1 Thessalonians 5:27; Colossians 4:16; Revelation 1:3).

During the years which followed the writing and circulation of the New Testament books, other church leaders in different places recognized them as God’s Word. They quoted from various New Testament books in their writings, giving them the same kind of respect as was given to the Old Testament Scriptures. The following chart will give you a short summary of some of these leaders, when and where they lived, and the books of the New Testament they quoted from or referred to in their writings. (Note: the abbreviation c. stands for circa, “about the time of,” and signifies an approximate date; the abbreviation fl. stands floruit, “flourished,” and signifies the approximate time when a person was living.)

2 Find each of the places listed in the previous chart on the map of the Roman Empire given in Lesson 1. The chart giving the use of the New Testament books by church leaders and the map indicate that

a) the book of Revelation was not quoted or referred to in the writings of church leaders until A.D. 180.

b) Polycarp of Smyrna and Justin Martyr both referred to the Gospels before A.D. 170.

c) by the time Irenaeus had finished his writings, all of the New Testament books had been referred to except 3 John.

d) leaders outside of Rome did not quote or use the New Testament books in their writings before A.D. 160.

e) by A.D. 215 the New Testament books had been used by church leaders in at least five different places including Egypt and Africa.

The leaders named on the chart did not only quote the New Testament books and refer to them, but they also relied on them when opposing false teachers. Irenaeus and Origen, for example, appealed to the New Testament writings when they wrote against errors such as Gnosticism. (You will recall that in Lesson 9 you learned that 1 John was written against an early form of this same kind of false teaching—the idea that spirit is good and matter is evil.) The use which these church leaders made of the New Testament books shows their high regard for them.

Recognized by Church Council

Toward the last part of the fourth century, the church leaders gave formal recognition to the books which were accepted as inspired. Those which were accepted were spoken of as belonging to or forming the canon of Scripture, that is, the body of writings which were divinely inspired and authoritative.

There were three main reasons why this formal recognition was made: 1) the appearance of other writings which were accepted by some as inspired, 2) the influence of the incomplete list or canon of Marcion, and 3) the persecution of Diocletian.
1. The appearance of other writings. The 27 books of our New Testament were not the only writings about Christ and the apostles which were composed during the first 150 years of the church’s existence. Luke said in the introduction to his Gospel account, “Many have undertaken to draw up an account of the things that have been fulfilled among us” (Luke 1:1). Paul warned the Thessalonians not to believe any letter which contradicted what he said about the Day of the Lord, even though such a letter claimed to be from him (2 Thessalonians 2:2).

Later on such writings as 1 Clement (c. A.D. 96), The Epistle of Barnabas (c. A.D. 130), The Teaching of the Twelve Apostles (c. A.D. 120), and The Shepherd of Hermas (c. A.D. 140) appeared. These writings were of a devotional nature and were highly regarded by certain churches. In the second and third centuries, a considerable number of other writings appeared which also claimed to be inspired. Among these were the Acts of Peter, the Apocalypse of Peter, and the Gospel of Thomas. Many of them were of a fanciful and imaginative nature.

Faced with this situation, the leaders of the church needed to state which books had been accepted by all as the authentic products of the Holy Spirit.

2. The list of Marcion (c. A.D. 140). Along with the appearance of other writings, there was the growing influence of the incomplete list or canon of Marcion. Marcion was a false teacher who accepted only the Gospel of Luke and ten of Paul’s Epistles—after he had taken out of them everything he did not like. He rejected the other books which had already been recognized by most leaders as being inspired and gathered many followers who accepted his incomplete list. The church leaders needed to affirm the authority of the books which Marcion denied.

3. The persecution of Diocletian. Another factor which led to the formation of the canon was the law made by the Roman emperor Diocletian in A.D. 303. According to this law, all sacred books were to be burned. This made it important for the church leaders to give formal recognition to those books which should be preserved and protected from destruction.
Application

3 In your notebook, briefly explain how each of the following events led to the formation of the New Testament canon.

a Writings such as The Epistle of Barnabas and The Shepherd of Hermas appeared.

b Marcion accepted only the Gospel of Luke and ten of Paul’s Epistles.

c The emperor Diocletian made a law that all holy books were to be burned.

A significant event in the formation of the New Testament canon was the Third Council of Carthage which was held in A.D. 397. Previous church councils had met in various places, such as the Council of Nicaea (A.D. 325), the Council of Laodicea (A.D. 363), and the Damasine Council (A.D. 382), and various lists were produced. However, it was at the Third Council of Carthage that the first formal statement was made regarding which books were to be considered canonical, that is, part of the canon. This statement was a list which named the same 27 books which our New Testament contains, no more and no less.

Each book which was included in the canon had to meet all of the following tests:

1. Apostolicity. It had to have an apostle or a person who was closely associated with an apostle as its author.

2. Spirituality. It had to have a spiritual and moral character of the highest kind, concentrating on the person and work of Christ.

3. Universality. It had to have been accepted by the church as a whole.

4. Inspiration. It had to give unmistakable evidence that it had been inspired by the Holy Spirit.

It is important to realize that church leaders could not make a writing part of the canon. Either a certain letter or book was inspired by the Holy Spirit and authoritative by its very content or it was not. The task of the leaders was to recognize those writings which were worthy of canonical status and include them in the canon. It is evident that the Holy Spirit guided the leaders, for the books they acknowledged have stood the test of time and have been sufficient for every need of the church.

Application

4 Circle the letter in front of each TRUE statement.
   a Some of the books included in the New Testament canon were not written by an apostle.
   b When the Third Council of Carthage met, the 27 books of the New Testament had already been quoted and referred to by many church leaders.
   c The Third Council of Carthage named the books which met all the tests of canonicity.
   d From many writings which met the four tests for canonicity, the Third Council of Carthage selected only 27.

5 Complete the following in your notebook.
   a Explain why alternative d in study question 4 is false.
   b Explain why some books which were not written by an apostle were included in the New Testament canon.

6 Match the stage in the formation of the New Testament (right) with each event associated with it in this lesson (left).

   ...... a Tatian quoted or referred to most of the New Testament. 1) Writing
   ...... b The four Gospels were bound together. 2) Collection
   ...... c Peter spoke of Paul’s Epistles as if they were already formed into a group. 3) Affirmation
   ...... d The Third Council of Carthage published the list of books which were canonical. 4) Recognition
   ...... f Origen used the New Testament when arguing against Gnosticism.
In the previous section we studied how the New Testament was formed. Now we will consider the evidence we have that it has been carefully copied and passed on to us just as it was first written. As we study this evidence, we will discover the reasons why we can be sure that our New Testament is a trustworthy record of the life of Jesus and the teachings of the apostles.

Many Ancient Manuscripts Exist

It is true that none of the original manuscripts of the New Testament books has survived—for example, the letter of 1 Corinthians which Paul himself wrote. However, many hundreds of copies of them have been found and preserved. Some of these are from as early as the second century after Christ. These manuscripts and writings can be divided into four basic groups: the Greek papyri and parchments, the translations and versions, the quotations made by the church leaders, and the lectionaries or reading lessons used in the churches.

The Greek Papyri and Parchments

As you know, the writers of the New Testament used the Greek language. The original letters and books and the first copies of them were written on a substance called papyrus; later on copies were made on parchment.

Papyrus was a writing substance made from the leaves of the papyrus reed which grows in Egypt. At first, manuscripts were copied onto rolls of papyrus. Then individual leaves were cut and bound together in a book form called a codex. Books today are still made in the same way. Papyrus was not expensive, but it was fragile. In a dry climate, such as that of Egypt, papyrus sheets could last for hundreds of years. In a damp climate, though, they easily rotted. Despite their fragility, however, some eighty-eight papyrus manuscripts have survived. The oldest of these that has been discovered to date is the Rylands Papyri 457 (P52). It is from the early part of the second century and contains portions of the Gospel of John. If the Gospel of John was written at the close of the first century (around A.D. 95), this means that this fragment comes from a manuscript produced less than fifty years later.

Six of the most important papyrus manuscripts are briefly described in the following chart (Note: Papyrus manuscripts are referred to by a letter P with a raised number. Sometimes the name of the person who discovered the manuscript is included.)

Beginning around the fourth century, New Testament books were copied onto parchment and vellum, more durable (and expensive) writing substances made from the skins of animals. These were also made into codices. There are more than 270 parchment or vellum uncial manuscripts (written in Greek capital letters), and more than 2,790 miniscule manuscripts (written in cursive or connected Greek letters). Five of the most important of these are listed on the following chart.

Application

7 Circle the letter in front of each TRUE statement.

a The oldest papyrus manuscript that exists is from the third century.

b The term codex refers to the type of Greek letters that were used in ancient manuscripts.

c The Chester Beatty papyri p45, p46, and p47 were produced during the third century.

d The earliest complete manuscript of the New Testament we have is from the late fourth century.

e More than 2,650 papyrus, vellum, or parchment manuscripts exist of part or all of the New Testament.

Early Translations and Versions

Soon after the New Testament books were written and circulated, they were translated into various languages. Some of these translations were made two hundred years before Codex Vaticanus was produced. Thus they are an even earlier witness to the existence and form of the New Testament. Five of the most important versions are described in the following chart.

Writings of the Church Fathers

In addition to the Greek manuscripts and the other language versions of the New Testament, there are many quotations from the New Testament in the writings of various church leaders beginning in the first century. These leaders include most of those who are listed in the previous chart you have studied entitled “Use of the New Testament by Early Church Leaders.” The quotations by these writers show that manuscripts of the New Testament books were already known in many places at the time they were written. If all the quotations by these church leaders were put together, they would contain almost the entire New Testament.

Lectionaries

Besides the Greek manuscripts, the various versions, and the writings of the church fathers, there also exist over 2,200 lectionaries which contain portions of the New Testament. These lectionaries were used for the public reading of the Scriptures in the churches. The oldest ones that have been found at this time are from the sixth century.

As you can see, there are at least 5,300 manuscripts of all or part of the New Testament, counting just the Greek papyrus, parchment, and vellum manuscripts and the church lectionaries.
It is interesting to compare the New Testament with other works which were written at about the same time in regards to the number and age of the manuscripts which exist today. Three of these works are the following: Annals of Imperial Rome, by Tacitus; Gallic War, by Julius Caesar; and The War with Hannibal, by Livy. All of these are writings about the political and military history of the Roman Empire. Notice how the New Testament compares with these writings as given on the following chart.

Truly, there is an overwhelming abundance of manuscripts of the New Testament. The sheer amount of evidence provided by the great numbers and early date of the papyri, parchments, vellums, lectionaries, quotations, and versions of the New Testament points to only one inescapable conclusion: the life, death, and resurrection of Christ is the best-documented event in all of ancient history.

Application

When compared with works written by Tacitus, Julius Caesar, and Livy during the same period as the New Testament, there are at least

- a) 10 times more manuscripts of the New Testament.
- b) 100 times more manuscripts of the New Testament.
- c) 250 times more manuscripts of the New Testament.
Our New Testament Is Completely Reliable

For fourteen centuries the New Testament existed in manuscript form. Most of these manuscripts were kept in the large churches and monasteries of Europe, and some in the homes of wealthy men. But this situation changed dramatically when printing was invented by Johann Gutenberg in 1437. The first book he printed in Mainz, Germany, in 1456 was the Bible—the Gutenberg Bible as it came to be known. This was a momentous event. Instead of being laboriously copied by hand, Bibles could be rapidly and inexpensively produced by the hundreds. Now everyone could have his own copy of the Old and New Testaments.

Many translations have been made of the Bible. Most of the modern ones, including the New International Version, are based on the best readings of all the available Greek manuscripts. There are some minor and insignificant variations among these sources. However, the actual differences among the hundreds of Greek manuscripts amount to so little that they could occupy less than two-thirds of one page of an entire New Testament—one one-thousandth part of the whole. This fact shows that all the manuscripts came from one original. It also shows that the men who copied the New Testament books did so with great care. The agreement among the manuscripts is so close that we can say with assurance that our New Testament faithfully represents the original writings in every respect.

Application

9 Most modern translations of the New Testament are based on a text obtained primarily from the
   a) quotations of the church fathers.
   b) lectionaries preserved by the churches.
   c) Greek manuscripts in existence.
   d) Syriac and Coptic versions.
10 Match the statement about the New Testament (right) with each sentence which gives a fact that supports it (left).

...... a During the last part of the second century, Irenaeus used or referred to every book of the New Testament except Philemon and 3 John.

...... b There are around 5,300 manuscripts of part or all of the New Testament compared to 20 of the writings of Livy.

...... c Differences among the Greek manuscripts amount to less than two-thirds of a page of an entire New Testament.

...... d The Sahidic version of the New Testament was made in A.D. 200.

...... e The Rylands Papyrus 467 (P52) dates from the first part of the second century.

1) Our New Testament today is a faithful and complete reproduction of the original documents.

2) Manuscripts of the New Testament have been found which were made within fifty years after the original writings.

3) The entire New Testament was in existence no later than the beginning of the third century.

4) There are at least 250 times more manuscripts of the New Testament than of other writings made at the same time.

You and I have the New Testament today because of the work of many faithful, dedicated Christians—those who wrote it as God inspired them; those who carefully copied, preserved, and transmitted it to us; those who patiently compared the hundreds of Greek manuscripts in order to produce our modern, accurate versions; and those who translated it into our languages. And what a priceless treasure it is! It tells us about our incomparable Savior, the wonderful kingdom He came to establish, the power that is ours to serve Him, and the glory that we will share with Him forever. Let us study it with diligence. Let us take its message into our hearts. Let us teach its truth to others with full assurance, knowing that it is the active, living, life-changing Word of God.

1 MATCHING. Match the person or thing (right) to each sentence which describes the person or thing (left).

...... a Emperor who in A.D. 303 commanded the burning of all sacred books 1) Clement of Rome
...... b A false teacher who denied the inspiration of several New Testament books 2) Marcion
...... c A church leader who lived A.D. 30-100 and quoted from the New Testament books 3) Diocletian
...... d Printed the first Bible in Mainz, Germany 4) The Shepherd of Hermas
...... e Term specifically meaning the authoritative, inspired books 5) The Third Council of Carthage
...... f A work produced in A.D. 140 and not included in the canon 6) Canon
...... g Earliest complete Greek manuscript of the New Testament 7) Codex Sinaiticus
...... i Accepted only Luke and ten of Paul’s Epistles 9) Johann Gutenberg
...... j Gave official recognition to canonical books in A.D. 397

MULTIPLE-CHOICE. Choose the one phrase which best completes each of the following.

2 The canonical test of apostolicity referred specifically to the
   a) actual contents of the book.
   b) authorship of the book.
   c) effect of the book on its readers.
   d) regard for the book by the churches.

3 Of the following, the earliest witness we have to the form and existence of the New Testament is the
   a) Latin Vulgate.
   b) Codex Vaticanus.
   d) Gutenberg Bible.
4. The significance of the Rylands Papyri 457 (P52) is that it
   a) was produced within fifty years of the original.
   b) contains the entire Gospel of John.
   c) shows that Paul’s Epistles were already a group.
   d) dates from the first part of the third century.

5. The importance of the Third Council of Carthage in regard to the formation of the New Testament is that it
   a) gathered the New Testament books together for the first time.
   b) described what it meant for a book to be inspired.
   c) declared which books met all four tests of canonicity.
   d) excluded all books not directly written by the apostles themselves.

6. When compared to the existing manuscripts of works by Tacitus, Livy, and Julius Caesar, the manuscripts of the New Testament as a whole are
   a) about the same in number but of an earlier date.
   b) many more in number and of a much earlier date.
   c) fewer in number and of a later date.
   d) greater in number but of a later date.

7. A circumstance which led directly to a formal statement regarding the canon was the
   a) influence of the list of Marcion.
   b) collection of the four Gospels into one volume.
   c) translation of the New Testament into Syriac.
   d) quotation of the New Testament books by Polycarp.

8. Of the following, the most important evidence that our New Testament today is a faithful reproduction of the original writings is the existence of a) more than 2,200 church lectionaries found in many different cities.
   b) quotations from the New Testament by church leaders in Rome.
   c) several translations of the New Testament looks into Latin.
   d) many early Greek manuscripts which agree closely.

9. CHRONOLOGY. Put the following events in historical sequence by writing 1 in front of the event which occurred first, 2 in front of the event which occurred next, and so forth.

   ...... a  The Third Council of Carthage officially recognized the canonical books.
   ...... b  Paul wrote to the Corinthians.
   ...... c  Johann Gutenberg printed the first Bible.
Peter preached from the Old Testament on the Day of Pentecost.

Origen referred to books of the New Testament in arguing against Gnosticism.

The African Latin Version of the New Testament was produced.

DIRECTIONS

When you have completed your study of each unit, fill out the unit student report answer sheet for that unit. The following are directions how to indicate your answer to each question. There are two kinds of questions: TRUE-FALSE and MULTIPLE-CHOICE.

TRUE-FALSE QUESTION EXAMPLE

The following statement is either true or false. If the statement is TRUE, blacken space A.

FALSE, blacken space B.

1 The Bible is God’s message for us.

The above statement, The Bible is God’s message for us, is TRUE, so you would blacken space A like this:

1 [ ] [ ] [ ] [ ]
MULTIPLE CHOICE QUESTION EXAMPLE

There is one best answer for the following question. Blacken the space for the answer you have chosen.

2. To be born again means to
   a) be young in age.
   b) accept Jesus as Savior.
   c) start a new year.
   d) find a different church.

The correct answer is b) accept Jesus as Savior, so you would blacken space B like this:

2   A  B  C  D
STUDENT REPORT FOR UNIT ONE

Answer all questions on Answer Sheet for Unit One. See the examples on the DIRECTIONS page which show you how to mark your answers.

PART 1—TRUE-FALSE QUESTIONS

The following statements are either true or false. If the statement is TRUE, blacken space A. FALSE, blacken space B.

1. I have carefully read all of the lessons in Unit One.
2. The Jews of the diaspora gathered in synagogues to be instructed in the Old Testament Scriptures.
3. When Jesus was born, the Romans were in political control of Palestine.
4. The aim of the Gospel writers was to record all the events of Jesus’ life in their exact, chronological order.
5. Mark includes all of the miracles described in Luke.
6. The four Gospel accounts are selective yet harmonious.
7. Like most of the New Testament authors, Luke was a Jew.
8. John specifically said that he wrote his Gospel account so that men would believe in Jesus as the Son of God.

PART 2—MULTIPLE-CHOICE QUESTIONS

There is one best answer for each of the following questions. Blacken the space on your answer sheet for the answer you have chosen.

9. During New Testament times, the council which ruled in Jewish political and religious affairs was called the
   a) synagogue.
   b) Sanhedrin.
   c) diaspora.
   d) Hellenist.

10. The books of Matthew and Acts belong to the group of the New Testament books best described as
    a) personal.
    b) prophetic.

   a) grouped into five sections by topic.
   b) not emphasized as much as in the Gospel of Mark.
   c) gathered into three chapters towards the middle.
   d) scattered throughout the book.

16 The most important reason why the Gospel of Matthew forms a good bridge between the Old and New Testaments is because it
   a) records most of the parables Jesus gave.
   b) includes much of Jesus’ teaching on the subject of prayer.
   c) demonstrates how Jesus fulfilled the Messianic prophecies.
   d) describes many of the miracles Jesus performed in Galilee.

17 The Gospel of Mark can best be described as one which emphasizes the
   a) ancestry of Jesus and the events surrounding His birth.
   b) nature and character of the kingdom of God.
   c) miracles of Jesus and His active, practical ministry.
   d) parables, object lessons, and prophecies of Jesus.
In the Gospel of Luke, Jesus identified Himself with the prophecy of Daniel 7:13-14 by stating that He was the
a) prophet greater than Moses.
b) son of man.
c) descendant of David.
d) servant of all.

A good example of Luke’s emphasis on the work of the Holy Spirit is his description of
a) the healing of the daughter of Jairus.
b) Pontius Pilate.
c) Jesus’ trial before the council of elders.
d) Mary and the birth of Jesus.

Among the Gospels, John is the only one which
a) includes seven “I am” sayings of Jesus.
b) tells about the conflict Jesus had with the Jewish leaders.
c) describes the Galilean ministry of Jesus.
d) asserts the divinity of Jesus.
